NOT much, except odds and ends of news, when this was written, late yesterday afternoon. The fatal tracks of the oil bonds led in new directions. The name of an important judge was dragged in. He says no one sent him any bonds.

SENATOR BORAH, the great purifier, got $300 more yesterday, to help pay back the gold that Mr. Sinclair handed over. The Republican party must be purified, says Borah. Theodore Roosevelt, 2nd, sent $100 to help purify.

IT IS doubtful, however, whether all the perfumes of Arabia, or two Anna Held milk baths could purify the worried old party.

Being found out is a terrible thing. Everybody knows that both big parties take all the campaign funds they can get. The Republicans get the bigger gifts because their chances are usually better, and their memory for kind words and deeds is better.

IT IS certain that neither Will Hays, nor any of the big Republicans knew where the Sinclair bonds came from. The oil scandal had not started when the bonds were contributed.

If Sinclair had offered a bundle of bonds to the Democratic donkey to wipe out campaign expense debts, that intelligent animal would have taken them gladly.

However, the elephant got caught, the donkey did not, so the donkey feels virtuous.

SPEAKING of slush funds, bribes, etc., you should read the book written by Judge Kavanaugh of Chicago, after thirty-three years on the bench. Three hundred fifty thousand individuals make their living, partly or entirely, by crime in our happy country he says. Last year, they contributed 12,000 murders to the nation's news items.

PUBLIC indifference is to blame, says the judge. Each country gets as much crime as its indifference deserves. Judge Kavanaugh favors use of the whip, because, no crime leader retains the respect of his gang, after he has winced under the lash. The moron and racketeer fear the cat-o-nine tails more than prison. Our 350,000 criminals steal yearly enough to build the Panama Canal."

THEY steal more than that. And public gambling at race tracks, another form of crime, legalized by grafting politicians, takes from the public each year enough to build the Panama Canal three times.

MORE trouble in distressed Rumania. The Peasants want to rule, and the Socialists back them. Here we have no Peasant population, although not all of us know it. Once, the late George J. Gould, on a tour of inspection over the Missouri Pacific, took his family with him. The Mayor, Chamber of Commerce and civic organizations of a small city came to the private car, asking for a better railroad station.

ONE of Gould's charming young daughters, in white dress, blue sash and white kid shoes said,

SING SING AFIRE; GUARD CONVICTS

CALLING FOR AID

International News Service.

OSSINING, N. Y., March 20.—Two alarms of fire have been sounded for a blaze which broke out shortly before noon today within the walls of Sing Sing Prison, according to police here.

All available apparatus was rushed to the prison to augment the Sing Sing fire fighting forces. The institution is outside the village. Early reports did not state the location of the blaze.

The reserve guards within Sing Sing had been called out and all prisoners were called in from their daily tasks.

The blaze was discovered in one of the prison workshops.

All the prisoners were marshaled to their cells in cell blocks away from the fire. Principal Keeper John Sheehey reported complete order among the several hundred inmates.

Prison officials were quick to deny that they connected the fire in any way with an attempted jail break.

However, two investigations, by firemen and by prison officials under Warden Lewis E. Lawes, were under way even while the flames were being fought.

There were about 1,200 prisoners in Sing Sing where the fire broke out.

An hour after the fire started a large workshop was a mass of ruins.

Prison firemen, trusties and members of the two Ossining volunteer departments were battling this afternoon to save other buildings closely adjoining the burned structure.

2nd Jumper Dies In Eiffel Tower Parachute Leap

PARIS, March 20.—(AP.)—The balloon jumper, Botal, testing a new parachute, jumped 380 feet to his death today from the second platform of the Eiffel tower.

Successful tests had been made previously with standbags. When Botal jumped, however, the parachute failed to open. He was the second person to die attempting a parachute jump from the tower.

Mt. Oliver Wife Takes Poison

Despondent over a business deal, which she had concealed from her husband and which she feared would turn out badly, Mrs. Ruth Hughes, 27, of 2303 Brownsville road, swallowed bichloride of mercury last night. She is in South Side Hospital in a serious condition.

To Detectives William Harris and Sylvester Henry, of the Homicide squad, detailed to clear up the mystery, Mrs. Hughes said she had entered into a deal with two real estate agents to sell the three-story apartment house in which she resides, on March 12, and had accepted $900 hand money.

Later she had been told that the building was worth considerably more than she had sold it for. She had kept the transaction from her husband and fearing the loss, she could not sleep. Last night she arose and went to the bathroom, swallowed the poison then staggered back into her bedroom.

Mrs. Anna Donatelli, 16, 1425 Cedarville street, one of the youngest wives to appear in local courts, testified in the divorce case of her father, Mike Labanz, 1124 Twelfth street, West Park, against her mother, Mrs. Anna Labanz. They were forced from home by her father, she said, but that only opened the way for a romance of her own. She's happily married and contented and "snaps her fingers at the jinx" that ended with her mother's marital difficulty.

Pgh. Bound Plane Down

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The New York American's radio plane, Toledo Leader Ship, returned to Bolling Field at 12:45 this afternoon, after taking off at noon for Pittsburgh.

The crew reported they encountered terrific headwinds and feared they did not have sufficient gasoline to reach Pittsburgh under the prevailing conditions. They refueled the ship, and were preparing for another takeoff later this afternoon.

CONDITIONS DANGEROUS

Although flying conditions over the Allegheny mountains were reported dangerous, the New York American plane, after being forced back by heavy headwinds, was said again to be preparing to take the air and was expected at Bettis Field between 4 and 5 a. m.

Operators at radio station KDKA were listening for the signals of the plane and hope to get into communication with its crew when it approaches within 100-mile radius of East Pittsburgh. "Toledo Leader Ship" is equipped with a special broadcasting and receiving set manufactured by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company for the Radio Corporation of America. The waves, it is hoped, will be rebroadcast and all persons with sets in the range of KDKA could pick up the conversation.

ASKS COOLIDGE ACT IN STRIKE

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The "social mess" in the mining towns around Pittsburgh, Fannie Hurst, the celebrated novelist, told the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today, is "more appalling, more degrading, more humiliating" than anything she observed in Russia during her tour of that country two years ago. Miss Hurst was engaged to investigate conditions in mining camps by The Sun-Telegraph.

The bituminous coal industry in the United States, she declared, is "an old-fashioned rickety structure, with newspapers stuck in its leaky, broken windows," and must be torn down and replaced with a modern building. To provide temporary relief in the meanwhile Miss Hurst called on the President of the United States to convoke immediately a conference of representatives of the miners, the operators and the public.

The writer was summoned before the Senate committee in its investigation of the coal strike to tell of the things she saw and heard in the Pittsburgh district when she made her now-famous inquiry into conditions for the Sun-Telegraph in January.

"Like Animals"

She told the Senators of finding strikers' families living in "packing cases" and characterized the barracks as deprived of the "ordinary amenities of life" and "without even the decency of privacy." Babies were born in these shacks, she said, "as kittens are born," and with no more privacy.

The most serious aspect of the matter, she said, was the effect on the children, who are growing up as "little rebels, little haters."

Regardless of who was right and who was wrong, there was no justification, she declared, for the situation.

Don Rose, attorney for the Pittsburgh Coal Company, submitted to the committee a list of the stockholders and their holdings, which the committee had requested, but asked that it be held in confidence. The committee announced it would defer its decision as to whether to make the list of stockholders public.

Herbert McCrory, New York newspaperman, who was on the stand when the mid-day recess was taken, swore that John J. Creehan, a former auditor of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, informed him the company was defrauding the strike-breakers by not crediting them with full weight of the coal that they mined.

More Subpenas

The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee decided in executive session during the midday recess to issue subpenaes immediately for John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Charles M. Schwab, R. B. Mellon, Augustus K. Oliver, William Reiss and J. Denniston Lyon. The last four are directors of the Pittsburgh Coal Company. Schwab is chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, whose subsidiary, the HARRISBURG, March 20.—United States Senator James E. Watson's letter "kindly requesting" Gov. John S. Fisher to appear before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee to testify in the bituminous strike investigation was laid before the Governor today. Gov. Fisher promised to give the letter early consideration.

The letter read:

"The Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate kindly requests you to be present for the purpose of giving such testimony as you care to give and answering such questions as members of the committee may see fit to ask of you at such time as the business of the state will permit your absence from the seat of government.

"I add my personal request to this, as chairman of the committee, and trust that you will see fit to be present on as early a day as you can fix."

The letter, addressed from Washington, followed a similar invitation from Senator Watson to the Governor by telephone yesterday afternoon.

MAY ACCEPT BID

Before Senator Watson's telephone call it had been known that the Governor was nettled by reports that Senator Gooding, of Idaho, had demanded the Pennsylvania Governor be subpenaed to testify because of Gov. Fisher's statement about the committee's work in the Western Pennsylvania investigation.

Those close to the Governor believe he will accept Senator Watson's invitation to appear before the committee.

OAKLAND SALOON ORDERED PADLOCKED

The saloon of Philip Coyne, 3602 Forbes street, today was ordered padlocked until August 25 by Judge R. M. Gibson in Federal Court.

Thomas Kearns and Michael Ridge were enjoined from using the two-story brick building at 210 Oakland avenue for one year. They had been charged with liquor law violations.

FISHER'S PLAN TOO BROAD—COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP.)—President Coolidge feels that the conference proposed by Gov. Fisher, of Pennsylvania, for the reorganization of the coal industry, at which representatives of operators, miners, interested states and the national government would be present, might, in practice, prove to be too large and cumbersome a gathering for practical results.

Mr. Coolidge, however, does not wish to give the impression that should Gov. Fisher actually call the conference the Washington administration would oppose it or would fail to have Labor Department representatives present.

Should Gov. Fisher devise means whereby the conference could be kept to more compact form, the outlook would be very much more hopeful to the President just as it would be if the mere question of wages instead of the all-embracing problem of the reorganization of the coal industry were to be debated at the parley.

President Coolidge is aware, however, that a large number of states would have to be represented at the conference and he has wondered whether it would be possible to have only a small number of delegates for the operators and miners, respectively.

S-4 DYING FOUGHT GAS

International News Service.

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD, BOSTON, March 20.—Standing three rungs up with his back to a swaying steel ladder, a socket wrench held in his right hand high above his head, Lieut. Graham Newell Fitch pounded out messages on the sloping walls of the forward torpedo compartment of the submarine S-4 as she lay in her grave 102 feet below the surface off Provincetown at Christmas time.

The brave lieutenant was groggy from chlorine gas seeping from the water-flooded battery room, yet for three days he stuck grimly at his task of tapping out messages—messages that thrilled the heart of the world.

"Will it be long now?" was his last.

COMRADES HEAR

Lying in their bunks with their arms resting across their bodies, three of his comrades heard him signaling from the dark chamber. Two others were on the floor. One man clutched the foot of the ladder, holding a dying comrade with his free arm.

This was the heart-stirring picture of the last days of the six men in the torpedo room as pieced together today by naval inspectors while examining the interior of the submersible in dry dock here.

The submarine torpedo socket wrench, with its T-shaped top dent-

COMMANDMENTS FOR TEACHERS

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Ten commandments have been laid down for the American school teacher by the Federal Bureau of Education.

The bureau evidently holds that heredity and an even temperament have much to do with the teacher's ability to maintain her position. The Ten Commandments follow:

"Thou shalt have other interests besides thy school room.

"Thou shalt not try to make thy children little images, for they are a live little bunch, visiting the wriggling of their captivity upon you, their teacher, unto the last weary moment of the day; and showing interest and co-operation unto those who can give them reasonable freedom in working.

"Thou shalt not scream the names of thy children in irritation, for they will not hold thee in respect if thou screamest their names in vain.

"Remember the last day of the week, to keep it happy.

"Humor the feelings of thy children that their good-will may speak well for thee in the little domain over which thou rulest.

"Thou shalt not kill one breath of stirring endeavor in the heart of a little child.

"Thou shalt not suffer any unkindness of speech or action to enter the door of thy room.

"Thou shalt not steal for the drudgery of many 'papers' the precious hours that should be given to recreation, that thy strength and happiness may appear unto all that come within thy presence.

"Thou shalt not bear witness to too many 'schemes of work,' for much scattered effort is a weariness to the soul and a stumbling block to weary fingers.

"Thou shalt laugh—when it rains and wee, wooly ones muddy the floor; when it blows and doors bang, when little angels conceal their wings and wriggle, when Tommy spills ink and Mary flops a tray of trailing letters, when visitors appear at the precise moment when all small heads have forgotten everything you thought they knew. And again, I say unto you, laugh, for upon all these commandments hangs all the law and the profits in thy schoolroom."

HAND NOT QUICK ENOUGH, MAN IS HELD

It developed in Morals Court today that Mike Harlevich's hand is not quicker than Mrs. Celia Bates' eye. Mike, it seems, tried secretly to lay hands on 30 scarfs in the Jones Department Store, Federal street, where Mrs. Bates, 40, is a clerk.

Mrs. Bates rushed out of the store after Mike and boarded the same street car. She had no fare, so she explained to the conductor. At Seventh street and Penn avenue Mrs. Bates followed Mike off the car. She enlisted Traffic Patrolman W. Fickley, whose chase of the fugitive ended in a flying tackle in Penn avenue.

Harlevich was held for court on three larceny charges. He admitted also taking a radio battery eliminator and five pair of women's hose from two North Side stores. He said he was 23 and lived at No. 3 Forthy-three and a Half street.

DORIS PALMER M'DONALD

Doris Palmer McDonald, former Pittsburgh girl found guilty in Canada with her common-law husband, George C. McDonald, of the murder of a taxicab driver, may be granted king's mercy and escape the gallows to which the two were to have gone Friday of this week. Formal announcement of commutation of sentence to life imprisonment has not yet been made. The jury's recommendation of clemency more so than her husband's confession absolving Doris is believed to have weighed heavily with authorities.

400 FACING CHARGES NOW

Evidence of irregularities on the part of members of 40 election boards, in addition to the 200 persons already indicted for election cheating, was turned over to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner yesterday by the Pennsylvania Election Association.

Some 200 persons are cited in the evidence presented by Francis S. Guthrie and Attorney W. B. McNaugher, representatives of the association.

This will bring the total of those alleged to be involved in election cheating to approximately 400, members of 83 election boards. Whether the additional board members will be defended by Attorney Rody P. Marshall, who has entered his appearance for the others, could not be learned yesterday.

The elections association will make application tomorrow for a charter. It is planned to make the association a permanent organization to operate in conjunction with other associations in the state interested in keeping elections honest.

WOMEN VOTERS URGE SPEED IN FRAUD CASES

A special meeting of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters, called to take action on the present status of the election fraud cases now pending in court, has passed resolutions commending the activities of the Bar Association's committee in watching the prosecutions. They also assured the legal fraternity of whole-hearted sympathy and co-operation and support in any steps its committee may take to see that persons guilty of the monstrous crimes against the ballot committed in 1927 shall not escape the righteous vengeance of the law."

Another resolution urged the judges to "use every means within their power to see that these cases are brought to trial as docketed.

An ordinance authorizing Public Safety Director James M. Clark to name four additional police officers whose special duty would be to guard against dangerous stray dogs was introduced in Council yesterday. Its appearance followed by a few hours the receipt of a letter from Mrs. Enoch Rauh, head of the Department of Welfare, urging that Council "clear the city streets of the dog menace" before summer. Mrs. Rauh said applications for Pasteur treatment against rabies had increased until they now averaged three per day.

CANADIANS DENY MINE PAY PLOT

MONTREAL, Quebec, March 20.—(AP.)—Charges by Oliver K. Eaton, union attorney, before the United States Senate coal committee, "that the Canadian government is a party to the attack upon the United Mine Workers in the United States," were denied in a statement issued by the Canadian National Railways headquarters.

Eaton charged that the Canadian government, as owners of the Canadian National Railways, through its control of the Rail and River Coal Company of West Virginia, was "participating in a natural resource of the United States" and was seeking to reduce earnings and living standards of American miners.

The railway company's statement said it acquired the Rail and River Coal Company with the former Grand Trunk Railway and had closed the mine "for the simple reason that it was cheaper for the owning railway to buy coal elsewhere."

MINERS DIFFER

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The following statement was issued today by Oliver K. Eaton, counsel for the United Mine Workers of America:

"The Canadian press today carries a formal statement from the Canadian National Railways in reference to testimony developed before the Senate committee yesterday affecting the labor policy of the Canadian National Railways in the United States. The statement denies that the Rail and River Coal Company, a subsidiary of the Canadian National Railways, had ever been a party to any attempted reduction in wages or oppression with respect to miners.

"As a matter of fact, Mr. W. F. Woodford, president of this company, testified yesterday under oath that he was a member of a committee of Ohio operators which, on March 25, 1926, demanded a wage reduction for the mines of Eastern Ohio, which included the Canadian National Railways' property. He further testified that these mines had been closed down for two years, throwing 1,500 men out of work, rather than pay the union wage scale in Ohio. He further testified that the Canadian National Railways was buying non-union coal as low as $1.25 per ton, which is less than the cost of production even in the non-union fields, where labor conditions are degraded. Mr. Woodford also testified under oath that the Canadian National Railways was out of pocket about $35,000 per month to keep their mines closed, which amount naturally comes from the taxpayers and shippers of Canada and is a contribution by the Canadian National Railways towards breaking down the living standards of the American mine workers."

"BUYER—NOT MINER"

WHEELING, W. Va., March 20.—The Rail and River Coal Company, charged with enmity against the United Mine Workers before the Senate investigating committee by Oliver K. Eaton, of Pittsburgh, buys but does not mine non-union coal, Charles J. Albasin, commissioner for the Eastern Ohio Coal Operators' Association today revealed.

"This company, operating several mines in Ohio controlled by the Canadian National Railroad, in turn the property of the Canadian government, is not inimical to the miners and has kept clear of all non-union operations even in the present emergency," Albasin said.

"The purchase of coal at present 25 cents a ton cheaper than the company can produce it under the Jacksonville wage agreement is merely an economic move," Albasin said: "one of sound business principles."

INJUNCTION REQUEST RIPPED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 20.—(AP.)—A spirited defense of the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision refusing to permit southern railroads to reduce lake cargo coal rates, was made today by Blackburn Esterline, assistant to the solicitor general of the United States, in opposing the effort of southern coal operators to obtain a Federal Court Injunction to restrain the commission from making its decision effective.

Informing Circuit Judges John J. Parker and Elliott Northcott and District Judge George W. McClintic he was willing to let the case go to the court on the transcript of the case as it went before the commission, Esterline presented a prolonged argument defending the statute under which the commission reached its decision in denying southern carriers the right to make a voluntary freight rate reduction on coal shipments to the Northwest territory.

The most novel feature of the act, Esterline said, was the clause requiring the commission to prescribe such rates as would enable the carriers to make a fair return upon their investment. The commission in the lake cargo case, he said, dealt with the subject in all the fairness and expertness it could command.

Pointing to the operators, he said: "They think that if the injunction is granted all of their difficulties will be solved." Then addressing the court again Esterline continued:

"After 20 years of work and study by the commission, they think your honors can do a better job and by asking for this injunction all of their difficulties will be disposed of if it is granted. In our judgment they have not laid down one single proposition to show where the commission failed in its interpretation of the law."

Gas Fumes Kill Man, Wife

Dead since last Friday, Edward P. Stumpf, 35, and his wife, Mrs. Emma Stumpf, 45, of Penn street, Lafferty Hill, Baldwin township, were found lying in bed in their home last night. A small gas stove was burning and the windows of the room had been closed. The deaths were attributed to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Andrew Stumpf, a brother, of Baldwin township, and Otto Heinecke of 100 Tenth street, Baldwin township, discovered the bodies when they went to the Stumpf residence to investigate the non-appearance of the couple. Stumpf and Heinecke forced a door and the latter used a flashlight to see his way into the dark room. He was almost overcome by fumes before he was able to get out of the room.

Stumpf was a carpenter. He was last seen by neighbors when he returned from work Friday afternoon.

"it's very nice of those Peasants to come down and see papa, isn't it?"

We have some millions of farmers that would like to run this country, partly, but they don't know how to go about it. No real organization, for one thing. Next fall they will get wonderful promises and then think it over four more years.

THE Socialists National Executive Committee met to discuss a Socialist national platform, and solemnly decided that Republicans and Democrats "serve corrupt oligarchies." Harsh words, but, luckily, many good Republicans and Democrats do not know what an oligarchy is.

CORRUPT corporation oligarchies rule the republic, say the Socialists. It is just a two-party capitalistic machine. Nevertheless, oil or no oil, bonds or no bonds, one or the other half of the Republican-Democratic "machine of capitalism" will win next fall.

THE earth has not settled down yet, in spite of the fact that science proves it to be more than a thousand million years old. In far away Java, volcanos below the water throw up steam and lava, building new islands, and earthquake shakes trees and houses in the Adirondacks, and other northeastern parts of New York state.

THE British cannot make up their minds about a new prayer book. The bishops wrote one. The lords approved, and his majesty was said to approve, but the House of Commons threw it out. What does a House of Commons know about a prayer book? A second new book is written, with much earnest prayer, before and during the process. But the Commons will undoubtedly reject that also.

AN OLD plan that settled the genuine and apocryphal books of the Bible might be tried. The various books were left by themselves on the floor. Those that miraculously jumped upon the altar were declared genuine, the others were not. But in these sceptical, modernist days, the prayer books might not jump. Once a miracle happened whenever it was needed. Now it happens rarely.

SANDINO FLEES U.S. FLIERS

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 20.—(AP.)—A sharp fight between two U. S. Marine Corps airplanes and a band of Sandinistas, estimated at from 50 to 200, occurred early this afternoon near an aba[illegible] mine about 20 miles northeast of Jicaro and 20 miles southwest of Jalapa.

Capt. Francis E. Pierce, an observer in one of the planes, was wounded in one foot.

After he was struck the planes returned to Ocotal and on their report several other machines were sent to the scene while a number of patrols tried to cut off the rebels from escaping northward. So far as is known, the reinforcements did not succeed in making contact.

Marine headquarters declined to estimate the possible number of casualties among the rebels, but the aviators who engaged them were sure that some of their machine gun fire and bombs were effective.

Capt. Pierce's wound consists of three shattered small bones in the ball of the foot. He was brought here by a relief plane from Ocotal.

DROP CONTEST OF BUHL WILL

Exceptions to the will of Henry Buhl, Jr., in which he left $12,000,000 to the Buhl Foundation, were withdrawn in Orphans' Court yesterday by Attorney T. F. Ryan, counsel for Mrs. A. R. Wahl and Mrs. C. E. Glenn of Evans City, nieces of Mr. Buhl.

Arguments on the exceptions were heard recently by Judge H. Walton Mitchell, after which he took the case under consideration. The withdrawal will permit the executors to carry out the terms of the will, and turn the large amount over to the Foundation.

DORIS PARDON IN DOUBT; PREPARE TO HANG HER

GIRL ORDERED TAKEN TO DEATH CELL

International News Service

MONTREAL, Quebec, March 20.—Doris Palmer McDonald, trembling at the fate that awaits her, and George McDonald, grim and taciturn, are scheduled to be removed to within the bleak confines of Valleyfield Prison tomorrow to await execution on the gallows at dawn Friday.

Despite unconfirmed rumors that Doris' sentence had been commuted, the authorities proceeded with their preparations for the double execution. The condemned couple were convicted of killing Adelard Bouchard, a taxicab driver. Doris, an American girl, born in Pittsburgh, Pa., will be the first woman hanged in Quebec in about 20 years.

The old provincial gallows has been painted a bright red for the occasion. It will be given an eleventh-hour test by Hangman Arthur Ellis. Three convicts have been selected to assist the hangman in his gruesome task.

Officials were specific in declaring that the federal government has not acted on Doris' appeal for clemency. Even so, Doris and her lawyers clung to the hope that a decision that would save her from the gibbet would be announced. They professed faith that such action would be taken as a result of the signed affidavit made by McDonald a few days ago in which he said that Doris had no part in the killing and that a confession she signed in Denver, Col., last summer was false.

J. A. Legault, one of Doris' attorneys, told the girl that McDonald's published "absolution" would save her life.

"You will not be removed to Valleyfield at all," he assured her in her death-cell. "When I come back to see you in a few days it will be to discuss plans for your new trial."

The condemned flappers' mother, Mrs. Hazel Grieco, found little hope in the new development, however.

Triple Trinity Ends in Trio Of Bullets

Three men, stealing three vacuum sweepers, pursued by three policemen, dropped the three sweepers as the three officers fired three shots.

The "trio" affair occurred on the North Side last midnight, the sweepers being taken from the automobile of L. J. Hartle, of 1124 Sheffield street. He got them back.

Brother Philip, F. S. C., principal of Catholic High School, Fifth avenue, will announce the words in the school auditorium of the school. Dr. William M. Davidson, the Very Rev. M. A. Hehr, C. S. Sp., and the Rev. Aurelius Stehle, C. S. B., will officiate as judges.

BLAZE THREATENS YUKON, 4 FAMILIES BURNED OUT

$30,000 FIRE SWEEPS FOUR VILLAGE HOMES

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 20.—Four families were made homeless and four houses and a building were burned to the ground in a disastrous fire that threatened the entire village of Yukon, nine miles southwest of here, early this morning. The loss is estimated at $30,000. Aid was summoned from Greensburg, West Newton and Mt. Pleasant.

The fire originated at 2:30 this morning in a two-story frame building housing a poolroom and bowling alley on the first floor owned and occupied by Jack Pulford, who lived on the second floor. Pulford, his wife and one child were forced to flee scantily clad. The flames spread to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Yanacci, next door, and the family, consisting of Yanacci, his wife and one child, were routed.

On the other side of the Pulford home a two-story frame building containing a grocery store and an apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George Barkoff and two children was burned to the ground and the latter forced out in the cold. Adjoining the Barkoff building was the dwelling of Mrs. James Mason and occupied by the woman and five children, all of whom were routed.

Firemen were handicapped by shortage of water and cold, and fought the blaze for more than two hours. Several firemen were cut by flying glass.

WORK OF MARY CASSATT -:- PITTSBURGH PAINTER -:- ON EXHIBITION

MATERNAL CARESS

Although Mary Cassatt specialized for the most part in the study of childhood and motherhood, her canvasses have vitality and a wholesome vigor. It is claimed by critics that this woman painter, who was born in Pittsburgh, has never been surpassed in the sphere of artists portraying the mother and child theme.

MOTHER AND CHILD

There's a quiet, reposeful quality to most of this artist's paintings, but she is never guilty of resorting to sweetness or sentimentality to obtain beauty.

MOTHER AND TWO CHILDREN

Dignity, truth and rare individuality have characterized Miss Cassatt's work, and while she shows the influence of the Japanese and also the French "impressionists," such as Degas and Monet, her work is distinctly independent.

THE BOATING PARTY

Strength and serenity have been blended charmingly by the artist in her work and a degree of healthfulness that puts life and abundant joy in the paintings. Few portraits of men are shown. The exhibition is hung at Carnegie Institute art galleries.

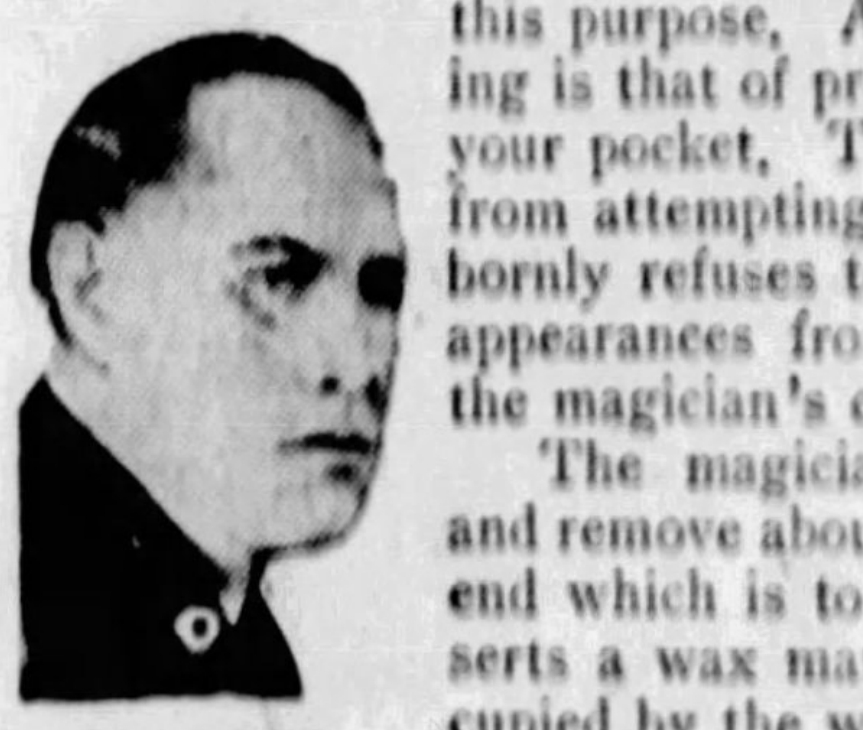
HOW TO LIGHT UP MAGIC CANDLE

By HARDEEN.

Magic to be successful for public presentation must have its share of humor. Special tricks are especially designed for this purpose. And one of the most outstanding is that of producing a lighted candle from your pocket. The humor of this trick comes from attempting to light an object that stubbornly refuses to ignite. Candles make their appearances from every conceivable part of the magician's clothing.



HARDEEN.

The magician takes an ordinary candle and remove about an inch of the wick from the end which is to be lighted, and carefully inserts a wax match in the space formerly occupied by the wick.

Next sew a strip of emery cloth or sandpaper in the pocket which you wish to produce the lighted candle. Then place the prepared candle in the prepared pocket, resting the head of the match against the emery cloth or sandpaper.

When you wish to produce the lighted candle all you have to do is to reach into the pocket and while taking out the candle rub the match head against the emery cloth or sandpaper, thereby igniting the match and so producing a lighted candle.

Simple as this trick may seem it has been used sucessfully on the stage for many years. The art of presentation becomes highly necessary to lend mystery to the trick. Pantomime brings fun to the offering. When the object you wish to light refuses to ignite you cue is to show surprise.

This is also easy to accomplish but takes practice. The pantomime is often worked out with a cigar. The cigar apparently takes on a glow and the magician believes it lit. But quickly finds that the fire has gone out. He views the cigar end with surprise reaches to another pocket and brings forth another lighted candle. And continues to do so until his supply is exhausted. The humor becomes more forceful as the trick continues and as one lighted candle follows another from the pockets.

Tomorrow I will explain the mysterious vest trick.

Varied are the Victoria Shop frocks. Sheer georgettes, lace and crepe frocks subtly draped, heavier crepes and satins in the simplest lines—those for the larger woman. For the small woman prints and brighter hues predominate these especially designed modes.

Afternoon frocks, dinner gowns as well as dresses for street or business wear are among the Victoria fashions. Spring shades are interspersed with the ever-popular navy and black.

FANNIE HURST URGES PRESIDENT TO MEDIATE

Bethlehem Mines Corporation, operates coal mines near Pittsburgh and is alleged to have broken the Jacksonville agreement at the same time as the Pittsburgh Coal Company. Rockefeller is said to hold the dominating interest in the Consolidation Coal Company, which has mines near Fairmont, W. Va.

Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, chairman of the committee, said the men named would be summoned, not with a view to reproaching or criticizing them, but in the hope of getting constructive suggestions from them for the rehabilitation of the coal industry and also to find out what they personally know about conditions.

Senator Watson said the committee decided to ask the Pittsburgh Coal Company to set forth formally its reasons for asking that its list of stockholders be withheld from the public. If the reasons should not appear of great importance to the committee, Watson stated, the list will be made available for newspaper publication.

A large audience was present to hear Fannie Hurst's story.

"Worse Than Russia"

"I went without any preconceived ideas or prejudice," said Miss Hurst, "and with the intention not to see things from the angle of the so-called 'sob sister.' What I found was more appalling, more degrading, more humiliating than what I saw in Russia two years ago, where the people were living under the stress of revolution and evolution."

President Coolidge was called upon by Miss Hurst to call a conference of operators, miners and public representatives to end the strike and agree upon remedial legislation.

She described Western Pennsylvania strike conditions as "a cancer undermining the faith of the strikers in government."

"I saw conditions in the mining camps around Pittsburgh," said Miss Hurst, "that were not justifiable no matter who was right or wrong. The people were without the ordinary amenities of life, without the ordinary decencies of privacy.

"Sowing Revolt"

"I was in one home where a baby had been born just a couple of days before in a room where the whole family lived. Babies are born in those barracks as kittens are born—with no more privacy.

"The seeds of revolt are being sown. I saw it in the children, and that seemed to me the most serious aspect of the matter. The children are growing up as little rebels, little haters."

Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, asked Miss Hurst if she had read the articles that Theodore Dreiser, the novelist, is writing about Russia. She said she had not seen them. Senator Wagner said Dreiser was writing about the conditions in the mining industry in Russia, and that the Russian miners appeared to be better off than those in Pennsylvania.

"What has Russia to do with this?" asked Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, in a tone of irritation. "Why is this comparison being made with Russia all the time?"

Senator Wagner was taken somewhat aback.

Miss Hurst said she thought it was not amiss to point out respects in which the United States was backward, and to compare them with conditions in Russia, because, she said, the United States was in most respects foremost in everything that was worth while, while Russia was at the opposite end of the scale.

Senator Gooding told Miss Hurst that he thought that the comparison with Russia was very appropriate.

"Are the causes for the conditions in the mining industry governmental or economic?" asked Senator Watson.

"It is impossible," said Miss Hurst, "to draw a clear line between the two. They are intercorelated.

"There was no justification for the social mess that I beheld."

Asked if she had any suggestions for a remedy, Miss Hurst said:

Calls on President

"The coal industry is an old-fashioned rickety structure which has been patched up for many years, by putting newspapers in the broken, leaky windows, and in other such ways, to such an extent that it will stand no further repair. To my surprise I find that the operators are not aware that theirs is an obsolete, out-of-date structure. They think it can be repaired further. What is needed is to tear down the old house and put up a modern building.

"In the meanwhile this festering sore requires immediate treatment. People are living worse than animals. It is a matter for the President of the United States. I think he should call a conference of operators, miners and the public to stop that sore. Of course, it would only be putting iodine to a cancer, but something should be done to relieve the distress until the coal industry has been re-constructed from the ground up."

"Stopped by Guards"

Senator Watson asked Miss Hurst if she knew of the work of the coal commission headed by John Hays Hammond that was appointed by President Wilson.

Miss Hurst said that she did.

Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, asked Senator Watson what he would recommend for the improvement of the coal industry if he should be elected president.

This started some persiflage among the senators, which Senator Watson directed should be stricken from the record.

Miss Hurst was asked by Senator Wagner if she had ever visited the homes of the strike-breakers. In answer she told of being stopped by coal and iron police and refused permission to enter the Pittsburgh Coal Company's village at Moon Run. The police got in touch with J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, Miss Hurst said, but he declined to grant her permission to enter the town, although he sent her a pass a day or two later.

Miss Hurst said it was an amazing experience to be stopped at the United States postoffice in an American town by privately employed police and told she could not walk through the town. In Russia, she said, "she was allowed to go wherever she liked without any interference by the authorities."

"Operators Serene"

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, asked Miss Hurst if she had interviewed any of the operators in Pittsburgh. She answered that she had, and that it was "amazing beyond words" to find them viewing the situation "with an air of detachment" as if it were a matter in which they were not personally interested.

She said some of the operators with whom she talked admitted that they had no personal acquaintance with their camps, but got their information by hearsay.

Miss Hurst was on the stand for only a comparatively short while, but her testimony deeply stirred the Senators as well as the audience. She was not cross-examined by the operators' attorneys.

After she was excused, Don Rose, counsel for the Pittsburgh Coal Company, announced that he had with him the list of stockholders of the company, with the amount of their holdings, which the committee had requested, but that he felt that the list should not be made public.

"Are some of these people ashamed to be known as stockholders of the Pittsburgh Coal Company?" asked Senator Wheeler.

Chairman Watson asked that the Aim To Live 100

An Easy System To Follow For People Half Dead Around the Age of 40.

We only begin to think of our health when the human machine staggers and falters under a load of disease.

Millions of people who suffer needlessly from constipation, sour stomach, indigestion, liver, kidney and impure blood ailments should follow this proven advice: Go to your druggist, ask him for a box of the famous Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea. Here is what the tea is guaranteed to do for you. It will remove the toxic poisons from the bowels, stimulate and tone the liver, flush and cleanse the kidneys, kill off stomach gases, improve and enrich the blood—thereby putting your entire system in a first class healthy condition.

Begin right now to purify your system. Put back power and health into your blood. Take a cupful of the rich vitalizing juices of these precious herbs at least once each week. No cheating. Remember, once a week regular, that's the system. In a very short time you will begin to feel like a new person.

Further, just to break up a cold quickly and avoid "Flu" or pneumonia, Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea is worth ten times its small cost. Remember, see your druggist at once. Don't put it off.

The Acid-Test

Applied to Merchandise

For the better enforcement of the Joseph Horne Co. policy of first-quality merchandise only, we have established a Bureau of Standards, in the store, with a Testing Laboratory, under the direction of a graduate chemist.

Those who have read "Your Money's Worth," by Stuart Chase and F. J. Schlink, will appreciate the importance that a Bureau of Standards such as the Joseph Horne Co. now places at the service of Pittsburgh shoppers. Manufacturers' offerings will be microscopically analyzed and compared that our customers may be assured the most for their money at all times. The tensile strength, washing qualities, wool, silk, linen and cotton content of fabrics, and similar facts will be definitely ascertained with regard to new products, and their value scientifically established.

"All wool and a yard wide" means exactly that—at Horne's!

Nationally Known Authority on Interior Decorations

Tells How to Make Homes Out of Houses

Ross Crane is the founder of the National Better Homes Movement—an outstanding authority in solving the everyday problems of those who plan better and more artistic home furnishings. We place him at your service without expense or obligation and urge your attendance.

CONFESSES MURDERING TEACHER

WOMAN 'TERROR' TRACKED DOWN

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service

NEW YORK, March 20.—Mrs, Helen Chevalier Kimball, attractive 25-year-old school teacher, shot and killed in her apartments in Brooklyn, was the victim of a Negro with a penchant for assaulting young women. The Negro, Martin L. Miller, 25, confessed today that he was the murderer,

He was captured in a poolroom in Paterson, N. J., after a terrific battle with the police, during which he was struck on the head with a blackjack. Miller confessed, the police said, that he knocked on the Kimball door and, when Mrs. Kimball opened it, forced his way in on the pretext that he had been sent to repair a gas stove. He had previously been a janitor in the building. She screamed when he attempted to attack her and started to run into her bedroom. He pulled a gun and she cried:

"Don't shoot—please don't shoot!"

He fired. She fell, a bullet in her breast. As she lay on the floor he shot her again, and fled.

Shortly after, Miller was seen climbing out of the dumbwaiter shaft in the building. A hunt, participated in by hundreds of police officers, was immediately launched. He was finally tracked to the Paterson poolroom.

The slain woman's husband, William W. Kimball, also an instructor, was on the verge of collapse today. He had kissed his wife goodby and left for his school a few minutes before the Negro broke into his wife's apartment.

Prompt extradition and a quick trial for the Negro was planned by the authorities.

HIGHWAY PATROLMAN MAY GET NEW TRIAL

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 20.—Argument for a new trial for Capt. D. E. Miller, Troop B, motor highway patrol of Greensburg, convicted of malfeasance in office in Butler last Saturday, will be made soon. A motion was filed Monday.

Miller was acquitted of a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice growing out of the alleged changing of a charge of driving an auto while intoxicated to one of reckless driving preferred against N. F. Vidal, Jr., of Youngstown, O., after the latter had been arrested near Butler last August,

CHANGE PLANS FOR NEW BANK BUILDING

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 20.—Officers of the Central Savings and Loan Company, one of the largest building and loan institutions in this section of the state, announced yesterday that revised plans for the bank's new building in Central Square, call for a 20-story building, instead of a 15-story structure, included in the original plans.

$71,000 TO FIX BIGELOW WALL

The rehabilitation of the Bigelow boulevard wall, as planned by members of Council, will cost about $71,000, according to an estimate received from Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang. The estimate includes the cost of a new drainage system along the hillsides, water-proofing the back of the wall, and "gunning" the front with cement. Council frequently has received criticisms that the wall in its present state is "an eye-sore."

AUTOIST CONVICTED OF KILLING 2 FINED $300

EBENSBURG, Pa., March 20.—Convicted last week of involuntary manslaughter in an auto crash in which two persons were killed, Frank W. Shaulis, 62, farmer, of Stoyestown, was sentenced to pay $300 and costs. The jury recommended mercy.

LAWRENCEVILLE PLOT SOLD TO BOYS' CLUB

MORE PROTEST HORTHY VISIT

Another letter protesting the proposed welcome that Mayor Charles H. Kline says he will give to a group of representatives of the Horthy Regime in Hungary when they arrive here next week, was sent to the mayor yesterday. It was from Louis Cherny, president of the Pittsburgh branch of the Anti-Horthy League of America, Similar letters were sent to other city officials and to the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce,

The letter states that the government represented by the visitors is a disgrace to all civilized nations,

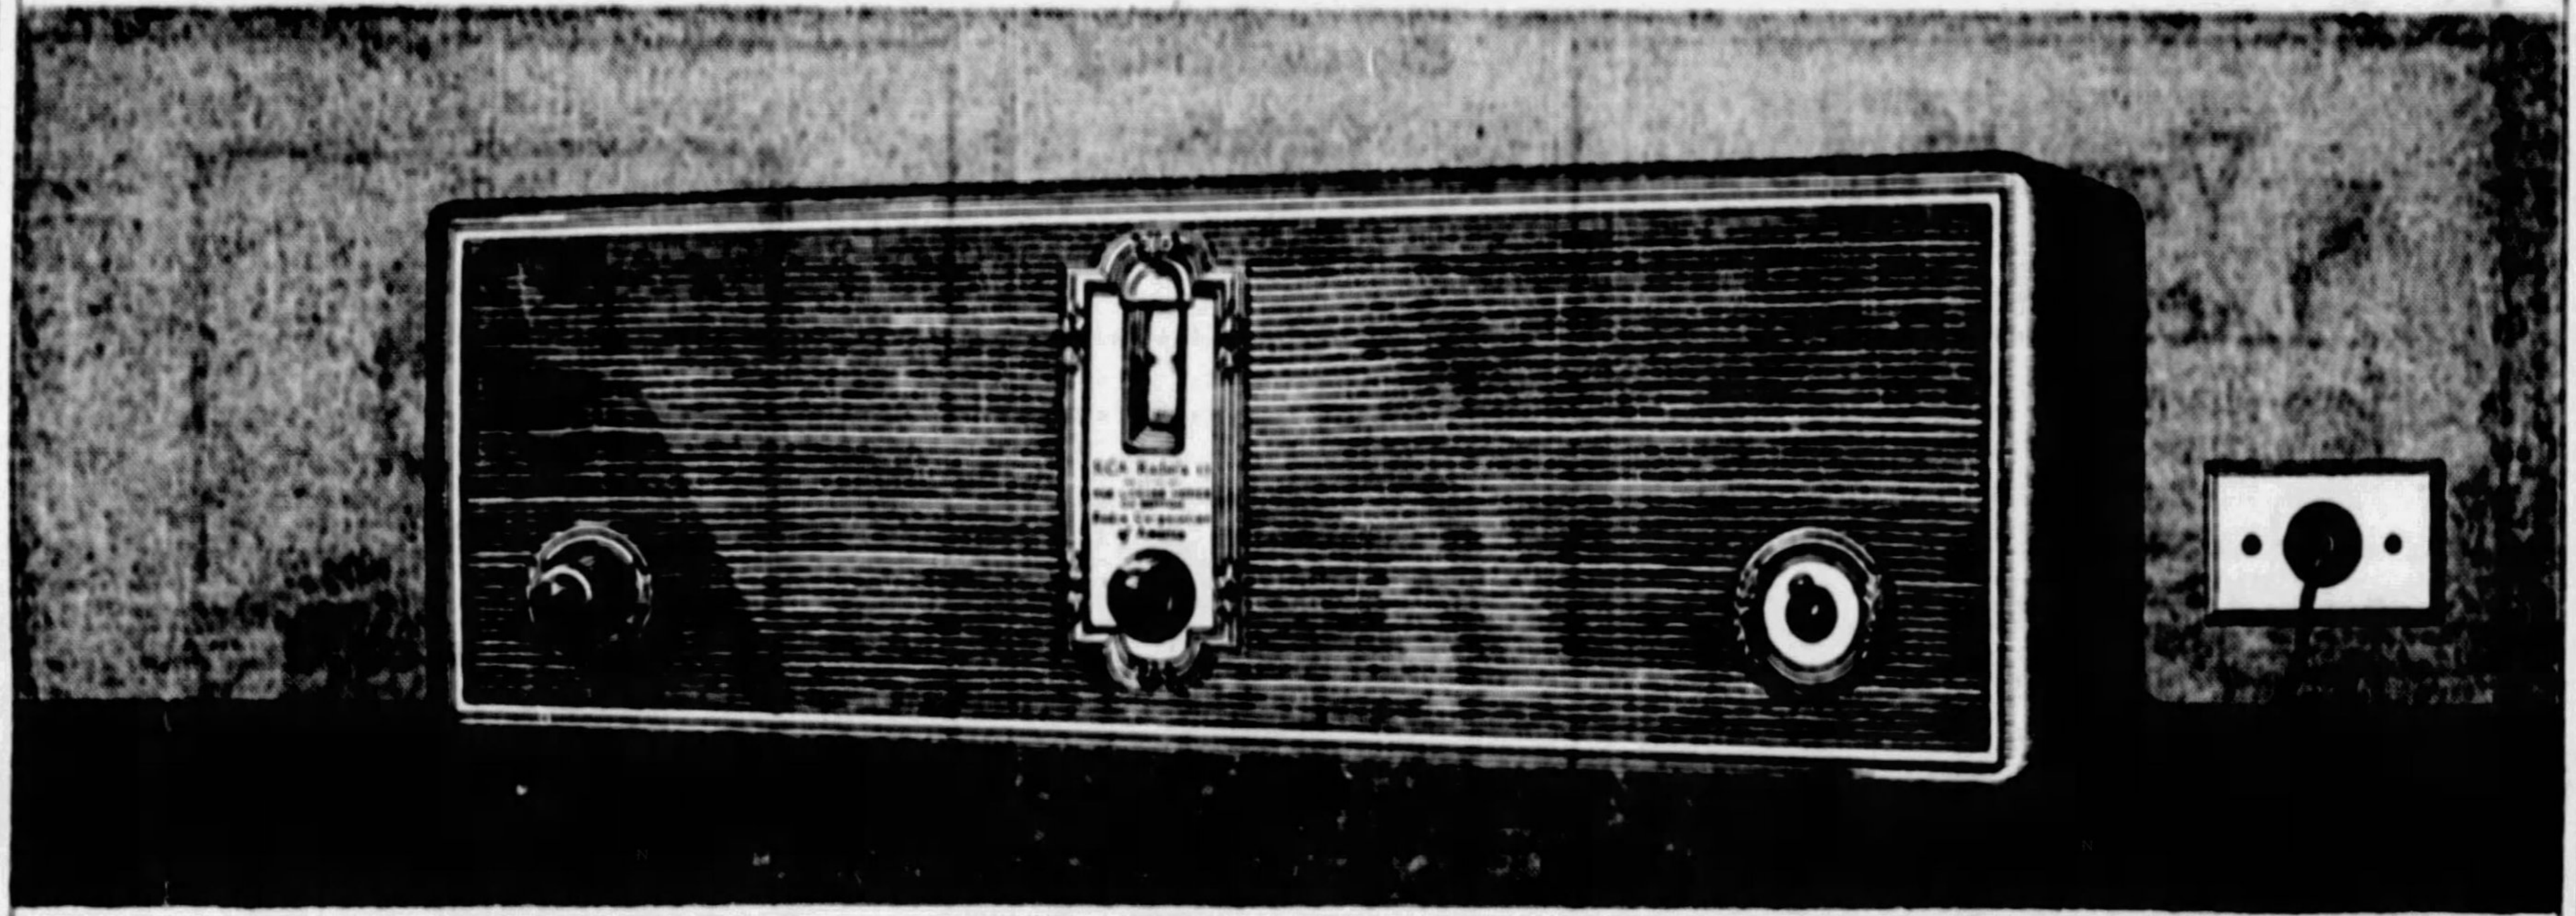
RADIOLA 17



RCA RADIOLA 17. The "wonder box" that operates from the electric light circuit (110 volt, 60 cycle, A. C.) as simply as an electric fan. Wonderfully balanced sensitivity, selectivity and tone fidelity. Built of the finest tested materials. The entire set self-contained in a fine mahogany cabinet. Equipped with Radiotrons, $157.50

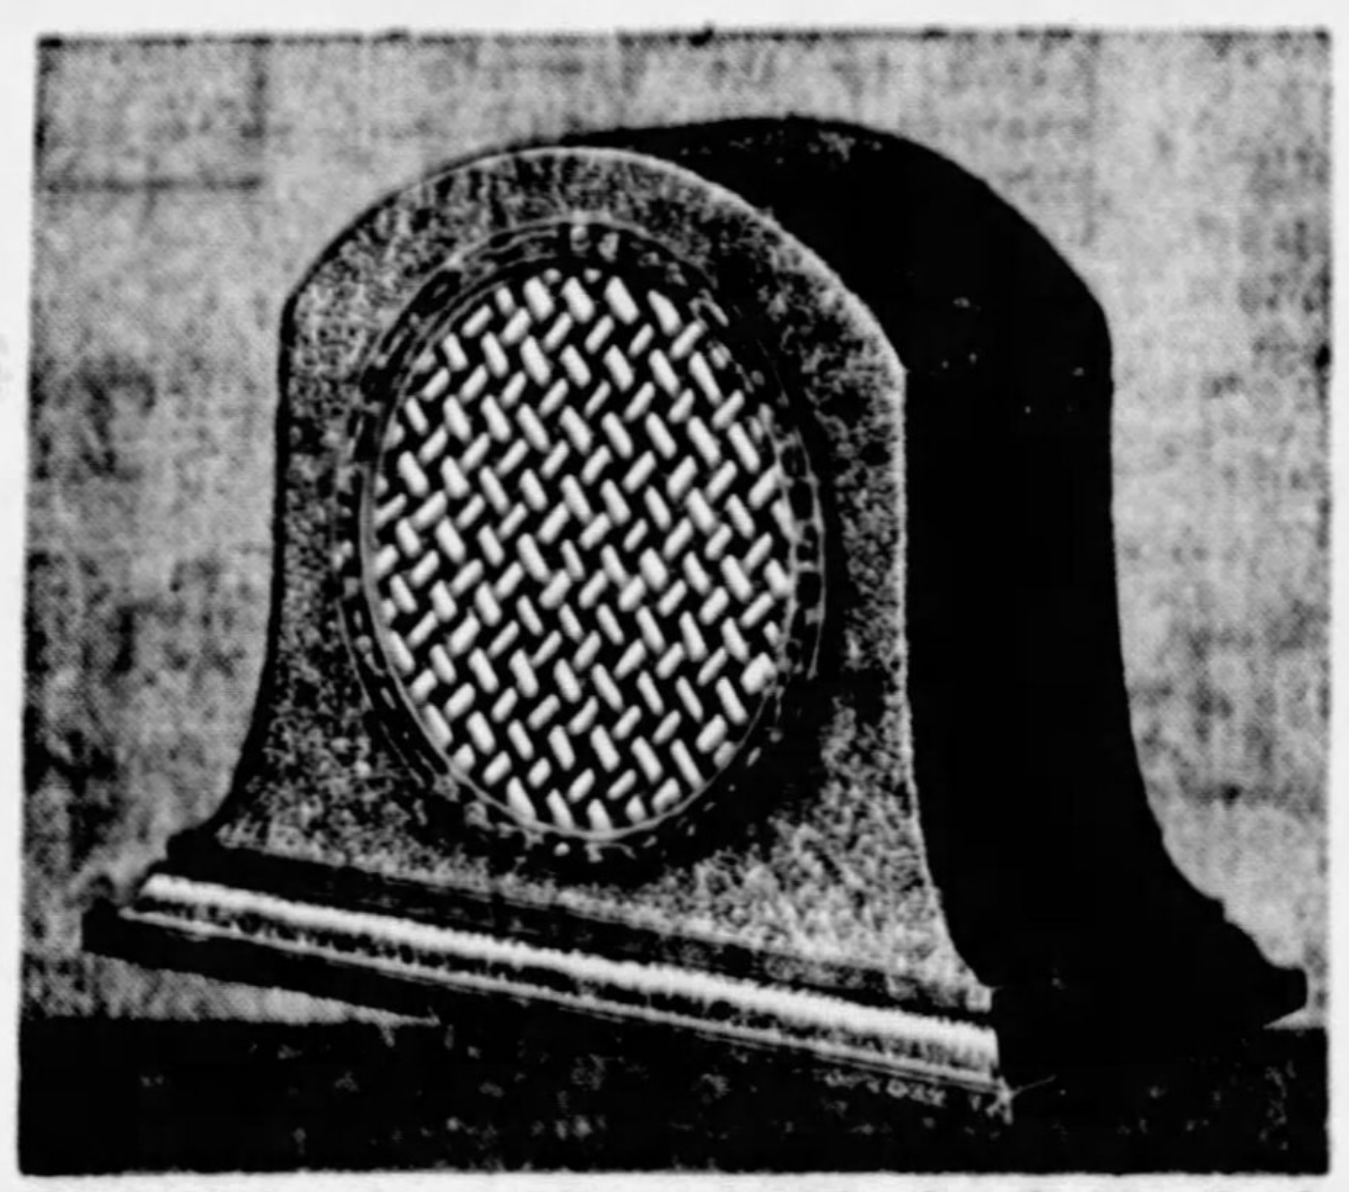
Acclaimed the country over for its marvelous simplicity and performance

A few months ago the Radio Corporation of America, after two years of laboratory tests, announced the perfection of a radically new design in radio receivers to be operated directly from the electric light circuit.

This notable advance in simplified operation was made possible by the development of the new alternating current Radiotrons.

Radiola 17, first receiver of the new design, has achieved a popularity never before accorded any radio instrument in so short a period. It has opened a new era in radio. It has revolutionized the industry.

In a hundred and fifty thousand homes Radiola 17 has brought a new conception of the amazing advance that has taken place in radio set design since the early days of broadcasting.



RCA LOUDSPEAKER 100A. The best-known loudspeaker in the country. Ideal to use with Radiola 17. Its range and realism have made it the most popular of all loudspeakers $35

There are other Radiolas ranging from $82.75 to $895, including the famous Super-Heterodyne in de luxe models. Radiolas may be purchased on the RCA Time Payment Plan from RCA Authorized Dealers.

HOTEL STOPS PAY OF GIRLS' BAND

Nellie Jay and her 10-piece Jay Bird Band, all girls, furnished music at the Liberty Theater last week without pay, so they discovered Saturday night when they called to collect their salary. At that time Miss Jay discovered that the Planters Hotel in Chicago had attached the money due the musicians for a hotel bill. This week the girls are playing at the Schenley Theater.

Last January the troupe was stranded in Chicago and the hotel bill resulted. It was agreed they should go "on the road" and send weekly installments to the hotel. Engagements were not so good on the road and the hotel, through Attorneys Corte and Graham, here, attached the wages. The girls are represented by Attorney Harry Ravick.

WILBUR HAS NO CURE FOR SUBMARINE DISASTERS

SUGGESTIONS SO FAR HAVE BEEN USELESS

"No, we have no plans under advisement looking to prevention of further submarine disasters," said Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur, who spoke at several meetings here yesterday and last night.

"There is nothing in the idea that we are considering the use of warning bombs to be sent to the surface by a submersible before rising. Nor have any practicable suggestions been made regarding more effective use of pontoons in salvage operations. Of course, we are always glad to consider such proposals. But a submarine should be able to look out for surface boats by means of its periscopes and microphones. The S-4 when struck was traveling with at least one periscope above water, and it will be remembered that the naval board of inquiry accordingly fixed a large part of the blame for the fate of the S-4 upon those in charge of it."

The Secretary read eagerly an account in the final edition of The Sun-Telegraph of the opening of the S-4 at Charlestown Navy Yard. He expressed surprise and disappointment that no notes left by the crew had been found. Asked if he could explain the fact that a bottle nearly full of oxygen had been found, perplexing the board of inspection which explored the hulk yesterday, Secretary Wilbur said that the men had probably been suffocated by carbon dioxide gas before being able to use all their oxygen.

Secretary Wilbur left for Boston today, in fulfillment, he said, of a promise he made some time ago to visit personally the 26 divers who engaged in the S-4 rescue and salvage operations.

"I am going to congratulate and thank each one for his heroic work," he said.

list of stockholders be left with the committee, which would decide later whether to make it public.

Lowell Limpus, reporter for the New York Daily News, was called to finish his testimony, but, as he was not present, a photographer for the same paper, Herbert McCrory, who has worked with Limpus in reporting the coal strike, was called.

McCrory told of many incidents that have occurred in the strike, particularly at the camps of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation in the neighborhood of Broughton, Bruceton, Coverdale and Horning.

One of McCrory's most sensational statements was that John J. Creehan, a former auditor of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, had informed him that the company was deliberately cheating its strikebreakers by crediting them with less coal than they actually mined.

DE MOLAYS WILL MEET HERE

Minehart, of Bellevue, will continue as deputy of the Pennsylvania organization.

The De Molay Alumni Association will hold its second annual conference in Pittsburgh in 1929 at the time of the meeting of the national De Molay council.

S-4 DYING FOUGHT GAS

ed, was found in the mud on the floor of the torpedo room. The ladder was there. The two bodies, removed from its base, were at Chelsea Naval Hospital. On the sloping wall, as near to the surface as Lieut. Fitch could get, was a large dent in the white paint.

From the topmost part of the sloping wall, Lieut. Fitch had hammered his messages to the oscillator of a sister submarine on the surface above.

The wrench that he used as a telegraph key was a foot in length; the T-shaped top measured six inches. A deep dent in the top, the naval men said, showed without the shadow of a doubt that this was the instrument used.

Lieut. Fitch, they revealed, was an expert in code messages—that it was he who delivered the dramatic tappings.

In one message the lieutenant said that the high mark of the water in the compartment was 15 inches. Today the naval board saw the mark 18 inches above the floor.

Search of the muddy floor, of the clothing of the men, in fact, of every conceivable hiding place, failed to reveal written records or farewell messages. The naval investigators said that probably the men had conserved all their energy in the forlorn hope that they would be rescued before the chlorine gas had killed all the oxygen in the chamber.

The clock on the wall of the torpedo compartment stopped at 5:30 and a watch found hanging with a portable flashlight at 3:19.

Messages telling of the discoveries were telephoned to the drydock from the interior of the submersible by Commander Harold E. Saunders.

INQUEST VIEWS BODIES

Meanwhile, at Chelsea Naval Hospital a naval board of inquest was viewing the last eight bodies taken from the submarine after she had been raised off Cape Cod and towed here. Thirty-two bodies previously had been recovered by divers.

Some of the mystery surrounding events aboard the S-4 following her crash with the coastguard destroyer Paulding off Provincetown on December 17, 1927, were cleared up today by naval experts.

They explained why it was impossible for the submersible to remain under control after being rammed to the bottom. Water, they said, rushed into the battery room, flooding the batteries. Deadly chlorine gas immediately swept the ship, except for a few of the airtight compartments, and it finally seeped into those.

Finding it impossible to stay in the control operating compartment or the battery room the men whose posts were there were obliged to flee for their lives to the motor and engine compartments.

Some were lost in the inrush of the water, the naval experts declared.

Others were felled by the chlorine gas. A majority, probably suffering, were able to reach the motor and engine room, where the divers found their bodies.

The naval experts declared that the time was too short after the collision for the men to man the pumps, but that they did their very best under the circumstances.

ASK 5 YEARS TO PUT IN NEW LIFT DOORS

The Building Owners and Managers Association yesterday asked council to give property owners five years of grace in which to install the automatic interlocking inner doors on passenger elevators. An ordinance requiring such doors passed some time ago and several hearings have been held on the subject.

TRAIN VICTIM IS IDENTIFIED

The body of a man killed yesterday in Ann street, Homestead, when struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train, was identified at the county morgue today as that of Michael Matsuga, 44, of 133 Frank street, Whitaker. His wife, Mary, made the identification.

GIVES $3,800 TO GET $20,000; LOSES ALL

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., March 20.—Stanislaus Stabura, of Albany Hill, is minus his savings of $3,800. He gave the money to a stranger promising him $20,000 to distribute among the needy of the Monongahela valley. The supposed $20,000 proved to be a roll of paper with a $20 bill on the outside.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Still Gilbert and Sullivan Wield the Old Magic Spell As "The Mikado" Fills Alvin

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

THAT "The Mikado" is of its kind as perfect a thing as "Tristan und Isolde" is of its kind—that the humor of this operetta is perennial and its music effervescent—was demonstrated anew last night at the Alvin Theater when the Winthrop Ames production was unfolded in merry and tuneful fashion. It was a gala night, for the Three Little Maids of Japan found many little maids from Wellesley on the other side of the footlights, the audience being composed almost entirely of the friends of the Wellesley Club.

Without departing too violently from the business of older productions, this edition has a few novelties that may be regarded as concessions to the modern spirit. Aside from the very impressive display of illuminated lanterns at the close of the first act, these innovations are in the addition of several comic supernumeraries, particularly the Umbrella-Bearer and Sword-Bearer of the Mikado. These two court functionaries added much to the gayety of the Sublime Ruler's visit to Titipu, and there is no reason why anyone should object to their presence. W. S. Gilbert would have been the last one to voice any opposition. Some liberties have also been taken with the text, thus "the lady novelist" whom Ko-Ko has upon his list becomes "the Prohibitionist"—and this also would have met with the approval of W. S. Gilbert, as it was unanimously endorsed by the Samurai.

Perhaps the Ko-Ko of Fred Wright should likewise be classed among the departures from the Gilbertian tradition. The comedians who have played the Lord High Executioner usually assumed a truculent and bloodthirsty manner, and often have been equipped with a portentous snickersnee which they brandished with grim humor. Mr. Wright is meek and ladylike, as befits the ex-tailer who couldn't kill a blue-bottle. Mr. Wright's psychology is excellent, and so is his voice. He excelled particularly in the touching ballad of the lovelorn Tomtit, which wins the heart of Katisha. That incurably romantic lady was portrayed and sung admirably by Vera Ross, who does not forget that Katisha has strayed into this operetta from some loftier sphere where Verdi ruled.

The Mikado, that noble potentate who has studied Herbert Spencer to some purpose, roused much mirth as he was portrayed by John Barclay, with adequate voice and sardonic humor. Nanki-Poo, the wandering minstrel, was identified as William Williams, the Pittsburgh boy who looks princely enough and sings pleasingly. The best voice among the men is Pooh-Bah's, and William C. Gordon, also puts a wealth of pompous humor into this part. Pish-Tush is capably presented by J. Humbird Duffey.

The three little maids were Lois Bennett, a charming Yum-Yum, Suissabell Sterling, a vivacious Pitti-Sing, and Bettina Hall, delightful as Peep-Bo. That adjective "delightful" is the one that best fits the entire presentation of the sparkling operetta—which age cannot wither nor custom stale—which still has the laughter of Gilbert's fancy wedded to the melody and rhythm of Sullivan's jeweled score. Truly, "The Mikado" is a perfect thing of its kind. And tonight the audience at the Alvin will fly to fairyland with "Iolanthe."

HARDEEN TOPS HARRIS BILL

Hardeen, brother of Houdini, amuses and mystifies on the Harris stage. Clocks disappear from his hands and reappear simultaneously on watch chains on the opposite end of the stage. Two women performers seemingly vanish into space. And from apparently no place at all come a chicken and three or four rabbits. Climaxing the act, Hardeen, handcuffed and in a big black sack, has himself locked in a trunk. Suddenly, he appears from behind drawn curtains and assists in opening what is apparently the same trunk, disclosing a young woman in the same predicament that he was in a few moments before. Will H. Ward, assisted by a company of three, entertains in a comedy skit that sobs a sentimental note at its close. The act is liked as is the offering by Lew Hawkins, another oldtimer, who appears as a blackface comedian. Cy Plunkett gets laughs with his chatter and jokes—some of which are a bit old. Helen Mason helps him along. Fred and Mae Stanley perform with the lariat. The photoplay is "Her Summer Hero," a romance of college youth. An organlogue, a Fable cartoon comedy and news pictures are on the bill.

EARLY GILBERT, BOW PHOTOPLAYS IN CAMEO

A re-issue of "St. Elmo," one of John Gilbert's earlier pictures, and the photoplay, "The Keeper of the Bees," based on the Gene Stratton-Porter novel and an early vehicle for Clara Bow, are being offered in the Cameo this week. The late Barbara LaMarr is in the cast of the Gilbert production. A cartoon novelty and International News Pictures also are being presented.

Nixon Has Musical Farce, "She's My Baby," Featuring Beatrice Lillie, Comedienne

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS.

THERE'S a farce in the Nixon, opening last night, which would be pleasing from a comedy standpoint alone. "She's My Baby," it is called. Frilled up with a plentitude of pretty girls, singing and dancing, it proved to be enjoyable from all angles.

Beatrice Lillie, English comedienne, who was one of the stars of Charlot's revue, has the central role, that of a maid who aspires to be an actress and applies for employment in a company staging a piece of which her master is the author. She is promised a part provided she masquerades as the wife of the producer, who is unmarried, but pretends he has a wife and baby in order to obtain from an estate in which he is interested, money needed to produce the play. The trustee of the estate arrives before all plans are completed and when he wishes to see the baby he is told that it has been kidnapped.

From this basic situation, many other farcical complications arise, as the two young men interested in the success of the scheme to obtain money, are both engaged and their fiancees refuse to hush when they are told that everything will be explained in due time. It is a merry piece, far removed from the usual Cinderella theme of musical comedy, situations and lines both containing much material for causing laughter.

Miss Lillie is a comedienne who can play low comedy with the restraint usually found only in plays of the higher type. Clifton Webb, as the author, and Jack White, as the producer, completed a triumvirate of clowning that had its apex in the trio, "Camera Shoot," in which Miss Lillie vocally and dancingly described how she would out-glorify Gloria Swanson and other movie stars as a film actress.

Mr. Webb demonstrated eccentric dancing skill in a duet with Pauline Mason. Ula Sharon pleased as a solo dancer, exhibiting proficiency in a difficult toe exhibition. John Tiller's Little Cocktails, an octet of steppers, appeared on several occasions in that synchronized style of dancing, which, though long familiar now, always amazes with its beautiful unity of movement.

The choral singing was better than usual in musical comedy and was marked by the harmony vocalizing of a quartet of its members, billed as the four nightingales. A comedy butler, Charles Howard, also was popular with the audience. John Doane was effective as the trustee, a member of the Rotary Club, in his own home town.

EDWARDS KIDS WIN IN STANLEY PROGRAM

Gus Edwards and his youngsters, in the Stanley stage presentation, and Billie Dove on the screen in "The Heart of a Follies Girl," provide nothing like an even contest for honors—Gus and his gang, and a right clever gang it is, too, make it a runaway race. That's one benefit of a stage presentation—if the picture's not the highest in average, the customer gets his money's worth anyway. "The Heart of a Follies Girl" is only mildly interesting as a story, but it does give the fair Billie a chance to show more of herself than we ever saw before and it also gives her a chance to be so tearful that one just wants to pat her on the back and comfort her. Lowell Sherman again displays his sauvity and Larry Kent is the leading man. Mildred Harris is good in a chorus girl role. Among the Edwards proteges is a youthful combination of Jack Donohue and Leon Errol, Ray (Rubberlegs) Bolger, comedian and eccentric dancer, who is a real future great. Edwards presides as master of ceremonies in a little revue that is quite pleasing. Orchestral music, "Topics of the Day" and news pictures complete the bill.

SAMOANS LEAD IN DAVIS

One of the proud boasts of our civilization is shown up by Prince Lei Lani, the Hawaiian tenor in the Davis this week, when he gets his Samoan dancers to exhibit the Charleston and the Black Bottom as importations from the South Sea Islands. These Samoans have good voices and their costumes interfere little with their movements. Another curse of civilization, "Money, Money, Money," is the theme of Homer B. Mason's travesty, in which he and Marguerite Keller try in vain to die poor, but even strike oil in Connecticut. Jack Hanley has a diverting comedy act with some hat juggling that is clever. Winnie Lightner sings four or five ballads that are modern and highly spiced, while Alice Zeppilli warbles operatic arias from Verdi and similar de luxe composers. Jack Fulton and Peggy Parker indulge in amusing banter that gets a number of laughs. The photoplay is "The Wise Wife," in which Phyllis Haver, Tom Moore and Jacqueline Logan get into the customary double triangle with all coming out well at the end. The news reel shows scenes of the California flood.

"ROSE-MARIE" PICTURE AND GOOD ACTS IN PENN

The film version of the musical comedy success, "Rose-Marie," being screened in the Penn this week, is much more melodramatic than the original and it is principally interesting in that it presents to notice a new leading man, James Murray, in the role of Jim Kenyon. Joan Crawford is as vivid as ever in the title role. As a picture, "Rose-Marie" is just another of the numerous stories of the Canadian wilds—not bad, nothing to rave about. A good stage presentation is given under the title of "Dancing Brides," presented in an elaborate setting and introducing steppers and other entertainers, including Jessie and Jules Walton, Al and Jack Rand, the six Lenora girls, all dancers, Adelaide Kerkoff, who sings "Among My Souvernirs," and Milo, who is the big hit of the bill. Milo's act is of a surprise nature, so it is not disclosed, but it's the best of its kind. M-G-M news pictures, music and other features complete the program.

SAILORS, BOOTLEGGERS IN NEW OLYMPIC FILM

"Sharp Shooters" is the photoplay being presented this week in the Olympic. George O'Brien and Lois Moran head the cast. The plot concerns a dancing girl in Morocco and an American gob. The girl falls for the sailor boy and follows him to New York. There she gets mixed up with a bootleg king and things begin to happen. The Vitaphone offers Sarah Padden, in a dramatic playlet; Frank Richardson, who sings popular songs, and Harry Wyman's feminine orchestra.

NOVEL JUGGLER IN ALDINE

Royal Gascoynes offers a clever and novel juggling act in the Aldine this week. He juggles balls, glass bottles and a flaming cone of ordinary newsprint paper, the latter on the tip of a cigar. He also introduces a fuzzy little dog that stands on one foot on its master's nose. Earl Bronson and Irene Renee, assisted by feminine performers, have an entertaining revue. Earl is droll, and the girls display ability and pep as singers and dancers. Harry Smith and Jack Strong are a couple of fellows who entertain, vocally, in several old song favorites. "Tin Types," gets a laugh or so. Joe Page and Mona Glass, frolic and dance on a wire six or so feet in the air. The photoplay is "The Opening Night," the plot of which revolves against a background of theatrical life. The cast includes Claire Windsor, E. Allyn Warren and John Bowers. Short screen features are offered.

BEERY, HATTON CLIMB SWISS ALPS IN GRAND

Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton mix soldiering, love-making and Alpine climbing in their latest comedy effort, "Wife Savers," current film in the Grand. The laughs are plentiful, with Wallace getting into numerous ludicrous situations and makeups. He is seen as an U. S. army cook, an Alpine climber and a bridegroom for a night. Hatton is seen as a second lieutenant, who entrusts his sweetheart to the protection of Private Beery. Zasu Pitts adds laughs by doing a take-off on the Renee Adoree episode of "The Big Parade." There are no Brooklyn restaurants sequences to the film, such as advance publicity heralded. Short film entertainment completes the bill.

SINGING PIANISTS TOP SHERIDAN SQUARE BILL

Maddock's Mascots, a sextet of feminine entertainers, play six pianos at one time in their act, which features the bill that opened yesterday in the Sheridan Square. They also sing and dance. The Great Lester, a fellow with a wooden dummy, hands out comedy. Elizabeth Solti and Company offer a dance act. Gaines Brothers, "Cuban Athletes," perform "strong man" feats. Morgan and Lake sing, dance and chatter nonsense. The photoplay feature is "Sharp Shooters," with George O'Brien and Lois Moran. It develops the romance between a sailor boy and a French girl, who dances in a cabaret in Morocco. John Edward Mitchell presents an organlogue and short screen entertainment also is on the bill.

"REDHEAD BEAUTIES" ACADEMY BURLESQUE

Carrie Finnell, who specializes in syncopated songs and dances, is featured in "Red Headed Beauties" in the Academy. She sang a number of songs with a dash that pleased. Charles Grow, pianist, accompanied her. Benny Moore is conspicuous in a comedy role and his Italian impersonations were liked. In "The Dancing Maniacs," Pearl Henderson and eight others proved to be fast steppers. Billy Gordon and Ted Lester aided in the comedy scenes. Bea Moore had a song specialty, "Wonderful Wedding," and Peggy Moore appeared in a soubret role. The chorus contains 16 red-headed girls who dance and sing. Among the skits was a mystery satire on "The Spider," presented by the principals. Tangara and her girls in specialties completed the bill.

"THE OPENING NIGHT" IS CAMERAPHONE FILM

"The Opening Night," starring Claire Windsor and billed as a drama of theatrical life, is being seen for the first three days of the week in the Cameraphone. John Bowers and E. Alyn Warren are in the cast. News pictures and a comedy film are offered also. "Women's Wares," with Evelyn Brent and Bert Lytell, will be shown the last three days of the week.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburgh Doesn't Entertain Cabinet Officer Often, But When It Does—

PITTSBURGH doesn't entertain a Cabinet member every day, but when it does it attends to the matter quite thoroughly. Yesterday, as you are aware, Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur was in town, and one or two purely social affairs were given for him to supplement the official luncheon and dinner. With his aide, Capt. George S. Neal, United States Navy, Secretary Wilbur arrived yesterday morning, and they were guests at a breakfast given by Mrs. M. Day Kirk, of the Schenley Apartments, whose brother-in-law is a Navy man in Washington. And after his talk at the Twentieth Century Club and luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce, and he had returned from a trip through the steel mills, Secretary Wilbur and Capt. Neal were entertained at tea by Mrs. Kirk.

Perhaps it may seem a rather long trip to travel across the Atlantic to England just to attend the races, but that is what Mrs. Simon Patterson, of Darlington road, and Mrs. Donald Scott Rodgers, of Devonshire place, are doing. They sailed Friday on the Ile de France for Britain, and there they will see the Grand National Steeplechase.

Even though Pittsburgh is not represented on the general committee, I am sure you will be interested to know of the Plans and Planting Show which was opened yesterday at the Barbizon, in New York, by the Association of Junior Leagues of America. Awards were made for the best gasoline station and "hot dog" stand, as well as for the best house and garden which represents in architecture and planning the section of the country which sent it in. Among the models on exhibition was a copy of the oldest house in Deerfield, Mass., which was built in 1751, and was sent in by Waterbury, Conn. Then, Pasadena, Cal., and Portland, Ore., each sent an example of Spanish houses, while Fairmont, W. Va., sent an example of a miner's cottage on a hillside.

Mrs. Henry Prescott, of Cleveland, was in charge of the show, which will be open until the first of April.

News from down South indicates that our local folks there are still enjoying themselves, and aren't ready yet to come back to the wintry spring of a Pittsburgh March. I hear that the junior George M. Laughlins motored over from Mountain Lake to Palm Beach during the week for a short visit, and that the James D. Hailmans are spending a month at the Breakers. Mrs. E. M. Horne is at Palm Beach, too, visiting her sister, Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr. Another guest there is Frederick G. Kay, who is visiting the Alfred G. Kays for a brief time.

Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Yost, of Irvin drive, Edgeworth, are planning to give a dinner Friday night in the Edgeworth Club for their son, James Mitchell Yost, who is a student in the Sewickley Academy. The dinner will precede the dancing class, I understand.

TO MARRY IN JUNE

Miss Theodosia Shaler, daughter of Mrs. George E. Reynolds, New York, and the late Harry Gibson Shaler, Pittsburgh, will wed Hubert V. Davis in St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, June 25.

MISS THEODOSIA SHALER

Twenty-five couples were guests at a dinner given at the Duquesne Club last night by Thomas McNeil, Jr., in honor of his son, Thomas McNeil IV, who will marry Ruth Emily Seaman, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Denny, of Howe street, tomorrow night. A circular table surrounded life-size wax models of a bride and bridegroom. The younger McNeil attended Cornell University, and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. John I. Means, of Forest avenue, Bellevue, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Roberta Means, to Harold A. Hutchison, of Wheeling, W. Va., son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. James E. Hutchison, of Clarion, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Neil Evans, of Denniston avenue, have just returned from Southern California, where they have been since early in February.

The marriage of Miss Kathryn McCoubrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCoubrie, of West Park, and Eli J. Weil, son of Henry E. Weil, of Mount Washington, will be solemnized tomorrow at 3:30 o'clock in the Rodef Shalom Temple by the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson. A dinner in the bride's home will follow the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Weil will take a western trip.

WILBUR TELLS WOMEN OF NAVY HOUSEKEEPING

"Housekeeping in the Navy" is much the same as housekeeping in the home, Curtis Dwight Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy, told the Twentieth Century Club yesterday morning. Mr. Wilbur was presented by Mrs. William Henry Siviter in a most gracious and unusual introduction, when, instead of introducing the speaker to the club, she introduced the club to him. The Secretary later made a charming and witty allusion to Mrs. Siviter's son-in-law, Capt. James Chambers Pryor, naval surgeon.

Secretary Wilbur said in part: "The Navy is alive. We are inclined to think of it in an impersonal way, merely as an item in the cost of preparedness; a sort of fire insurance to protect the nation against the hazards of war, something in which we are not particularly interested until some emergency arises which focuses our attention upon it and its operation. The task of the Navy involved in the training of its personnel and the upkeep of its material is one which occupies the entire 24 hours of the day."

The speaker went on to show that a very small part of the expenditures of the Navy goes for procuring new ships; that the great bulk is in the training of the men and in the upkeep of material. The men are looked after physically, mentally and spiritually, much the same as the members of a large family, and the chief problem of the Navy is somewhat the problem of the home with its daily tasks, its upkeep, its improvements from time to time, "all to the end that the family may live therein in peace and happiness and contentment, and may go out therefrom in due time to assume their own responsibilities in their own homes and in their own communities as worthy citizens of a great nation," he said.

Secretary Wilbur gave some amazing figures, running into millions, showing the amount of various kinds of food used in the Navy and indicating some other items of expense. Soap alone, 2,837,540 pounds of it, costs $155,749 for one year.

The nominating committee of the Sewickley Valley Woman's Club has announced the following ticket: For president, Mrs. Marcus Stoner; vice president, Mrs. John E. McKirdy; recording secretary, Mrs. Morgan Bowman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Horace F. Baker; treasurer, Mrs. Julian Kennedy, Jr. A good sized audience at the club yesterday was captivated by the children from the Industrial Home for Crippled Children, who gave the program. The tiniest tots had a little symphony band and also took the audience by storm with their singing of the "Wind Song." The older children gave piano, vocal and orchestral numbers. In order not to interfere with the no-eating-between-meals regime of the home, the refreshments were boxed up and sent back to town in the bus with the youngsters. A sale of articles made by the blind was conducted with considerable success, this, too, coming under the department of philanthropy, which had charge yesterday and of which Mrs. James W. Arrott III is chairman.

The program for the spring musicale of the Pittsburgh Literary and Musical Club, which was held yesterday in the Woman's City Club, consisted of vocal, piano and violin numbers. These were presented by Miss Marion Engle, Mrs. Gertrude Robinson Dodds, Mrs. J. R. MacGregor and Miss Ruth Simons, who gave the piano numbers; Miss

THE DIVORCE MILL

After Mrs. Marie S. Cook, 915 Evans street, McKeesport, had been invited by her husband, Eli Cook, to visit Scranton, she found he had another wife living there, Mrs. Cook testified yesterday in divorce court. She told Judge John A. Evans that her husband had married the other woman under the name of Eli Howarth.

William A. Rooney, father of 13 children, wants a divorce from Annie Rooney. After some of the children had grown up, Rooney testified, he was told that he was a boarder and that he should get out. He did and is now living at 1005 Bluff street. About four years ago he met his wife and said to her, he related, "Mamma, come back to me and I will make a good home for you," but she refused. The Rooneys were married in 1899 by the late James G. Wyman, then mayor of old Allegheny. Rooney's counsel is W. N. McNair.

INDICT WIELAND AS ABDUCTOR OF GIRL

BUTLER, Pa., March 20.—Walter Wieland, Valencia farmer boy, who last Wednesday eloped from Roxbury, Md., with Dorothy Campbell, 14, schoolgirl, has been indicted on a charge of abduction. Sheriff J. F. Leslie was notified, and as soon as requisition papers can be prepared he will be sent back to Maryland for trial.

Wieland and the girl were arrested near the Wieland home last Thursday, after being refused a marriage licenses in Pittsburgh and Butler.

Sheriff Leslie has been notified that the girl's mother is en route to Butler for her daughter. The girl insists that she planned the elopement and says she will marry Wieland as soon as he gets out of his present trouble.

LOSES HOME, WINS MATE

Mrs. Anna Donatelli, 16, won her husband when her father, Mike Labanz, had forced her and her mother out of their West Park home two years ago, she disclosed in Judge Harry H. Rowand's court yesterday. She was testifying in the divorce action of her father, which is contested by her mother, Mrs. Anna Labanz.

Mrs. Donatelli, 1425 Cedarville street, Bloomfield, said her father, who drank, chopped up her mother's clothes, burned them, and forced her mother and herself to take shelter in a garage. Then the mother and daughter went to work in Squirrel Hill. When 14 she met Dominick Donatelli, they fell in love, he proved to be a "good fellow" and, her mother consenting, the daughter was married at 15. Mrs. Donatelli is standing by her mother.

Attorney M. A. Musmanno represents the mother and Attorney I. A. Melnick the father, who charges Mrs. Labanz with desertion. Labanz lives at 1124 Twelfth street, West Park.

ARGUE RAIL TAX APPEAL CASE

A state capital stock tax in excess of $767,000 levied by the Commonwealth and sustained by the Dauphin County Common Pleas Court against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was argued yesterday before the Supreme Court here on appeal by the railroad.

The railroad claims the assessment violates the fourteenth amendment of the United States Constitution, providing one state cannot tax property in another. Certain of its capital stock was invested in New York and New Jersey, employed in the construction of the Hudson tunnels, it was stated.

The company also entered into a 999-year lease of the United New Jersey Railroad and Canal Company, argued not taxable assets. Contention of the state was that the corporation should pay taxes where it has its domicile, Pennsylvania.

RENEW BOND FOR WOMAN ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLING

FRANKLIN, Pa., March 20.—Bond of $5,000 was renewed yesterday for Mrs. Adah H. Kauffman, for April term of court, while attorneys argued for a retrial on an embezzlement charge. Judge Parker indicated there would be no decision for the next few days at least. The young woman's husband, John Kauffman, faces trial for complicity in the embezzlement. The sum of $11,000, it was charged, was taken from the Exchange Bank and Trust Company last summer and fall.

CANAL DOVER, O., MERGES SERVICE, SAFETY OFFICES

CANAL DOVER, O., March 20.—City Council last night unanimously passed an ordinance merging the offices of Service Director Simon Kappler and Safety Director Earl Nist, reducing the combined salary of $250 a month to $200, making it necessary for P. J. Groh to appoint one director for both departments. It is said that the move is to eliminate Safety Director Earl Nist, whose salary is $50 a month, and add his duties to those of Kappler. Mayor Groh is considering the measure.

FEE TO DECIMO CLUB IS ORDERED RETURNED

ONE TO GET HIS MONEY BACK

Seeking the return of his membership fee he paid to join the Decimo Club during its membership campaign last May and June, John Boice, of Grant avenue, Bellevue, a former member of the organization, has obtained judgment against the club for the return of the fee. An appeal from the judgment filed by the club will be heard during the next term of court. There are many former members of the organization who have failed in their attempt to have their money refunded.

Boice was given judgment against the club for $25 at a hearing February 27 before Alderman Thomas Flanigan and at the same time he was given judgment of $10 against the Apasco Purchase and Sales Corporation, an affiliated organization. The club immediately appealed. Last June the club had more than 2,100 members and at present it is claimed that there are but 1,200 members here.

At the hearing before Flanigan, Boice testified he was present at a meeting last July when Fenton Jones, an organizer, called for a vote on a new constitution. Cards were passed among those present which called for signatures in favor of the new constitution or for the resignation of the member. At that time Jones is alleged to have said that membership fees would be refunded to those who resigned. Boice said he signed in favor of the new constitution, but later resigned, but no money was returned.

Mrs. Johnson's only companion was Miss Louise Gipe, above, who was at her side throughout the vigil. The two refused to leave, even though it was certain the flood waters would sweep over their tiny building. In other parts of the valley, other operators likewise worked and were responsible for saving many lives.

WILKINS HOPS ON ARCTIC SURVEY

SEWARD, Alaska, March 20.—(AP.)—Exploration of the Arctic "blind spot" by Capt. George H. Wilkins was a step nearer today after completion of his flight from Fairbanks to Point Barrow, Alaska, first hop on a contemplated flight to Spitzbergen on the other side of the North Pole from Barrow.

An almost continuous radio communication kept the United States Signal Corps here in touch with Wilkins throughout his hazardous flight over 500 miles of Arctic waste between Fairbanks and Barrow yesterday. With Lieut. Carl Ben Eielson handling the plane's controls, Wilkins operated the short wave radio.

Radio messages described the trip over the high Endicott mountain range and over the barren Tundra. Leaving Fairbanks at 11:25 a. m., the fliers were over the Endicott range at an altitude of 12,000 feet about 2 o'clock. Wilkins messaged that it was "a bit cold up here" as they passed over the range.

A half hour later they were over the Tundra and into the usual fog at that altitude. At 4:10 they passed through a "bad storm" and just 10 minutes later sighted Point Barrow.

From Point Barrow Wilkins plans to make his third attempt to learn if the fabled Arctic continent really exists. He plans a 2,100-mile flight to Spitzbergen, heading in a great semi-circle over hundreds of miles of unexplored regions.

Now that's not an unreasonable demand to make of a party to remain decent one year out of four.

This Because Behavior Springs From Previous Experiences Of the Individual

The do-or-die specialist is a common type; and why, Dr. Dorsey explained in The Sun-Telegraph yesterday. Situations influence behavior, though the habit of response to stimuli makes most of us either Dr. Jeykll or Mr. Hyde. Variations of response and the reasons for them.

Effects of Gradual Changes

CHAPTER XXXVI (Continued).

FOUR brothers—a banker, a preacher, a paleontologist and a bootlegger—read the news of the sinking of the XVIIIth Amendment: predict the response of each. The door bell rings, a man enters; it is their enormously rich Uncle Moe from Australia. The situation is again changed. But to each and to all situations an almost unlimited number of varying responses was open to each of these four men. And is open to all of us.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

There are also two ways of clothing nakedness—for we are born naked and are not ashamed of it. But the overdressed man and the underdressed woman had the same start and are only happy when they are noticed: on the stage or platform, or in the pictures of a lodge parade. When a woman cannot make an exhibition of herself any other way she can start a dress-reform movement.

Human beings, acting and reacting. The situations which call our reactions are diverse. The response any given individual will make to any given situation is a variant and depends upon that individual's previous experience, including such things as cold toast that morning, the reading of The Marble Faun 10 years before, a fight 20 years before that. Individual behavior.

Saving Balance

Yet, as Watson says, it is almost impossible for a balanced man to be so torn as to steal his neighbor's purse or child, or to commit suicide or mutilate others. Such responses are possible only to the extent that the co-ordinations used in committing such crimes are in his behavior repertoire. Furthermore, his total reaction systems are so tied together that the moment he starts to commit suicide or a crime a new situation is created and leads to a different act. It is quite impossible for most of us to commit suicide; our conditioned fears and our unconditioned responses will not let us. Practically all our suicides are pathological—diseased personality. Suicide in Japan or China may be normal behavior.

We are not mosaics of inherent reflexes and learned habits, but we are going concerns. How we go, how fast we go, and what we go in or out for, depend on the situation and our experiences with previous situations. "We act in line with our training and in conformity with our inherited points of weakness and strength." The situation we are in dominates us and releases one or the other of our all-powerful habit systems—we exhibit our learning in the manual, laryngeal or visceral field. A cross-section of our habit systems in these three fields gives us a picture of our personality.

Human Adaptations

We learn new responses for adjustment purposes and in taking on habits are subject to factors which condition all learning. We become adapted, positively or negatively: the stimulus reaches us more easily or we inhibit it with less effort.

A doctor asleep beside his wife hears only the telephone; she hears only the baby. But if the baby cried long enough he will hear it, and if the telephone rings long enough she will hear it. There is a limit to adaptation. Both can hear a mouse or a burglar. Most boys can hear a penny drop; most men's ears pick up nothing less than silver.

Tight shoes are only tight until we get used to them. It is the sudden drops in the temperature that we notice. We grow accustomed to change if it is gradual: bad air, bad food, bad government, bad wives, bad husbands, bad children, high cost of living. Life can make huge concessions if it is not crowded or pushed. As long as the breaking point is not reached, we can stand it.

If Change Is Gradual

Wives at fifty will look just as good as at twenty—if the change has been gradual. We can become adapted even to lethal doses.

When any given stimulus sufficient to set off the response mechanism is repeated, the threshold is lowered and the response hastened: we are positively adapted, favorably disposed. We are negatively adapted if the stimulus is gradually increased without increased or with delayed response, or if the threshold is permanently raised. If we fail to get up with the alarm clock we soon fail to hear it.

We have a "hangover" after intense and emotionally stimulated activity. After a long session at cards, our minds go right on playing cards. We "pop the question" on a moonlight night after a preliminary warming up. Warming up lowers the threshold and has psychologic value in all fields of activity where you are out for victory.

SIDE-WALKS OF PITTSBURGH

BY HAVEY J. BOYLE

"DURING a bridge party in the home of Miss Frances McDonald of Rosedale street last night, Miss Sallie Graham drew a hand consisting of 11 spades with 80 honors and two side aces.

That was all the story said and the supposition is that Miss Graham got the bid and made nothing less than a little slam. What happened in the hand, however, is just as important to bridge addicts as what hand was drawn. It is possible, for instance, that Miss Graham did not get the bid since the uneven distribution of spades implies that there might have been the same sort of distribution in another suit. Or Miss Graham might have bid six spades and gone down a trick or so.

ALL of which suggests bridge talk in a pleasant foresome: Well, you play your hand and I'll play mine. . . . Yes, you see my mistake after you've looked at the four hands. . . . Were you keeping that spade until time for spring gardening?

YOU SEE MY MISTAKES AFTER YOU SEE ALL THE HANDS

. . . People are walking the streets of London for refusing to get the trump out. . . . Give me those aces and kings and you can have your science.

DESERTION AND NON-SUPPORT COURT presents vivid drama of the marital state. Judge Richard A. Kennedy, who, incidentally, wrote the opinion which allows Sunday concerts in Pittsburgh, presides. His fatherliness to the luckless couples appearing before him in Desertion and Non-Support Court is heightened by gold-rimmed spectacles which assist understanding eyes.

Through all the stories of incompatibility, meanness, pettiness and misunderstanding cropping out in Desertion Court, Judge Kennedy never grows hardened or cynical. Cases come up where the warring factions are as far apart as the well-known poles, but even in such extreme cases the court attempts a reconciliation and often achieves it.

AN HOUR or so listening to cases in that court will almost convince you that marriage is well-nigh impossible, until you discover that, even in the cases that reach the court stage, only some small misunderstanding which might have been cured with one kind word presents the bar to happiness.

* * *

HUSBANDS tearfully plead for a wife's return and wives sometimes slip a pleading hand into the palm of a stubborn mate as he stands before the bar of justice. There is much bickering over the children. The mothers, naturally, have the edge here, but the fathers argue earnestly that they must be allowed to see the children in the event of a definite split.

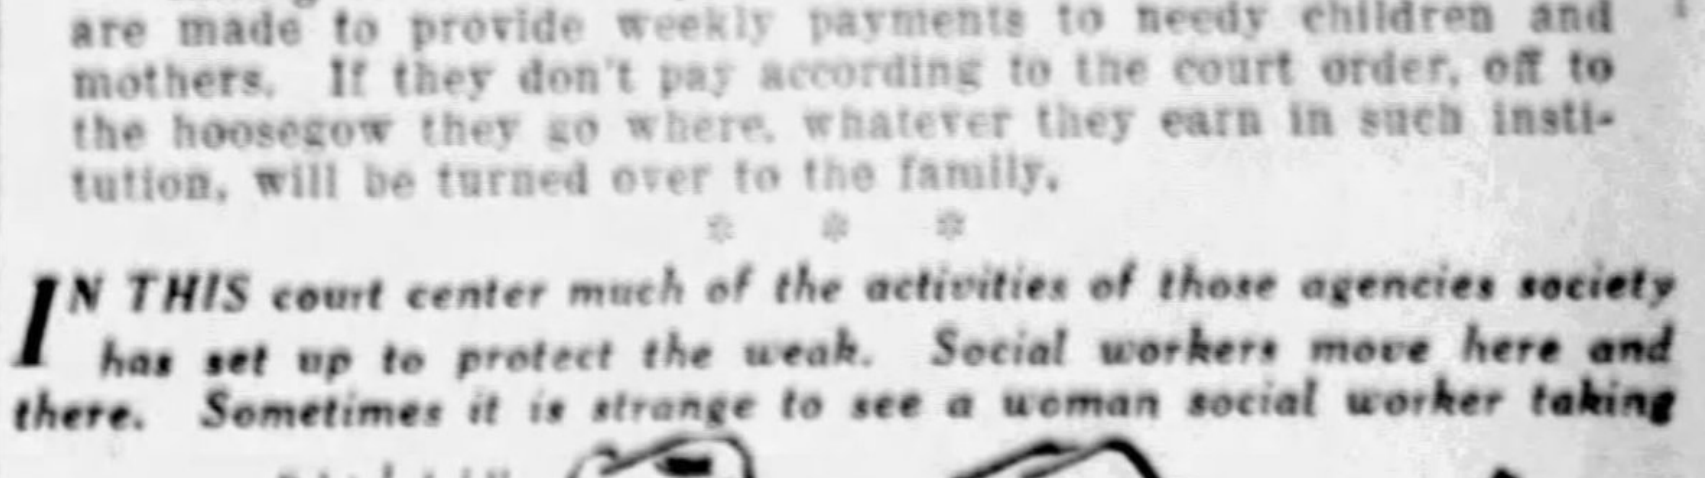
AT the root of many feuds is an economic impasse, earnings failing to measure up to expenditures. Shiftless husbands are made to provide weekly payments to needy children and mothers. If they don't pay according to the court order, off to the hoosegow they go where, whatever they earn in such institution, will be turned over to the family.

* * *

IN THIS court center much of the activities of those agencies society has set up to protect the weak. Social workers move here and there. Sometimes it is strange to see a woman social worker taking the side of the husband. Through the various cases moves the voice of Judge Kennedy striving always to work a reconciliation or laying a foundation for a future rebuilding of the wreck that confronts him.



* * *

ONLY a stone's throw away from this court is the office of the marriage license bureau where a young woman maternally picks threads off a young man's coat lapels, and where a young man in signing on the dotted line with the right hand squeezes the clinging arm of the girl beside him.

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait · by Elenore MEHERIN

Jerry Is Tired of the Ball, But Saxon Dances on With Ora Pringle

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love at first sight with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. In spite of his flirtation with other girls Jerry confesses her love for him, and when he goes abroad to study, promises to wait for him. She refuses a proposal of marriage from Heinie Retz, a wealthy suitor. Saxon comes home and tells her as soon as he has paid off five thousand dollars he owes, his uncle will take him into partnership. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon calls on his sister who warns him against marrying anyone and facing poverty.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

MARZA was out there dancing—supreme, queen-like, her white satin in radiant contrast with the black Buddha robe of Robert Caples. Jerry had a sudden childish wish to dance out to Marza—ask Marza to take her home.

. . . .

"Better get out a search warrant," sneered Hal, taking out his watch. "He's gone half an hour, now."

"I've not been idle," twinkled Jerry, coming back from a dance with Heinie.

"No! It's all right with you women. You can go flirting and dashing around as you please. But it's all wrong for us. That's the new order in this emasculated age!"

"Poor Hal—but you were gone an exasperating time!" she put her hand comfortably on his sleeve. "Think what we women have stood for centuries. You're not begrudging us this belated twentieth century fling, are you? They say it won't last long. . . ."

She gave a relieved laugh as Saxon and the little golden sprite who had kissed him in the lobby now came to the table.

Saxon dumped the darling of Paris into John's lap and led Jerry through the jocund lobbies. A sportive Pan chased a dryard through the passageways; Prince Tut in royal Egyptian attire lounged on the floor, in exalted abandon against the white, austere columns. Three slave girls draped at his feet.

"Whew," said Saxon, "that was sweet, wasn't it?"

"Gypsy tent and the can of beans doesn't look so tempting tonight, does it?"

"You said it! Hell no! I thought they were the happiest pair on the earth."

"But he was gone a bit long."

"That's easy. Try walking through this maze, stopping for a drink at one table, then another—being grabbed here and there by people you know. . . ."

"And," said Jerry, teasing, "the senorita is SOME girl!"

"Don't you know yet who she is? Ora Pringle—"

The name went into Jerry's mind with a flash of pictures—Ora Pringle—fascinating, audacious, and now almost legendary because of the thrill and romance of her very young girlhood.

She was three years older than Jerry. Yet Jerry well remembered the day Ora, then 16, had eloped with her father's secretary. They went to England. A year later she was divorced. She married a Swedish prince and in some mysterious way that no one explained acquired great but temporary wealth.

For a brief period, splendid tales filtered to the school, tales of Ora's conquest: her astonishing beauty.

Suddenly her name was forgotten.

"Why has she returned?"

"This is her home. She's up against it."

"And the Swedish prince?"

"Is divorced. Left her with two children. She has to support them. Except for the bunch she used to know at school, she's almost friendless."

"It's too bad she didn't let us know who she was. Everyone would have been glad to see her."

"Think so? Vera would have been glad."

Saxon looked quietly at Jerry. They were sitting in a corner of the lower ballroom. It was cooler here and less crowded.

He pushed the bandanna from his forehead. "Wasn't that a hell of a thing to do? She might have blinded him. Gives you the creeps, doesn't it?"

"Yes," said she laughing, yet uncomfortable because of the anger in his tone. "But you needn't indict the whole female sex because Vera Stacey has a devilish temper."

"Women differ from each other; wives are all alike."

"Well, Solomon, with your 300, you should know! I suppose we now have the solution to Bluebeard's butchery? Perhaps he kept on hoping and hoping to find one different from the others. And became enraged finding them everlastingly the same. So—smash with their heads!"

She ran her fingers over the bangles and sighed: "Well, Toreador, it's as I told you—when you marry your love, you lose it. And if you don't marry it, you never have it. What is a wench to do?"

She rested her head against the wall and with half-shut eyes watched the swaying figures on the floor. It was very late now. Some of the dancers reeled—their gaudy splendor dimmed. Others were alertly, staringly sober, the earlier flush of the night cooled.

"We are having a good time," Jerry thought, feeling suddenly very quiet and remote. In the back of her brain there kept echoing that swift response: "Hell no!"

"But what do I care?" she flung to it hotly.

Then moodily: "I wish I was home!"

Even before she raised her eyes she saw the shadow at the doorway. Standing there smiling, imperturbable . . . the senorita.

"She's beautiful, isn't she?"

"As much as you see of her."

"Everyone else has their mask off. She's kept hers on."

"She thinks, perhaps, that half of her is enough."

"Saxon, she's looking at you. Is she waiting for you?"

"We have another dance—some time tonight. There's Heinie. Shall I call him?"

Jerry counted her bracelets, her heart racing. Heinie looked over, and she summoned him with a wavering smile.

She understood now what Vera Stacey felt; understood the wild flare that raised the glass and sent it flinging against Hal's face.

"I won't be long," said he, resigning her swiftly to Heinie.

With smarting eyes and breath lashing, she saw the Senorita turn that red, dazzling smile into Saxon's face.

CHAPTER XXVI.

IF SHE looked again at Ora Pringle, moving with that provocative languor, her half-closed eyes dreaming into Saxon's, Jerry felt that she would fly, blazing and furious, between them. It was so arrogant, so supremely, insolently confident—that manner of Ora's. It seemed to smile down pityingly at other women as though they would be quaint indeed and silly to match their charms with hers.

Yet she couldn't master the impulse to watch. Now the red lips were raised, taunting and smiling—almost touching his . . . he, gazing at her, flushed, exultant. Now they were gliding to the corridor. Saxon stooped with a laughing word, ushered Ora from the ballroom.

Jerry leaned against Heinie with a harsh, rasping sigh.

"You're pretty tired," said he. "Like to come up to the room and have a drink?"

She shook her head and danced on absently . . . lost in her emotion. Never had she known a pain like this. Never had she meant to know it. The room with its surge and color assaulted her; the hot, swaying bodies, stepping on each others' feet, crowding, smirking, became suddenly unpleasant, a personal affront.

"I don't like them," said she suddenly. "That fat mamma with the hennaed hair! Look at her making for my toes again! Let's get out of it!"

Inga met them as they were coming up the stairs. "A fine crowd of deserters," said she cuttingly. "Hal's almost completely out. He's getting ugly and shouting that he's through. He won't go home. He's calling Vera names. Let's get him out of here—where's Sacks? He can drive us."

"He just came up—a moment ago," said Jerry weakly. "Let's walk down this way. I think I saw him."

They wandered from the corridor to the lobby and back again. Jerry kept repeating—bewildered and sickened—"I saw him just a moment ago—perhaps they've gone to the table . . ."

Abruptly she stopped. "There."

She called to him and whistled. The door of the elevator slammed. The lift went up carrying Ora and Saxon from sight. "Oh, damn!" said she, tears of chagrin smarting to her eyese.

"It's useless to follow," said Heinie, "unless you know the room number. Let me drive him, Jerry? Where do you want to take him?"

She turned quietly to Inga: We might as well."

I mean I HONestly couldn't be FULler of WIM, WIGor and wiTALity at this point, because, thank HEAVens ARab has given that SILly little FLAPper he was chasing round with, the Ozone, and has gone back to his first LOVE, my dear, his SAXophone—can you BEAR it? I mean as LONG as he's got something to OCcupy his LIPS, my dear, that odd youth is PERfectly HAPpy, but I simply MUST tell you about the converSAtion I had with him about his BROTHer, my dear, because I mean I was DYing to find OUT if ARab suspected, like I do, that half these odd YARNS his brother's been VAGUEly SPINning are just FICtion or something, do you know what I mean? Well, ANYways, my dear, I was all hot and BOTHered about the situation, because I mean I simply couldn't get a THING OUT of him on the subject because I mean he was just CONsecrated on PLAYing violently on the SAX, and when I said I thought maybe his BROTHer's STOries ought not to be TAken without a grain of SALT he just said he should think ANY SEA story would be SALT enough even when a FRESH guy like his BROTHer was telling it—can you BEAR it, my dear? I mean I think that was a sort of an obscure reMARK in a WAY, because it simply DOESn't make SENSE—I mean I ACtually DO!"

Madge Connects Owl's Hoot With Red-Bearded Stranger

LILLIAN and I had no chance to exchange another glance as Miss Lincoln finished her story of her childhood fright which she had woven into a plausible apology for her swoon at the sound of an owl's hoot. The young woman's eyes scanned our faces as she talked, and I surmised that she was watching eagerly to see our reaction to her narrative.

"Please do not give it another thought," I said. "You haven't inconvenienced us in the least. I am only sorry that you should have been subjected to such an experience. But I am sure you will not be annoyed again, this evening at least. Mr. Graham dashed into the yard as soon as you swooned, and I am sure he has driven off the owl which so disturbed you."

The color, which had been creeping back into her face, fled again at my words, and her eyes widened with a terror which strengthened the fantastic suspicion that had flashed into my mind when she had fainted. I was quite sure now that the weird sound which we all had heard, and which had so startled her, had not been the hoot of an owl, but a realistic imitation of the sound, a signal of some sort which she had recognized, and which had terrorized her.

It had not been exactly cricket to tell her of Dicky's search—I have regretted the impulse which had led me to mention it. But I could not be wholly sorry. There was altogether too much mystery about my young neighbor, I told myself in extenuation of my little speech, especially as a logical following up of my fantastic surmise would lead my restless imagination to the vagabonds summering in the woodland shack back of the farm, one of whom, a Transvanian had so frightened her upon the occasion of our first visit to The Larches. Therefore I watched her furtively as she fought her terror and conquered it. She had both courage and poise.

"That is very kind of Mr. Graham," she said. "But it really is not necessary. I am perfectly all right now. It is only because I had not heard an owl's hoot for so long that my old childish terror conquered me. I shall be prepared to hear one now at any time, and you may be sure I shall not be so idiotic as to faint again."

I knew that she spoke only the truth in her last decisive words. It was patent to all of us that she had regained her self-possession. But I could not help questioning what cryptic meaning might not lie behind her quiet assertion that she would be prepared to hear an owl's hoot at any time. I could not get out of my mind the vision of the red-bearded vagabond and his more villainous-looking companion. It was in vain I told myself that my fantastic conjecture belonged in the same category with Katie's movie-mad imaginings. My theory still refused to be ousted, even though Miss Lincoln's face and voice now betrayed no hint of the terror which she had suffered.

THE WAY OF A HEALTHFUL DAY

A morning dish of ALL-BRAN prevents constipation

Clear eyes. Fresh complexions. Buoyant spirits. They all come when the right kind of food is eaten. One of the main things that our modern diet lacks is the roughage necessary to prevent constipation, which is the cause of so much ill health.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will furnish the bulk you need to keep well and fit.

ALL-BRAN is 100 per cent bran. It supplies roughage in effective quantities. Far better than part-bran products. At best, they can be but partially effective. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Two tablespoonfuls daily — chronic cases, with every meal.

An appetizing, healthful cereal of unusually nutritious qualities. Serve it with milk or cream and add fruits or honey. Use it in cooking too. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

RELATES HOW TEN HERBS AIDED HER

Natural Ingredients of Famous Compound Seemed to Be What She Needed.

"Before I started taking Ten Herbs I was in a terrible condition," was the statement of Mrs. William Hess, Route 1, Box 30, Finleyville, Pa., (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this popular herbal compound. "My whole system seem to be saturated with poisonous waste matter," Mrs. Hess continued. "I was constipated so badly that it brought on painful complications. Constipation developed a lazy liver, and my complexion became very sallow. I had dizzy spells and bilious headaches, and lost all ambition and energy.

MRS. WILLIAM HESS

"My appetite was poor, and I had to be very careful what I ate. The lightest kind of food would upset my stomach, and I would fill with gas and bloat until I would almost double up with pain. My nerves got so bad that I could not sleep at night. I tried different medicines, and every morning drank hot water and went through different exercises. Finally, I had my teeth removed, but, with all this, I did not find desired relief.

"One day a friend advised me to try Ten Herbs. I can honestly say that I had not finished the first bottle when I noticed a change for the better. My appetite improved, and I can enjoy meals without fear of misery afterwards—no more gas, bloating or pains. My bowels became regular, and my liver and kidneys were toned up. Dizzy spells and aches disappeared, and my head became clear. My nerves were quieted, and I can sleep better. That drowsy, sluggish feeling left me, and my complexion has cleared. I feel better and stronger in every respect. I give Ten Herbs credit for this change in me, and gladly endorse your medicine to the public."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

The conference has been called by a group of individuals who believe the union leaders are misleading the union members.

John Brophy and Patrick Toohey, as well as several others who are leaders of the "Save the Union Committee," were denounced in the union bulletin as working to destroy the union and to spread communism in the miners' ranks. The bulletin was signed by P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, and three members of the executive board.

Prevent Flu—Check All Colds the Modern Way

Families in Pittsburgh Urged to Be Careful.

While grip and influenza are so prevalent local people are urged to use this modern way of checking little colds before they become big.

Have a jar of Vicks Vaporub on hand ready for instant use at the first sign of every cold. When rubbed on throat and chest, or snuffed up the nose, Vicks releases its ingredients in the form of medicated vapors which are breathed in direct to the infected parts.

In addition, Vicks acts like a poultice and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

To prevent colds lowering the vitality and thus paving the way for flu and pneumonia, they should be treated direct and instantly—as you would an infected finger.

You Meet Septics in the movies!

There is a certain fastidiousness which habits of cleanliness cannot achieve alone. The person you sometimes suspect of carelessness may have bathed within the hour.

If you are a septic, soap and water will not solve the difficulty. Nor will any refreshant neutralize unpleasant vaporings of the body or the breath for any length of time.

Nobody is septic by nature. It is a condition anyone can correct. Just a few days are sufficient to take the taint out of perspiration, and render one's breath as pure as can be, and this perfect personal cleanliness made permanent. Ask any doctor—or nurse—about calcium.

You may not know whether you are a septic. Try some calcium wafers, and see! If there is any stagnant matter in the system, everything will speedily be sweet and clean. Your skin will be less acrid, color improved; calcium correction even brightens eyes and whitens teeth! And you will never need another harsh cathartic from the time you have learned to prevent even semi-constipation by just occasionally taking a tiny calcium tablet.

A five-day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for calcium, and the decided benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them—the test size for pocket is 10c. Or the family size, 60c.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

SPRING PHILOSOPHY

AT TWENTY, a girl is a little suspicious of overdone flattery or a too ardent "line"—but at forty, she knows better than to question God's gifts!

* * *

Spring's intoxication may sweep a man into marriage—but it usually takes about six cocktails and a couple of ushers to get him to the church.

* * *

A man seldom realizes that he is actually married, until he discovers that somebody has been using his tooth brush to clean her jewelry, and his handkerchiefs for removing the make-up.

HELEN ROWLAND

A woman's love is never quite dead until she ceases to look back upon the man as a "lost opportunity," and begins to think of him as a "lucky escape."

* * *

The longer the time between drinks, kisses or love affairs, the greater the kick.

After forty, marriage is so often just a choice between becoming an old man's health-chart or a young man's cash-register.

Most men are like foolish house-flies, who blunder blindly into the door of marriage—and spend the rest of their lives trying to get out through the window pane.

After a woman has been married three or four times, she comes to the sad conclusion that you don't necessarily change the LUCK just by changing the name.

* * *

This is the magic season, when many a wife discovers that her husband's emotions are not dead, but merely sleeping—and awaiting the touch of some blonde "siren" to bring them to life.

FOR THE LOVELORN

Bo and Zo

DEAR MISS GALE:

We are two girls in our teens, and are constant readers of your column. We agree with you on the views of your three most-discussed questions. We have come to you, for we think you can help us in our dilemma. We are considered good looking, nicely dressed and are popular with both sexes. Bo's problem: How and where do you meet nice fellows, and how can I hold their company? Every time I really do meet a nice fellow I care for, after going out with him once or twice, he expects me to give in to his ideas, namely, petting, and since I don't indulge, I refuse. What can I do to prevent this? Zo's problem: Have been going with a fellow for, you might say, five years, off and on. But lately, Miss Gale, he does not treat me the way he used to. He used to come a few times a week; now it's only once and sometimes even disappoints me on that. Now, Miss Gale, I care for this fellow and feel as though I'll never meet anybody I'll like as well. When he's with me he seems to care for me, and always leaves me in the same manner. My parents approve of him. What can I do to see more of him, and find out if he really cares?

BO AND ZO.

Your manner of refusing to let the boy kiss you may make or break your friendship. If you do it pleasantly but firmly he will like and respect you the more. As for the other question, there is no way in which to renew a man's interest if it is disappearing, and since he has proved unreliable, why not try to forget him?

Stitches

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a constant reader of your advice and now have come seeking some for myself. This is my problem, Miss Gale: I have been keeping company steadily with a certain girl for the past 18 months, but I am ill now in the hospital recovering from an operation and during all this time she has not called or inquired for me. Now, does it not seem that this girl only cares for me when I can be around and show her a good time? Do you think it advisable for me to manifest the same interest in her on my return home, as I really cared a great deal for her? Do you think it might be possible that her negligence is due to interest in another party?

"STITCHES."

I should certainly be strongly tempted to doubt this girl's affection for you, Stitches, since she has shown so little interest in your welfare. She hasn't even shown common courtesy toward you. I don't see how you could be expected to show the same interest in her after this.

Patient Glen

DEAR MISS GALE:

There is a boy who has been in love with me for four years. He is a very nice boy and very popular, but I do not love him. I like him better than most boys but I love his pal. I attended a party with the second boy, who for convenience I shall call Tom. John was at the party, too. He drew me aside and asked me to be his wife. I said I did not love him, but he said he would teach me to. Tom took me home and when he left me he told me he loved me, but did not mention anything about marriage. Tom did not ask to take me out any more and when he saw me would not speak. Miss Gale, should I try to forget Tom and marry John? I still love Tom, although we have not been friends since October.

PATIENT GLEN.

Of course you shouldn't marry the boy who asked you. Just because he did ask you. I cannot imagine why the other boy doesn't speak to you, but that is certainly a poor reason for marrying his friend.

Fat Went in this Easy Way

Ask Slender Folks to Tell You

For 20 years, slender women have been telling others the easy, pleasant way to reduce. It is the right way, based on a modern discovery made by able scientific men. It has proved so efficient that for two decades it has held the top place in this field. Now you can see the results wherever you look. Slender figures are the usual, fat is the exception.

That right way is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. It is a substance employed in the body to regulate nutrition. Its purpose is to turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat.

There are no secrets about it. The formula appears in every box, also the reasons for results. Thus users know just why it acts, and they have no fear of harm. The use requires no abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. People simply take four tablets daily until the weight comes down to normal in a natural way.

Consider what Marmola has done for so many and so long. See what it has done in your own circle, because one user tells others. Now learn what it means to you. Watch the new beauty that it brings, the new vitality and health. You owe that to yourself. Order it now—before you forget it. Don't longer suffer an abnormal figure when so many have found a corrective.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, March 21

If one would control Fate, it must be by knowledge of what to expect and when coupled with due effort.
—LLEWELLYN GEORGE.

BUT little assistance is to be expected this day from the planetary forces. Although the mind may be keen and alert, its leaning may be toward things superphysical, ingenious or unorthodox, a state of mind which might as well be indulged since other astral forces may exert a delaying, disappointing or frustrating influence. There will be little incentive toward initiative or laborious effort, and the physical energies may be minus tide.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which the best success may be expected in mental effort in unusual lines, with investigation or experiment with nature's higher forces. Otherwise, the energies may be low and opportunities poor. Also there may be delays and disappointments.

A child born on this day should have a keen mind, inclining toward original thought and investigation. Physically it may not be given to great effort or ambition, since its vitality may be lowered unless nurtured and conserved.

Rheumatism? Blood Pressure?

Dangerous, yes; but they can be controlled, if you start in time. There's the whole secret—start in time with the right remedy.

Hundreds of happy users claim that what gave them back their health was sparkling, pleasant Lithuric Salts, made of fruit acids and other curative substances.

The bowels are cleansed, liver and kidneys gently urged to do their work, the blood stream is purified. Thus the poisons which so frequently cause high blood pressure, hardened arteries, rheumatism and other threatening ills are removed. For 85 cents you can get a large bottle and prove it for yourself. Phone any May Drug Co. store or any other good druggist to deliver a bottle now. Start back to health.

By FAY KING

CONTRAST is the spice of life!

Friendship is not so often based on that quotation, "I like you because you like the things I like," as it is upon the foundation that you are what I would like to be!

The other fellow's lot in life is more interesting to us in proportion to its difference to our own.

Blondes and brunettes are often friends because the blonde has wished she was a brunette and the brunette wishes she was a blonde, and each admires the other for what she is not.

We often find friendships between the refined and the roughneck. Each admires the other's lot in life and so long as each retains his proper personality they get on finely together.

But each is bored when the other imitates him.

Successful actresses of the stage or screen begin to assume the airs of society, and as such no longer interest the real society people who secretly admire and are interested in them, for the contrast of their position and personality.

We see jolly folks the best of friends with serious folks. Because the jolly people often laugh to keep from crying, and serious folks often have a keener sense of humor than those who smile all the time.

Those who have been reared in homes of luxury are often attracted to the hardships of Bohemia and the uncertainty of a career.

Those who have struggled from nothing live more like princes when they arrive than princes do!

And so it is—contrast is the bait of life!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Don't Risk Death in Seeking Beauty

WHY is it that a woman will risk health and life itself for the sake of having a face or figure which she has determined is "beautiful"?

DR. COPELAND

I may be mistaken, but I doubt if many persons are qualified to decide for themselves what is becoming to them. There are women who affect on all occasions a particular style in hats. To me they look like the Old Harry. With suitable headgear they would be pretty women. As it is —well, I decline to express an opinion.

Fat women buy furs, with the markings of the skins running horizontally. Skinny women have the markings running up and down. You don't need to be a student of optics to know that in each such case the offending lines of the figure are made more pronounced.

The fatter the woman, the more determined she is to leave the upper arms and shoulders bare. Why not have the dress made to fall over the shoulder and to cover the upper arm? Attractive dresses can be made without giving emphasis to individual defects.

The prevailing styles in skirts have brought women's knees into the picture of life. Now there is more to worry about. Straight legs must be had at all costs. Bow-legs and knock-knees have become a social evil.

Beauty doctors have been busy "lifting faces" and flattening projecting ears, but now they must relieve mental agony by straightening the legs. What next?

Why? What is it all about?

When will people learn that beauty is only skin deep? Some of the homeliest women I ever saw married men of acknowledged good looks and unquestioned brain development. Somehow or other, they attracted and continue to hold the affection and devotion of good-looking men.

Think of that pathetic case where the Chicago girl lost both legs. For the sake of realizing her own dream of what should be her possession, she submitted her body to knife and saw and chisel. It makes me shudder to think of it.

To my eyes the most wonderful and appealing, the most magnetic of all beauty, is the beauty of abounding health. Let a woman order her life in such manner that her blood is red with the colors given by fresh air and proper food. When she does this there is no rouge from pot or tube that can rival Nature's painting of lip and cheek.

Eyes sparkling with good nature and animation will overshadow every defect of nose and chin. Erectness of figure, fullness of chest, springiness of gait and eager feet will more than recompense for any departure from the "perfect figure."

Let's have an end of this nonsense of depending on the surgeon for beauty. Honest beauty is within the reach of every person who will observe the rules of correct living.

A big 12-ounce bottle of Hemo-Liver lasts eight days and one tablespoonful is a dose and as one Doctor remarked, "You'll have to eat a lot of liver before you get as much of the red blood making elements as you get in one tablespoonful of Hemo-Liver."

"Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. "It was washable but NOT the way you did it"

"It was a printed chiffon—a lovely dress, green and white, one of the newest designs. I washed it myself—not in Lux, I must confess. It faded so badly that I took it back to the store and reminded them that they had sold it as washable. They said, of course, they assumed I would wash such a delicate thing in Lux.

"The design and style of the dress pleased me so much that I bought another exactly like the first, to take to Bermuda. I've always washed it in Lux and will wear the dress again this summer. It still looks like new."—Janet Taylor, 126 E. 59th St., New York City.

"NEW? nonsense, it's been washed a dozen times"

"As I was putting away some underthings, my friend exclaimed over a lovely apricot-colored slip of rayon. 'Rayon certainly is beautiful when new,' she said, 'but my dear, you know it simply won't wash successfully.'

"When I said I had washed that rayon slip a dozen times, she was surprised! Of course, I always use Lux for rayon, as for other nice things."—Dorothy F. Casey, 782 Dudley St., Dorchester, Mass.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

RELIABLE reports from the coast make it clear that the Pirates are more than making good on the field what they previously promised on paper, and that when the pennant race begins, they are certain to be much stronger than they were last year. One close observer, who can see more in five minutes than the average onlooker can in a whole day, offers the contention that, without counting the change at second base, the Bucs are bound to be stronger by reason of what they have shown in the pitching branch.

George Perry.

THAT a gain has been made in that all-important department is attested by the fact that up to date, the pitching has been practically as good as in 1927, with such reliables as Kremer and Miljus taking little part in it. Miljus showed his stuff Sunday by retiring 12 men in a row in the four innings he pitched, and Kremer probably will be delivering soon in the same style.

The success of the slab staff in keeping the pitchers up to last year's standard without the services of Kremer and Miljus is convincing evidence that it must have gained new strength from some other source. Fussell and Peery,

PIRATES LOSE, 7-5, DESPITE 4 HOMERS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—If these hard-hitting Seals trim the Pirates this afternoon, they will have to drive to victory through two of the biggest pitchers on the Pittsburgh squad, Pilot Bush of the Buccaneers announced this morning that he would offer the task of checking the local stars to Erwin Brame and Jim Lindsay, right-hand recruits.

The Pirates were taken for a nice little buggy ride yesterday with Nick Williams, Seal manager, in the driver's seat. The Bushwhackers rode into the seventh round with a lead, but the Coast sluggers began to strut in the seventh and they played an encore in the eighth, the result being a 7 to 5 setback for the National League Champions.

As usual home runs were deep in the battle in the bandbox park. Boots Grantham, Adam Comorosky, Earl Smith and Joe Cronin were the hitting stars for the big-timers, and Earl Averill hitting for the distance in the interest of the Seals. The latter, by the way, cleared the right field fence after Earl Smith muffed his foul fly. When Averill came around the sacks he extended his hand to Oil

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—Apparently there is to be one heavyweight championship fight this year. So much has come out of conferences at Miami between Gene Tunney and Tex Rickard. The situation is complicated by the New York boxing authorities asking Tunney to name his opponent forthwith.

Gene Tunney and Rickard have agreed upon a title affair to be held in July at a place not yet decided upon.

DAVIES EASY WINNER OVER YOUNG CHAPPIE

By HARRY KECK, Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

IN A FEW WORDS—

Willie Davies of Charleroi whipped Young Chappie of Philadelphia to a frazzle in the windup at Motor Square Garden last night; Young Saylor of Charleroi dittoed against Bobby Richardson of Portage in the semi-final; Jack Barry of the Pittsburgh Lyceum allee samee vs. Jackie Murray of Center avenue in the second thing and the only sensible act of the evening was Jack Unglo's fouling of Joe Todd of Dorona in the third round of the scheduled eight-round opener, which got that one out of the way in a hurry.

The house was the smallest of the season and the snow was falling beautifully and heavily as the fans wended their way homeward, which is a kindly way of saying that the bouts were rather one-sided and boresome and the snow was a pleasant relief.

Chappie was just a good catcher for Davies and it was no contest. Barry was more aggressive than in any bout he ever has put up here and dazzled Murray with his speed afoot and in hitting. Poor Jackie couldn't locate him and took a sweet smacking, yet never was in danger. Richardson, who used to be a good lightweight, was fat and slow at 158 pounds—two pounds less than a horse—and ran second to Saylor all the way. Even his pale blue tights weren't fast; the color started to run as soon as he was doused with water and trickled down his legs in artistic fashion. Todd put up a fine fight against Unglo for two rounds, but was weakening fast when Unglo accidentally socked him low. Todd was painfully injured, but spared the ignominy of a knockout defeat.

The weights were: Davies, 111¾; Chappie, 113; Richardson, 158; Saylor, 149½; Barry, 142; Murray, 140¾; Unglo, 147½, and Todd, 142.

Bill Busch, Pittsburgh boy, representing Boston in the race, showed up fourth in yesterday's lap and placed himself nearer the leaders in elapsed time. He is one of the favorites to win the long grind.

SCOTT IS VICTOR OVER CHARLES

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—Despite a short knock-down in the third round from a wild left hook to the chin, Phil Scott, British champion, last night decisively whipped Pierre Charles, Belgian titleholder, in a 10-round match at the St. Nicholas Arena. Scott scaled 201, Charles 211.

After that single flash, a rather lucky punch, Charles ran continually into Scott's straight left smashes to the head and short clubbing right. The steady hammering closed the Belgian's right eye and cut his mouth. Charles, wild and ineffective most of the way, failed to damage the elusive Englishman with his clumsy body attack.

The victory duplicated Scott's 15-round win over the Belgian in Europe last July and impressively inaugurated his second American invasion.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Motor Square Garden—Willie Davies defeated Young Chappie, 8 rounds; Young Saylor defeated Bobby Richardson, 8 rounds; Jack Barry defeated Jackie Murray, 8 rounds; Joe Todd won on a foul over Jack Unglo, 3 rounds.

At Cleveland—Eddie Shea won on a technical knockout over Bobby Garcia, 11 rounds; Vic Burrone defeated Joe Lucas, 8 rounds; Joey Ross defeated Jackie Powers, 6 rounds.

CHILLY SAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Eddie Mulligan became better acquainted with his Pirate mates yesterday through a long workout in Pittsburgh regalia. Eddie, by the way, is a welcome addition to the roster from the viewpoint of behavior. John Miljus and others who played in this circuit, pay a sterling tribute to the habits of the St. Louis boy. It seems that Eddie might have done a little too much fighting when as a kid he received a major-league tryout, but his character has always been above reproach. Mulligan is married and is the father of a little girl.

JOE DEVINE recommended the purchase of the Seal star. Joe, by the way, is loath to O. K. any player, regardless of his baseball skill, unless he is well behaved.

IT DEVELOPES that Mulligan established what may be a fielding record in his play of last season. Eddie went through 45 games in a row before he made a misplay, and then after making one error he started another string of 25 perfect fielding games.

WHILE some of the Pirates were congratulating Mulligan, Lloyd Waner came along to shake hands with the new Pirate. "I wanted to buy you myself when you were leaving the Seals," Mulligan said to Lloyd.

GEORGE GRANTHAM was hit in the back of the head with a fast pitch, but fortunately the incident passed off without any serious result. Boots fell, but was up long before the count of 10.

L. WANER was out of yesterday's game with a sore leg. Johnny Gooch was on the bench with a slight ailment. Comorosky was switched to center field, Barnhart taking his usual place in left.

FRANK CROSETTI, who started at third for the Seals, is a 17-year-old Italian from the big colony of that nationality in the Osa San Francisco section.

NO LESS than four Italians grace the roster of the local team. They are: Ping Bodie, Babe Pinelli, Dolf Camilli and Frank Crosetti. Jerry Donovan, the kid at first for the Seals, has a fine crop of freckles. Jerry is not an Italian.

TUNNEY

the wishes of Tunney, Tom Heeney, the New Zealander, will be the challenger.

The New York State Athletic Commission yesterday wired Tunney at Miami Beach notifying him that his six months' period of grace to settle upon an opponent would expire on Thursday and asked for a reply. The Commission informed Tunney that challenges of Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko were on file in that order.

Meanwhile, at Miami Beach, Rickard had persuaded Tunney to drop plans for a June bout and decide upon a July match instead. Rickard announced that the July struggle would be the only heavyweight championship of the year.

Rickard declared the decision reached with Tunney automatically covered the requirements sought by the New York commission.

"Tunney agreed to fight the man I select as the best opponent," Rickard stated. "The fight will take place in July and it is agreed with the champion that it will be the only titular contest of the year. That's all there is to say."

Rickard said he would announce the challenger shortly, but that he would not be Jack Dempsey, who now is listed as "retired," despite feeling that the Manassa Mauler eventually will get into the struggle. As for Dempsey, a statement from him in Los Angeles said:

"I have made a good many statements lately and have nothing more to say just now."

The action of the New York commission in requesting Tunney to name an opponent was not unanimous. Chairman Farley and Commissioner Muldoon favored the procedure, while the third member of the body, Commissioner Brower, objected, claiming that the commission should keep as far away as possible from the possibility of being placed in the position of acting as a matchmaking body.

It was pointed out that the commission merely notified Tunney of the challenges on file and that he was in no way bound to choose within the ranks of the three named, but might take on any "good" heavyweight.

Local Aces May Compete

By JESS CARVER.

THOSE of you who are planning to compete in the decathlon competition for Uncle Sam in the Olympic Games and figure on making your mark and qualifying at the Penn Relays and then letting it go at that, have another think or two coming.

The American Olympic Association, some time ago, designated the Penn Relays, scheduled for April 27 and 28, as the official trial for the all-around candidates. A squawk went up almost immediately on the part of some, who insisted that such an early meet would be so far in advance of the Olympic Games that it might not serve to furnish the United States with the best of entries by the time the games rolled around.

Now it develops that the selection committee of the Olympic Games has reached a new decision, and that in addition to qualifying at the Relays, the successful ones will have to undergo a new test at the regular Olympic trials, and failing in this, will lose their places on the team.

Here are a few of the leading entries in the decathlon event, one of which is at present holding forth here in old Pittsburgh. Fait Elkins, the Indian, holder of the national championship; Emerson Norton, Harold Osborn, Barney Berlinger, and Virgil Elliott, Bethany College's Flying Parson.

Norton is the gent who is residing in Pittsburgh at present.

Elliott, a senior at Bethany, is figuring on his greatest year. He has been in training, active training, since December, and at present, is showing well nigh unbeatable form in his favorite events, namely the broad and high jumps, the dashes and in the pole vault. He has never been able to go better than 12 feet 6 inches in that event, but such a mark will win any decathlon or pentathlon vault.

Unless West Virginia develops something in the way of a sprinter, it appears likely that Pitt will walk away with all the Tri-state district track honors again this year.

West Virginia is planning on having a fairly strong field team, with some good jumpers and weight men, but there are very few really fleet footed boys on the Mountaineers' squad. What there are will hardly be able to give Bowen, Webecan, Moore, McCullough, Long, Roy and chaps like those any trouble.

Eric Liddell, a Scotch Presbyterian minister, you may remember, won the Olympic 400-meter championship, in preference to the 100-meter and 200-meter titles, because it was not decided on a Sunday.

United States now presents Ray Barbuti, Syracuse University's football captain, who seems to be the man to take out the Scotch clergyman—and he won't have to employ accepted football methods.

Barbuti is one of the greatest quarter-milers of the age and America's strongest candidate at the distance.

He was the fastest man on the Orange relay team, which first carried off the championship in 1927. He was beaten in a close finish for the intercollegiate outdoor quarter-mile championship, finishing behind Fred Alderman of Michigan State and Ross of Yale in 48 2-5. Barbuti ran the fastest heat, leading his two conquerors, Alderman and Ross, in 48 3-10, and beating them wider margins than they were able to defeat him on the succeeding day.

IN THE TRAINING CAMPS

AVALON, CATALINA Island, Cal., March 20.—(AP.)—Kiki Cuyler, former Pirate, has already made good in his new role as a Chicago Cub. He is hitting the ball with the same gusto that marked his work with Pittsburgh and his fielding has been spectacular.

In the four inter-training camp games just completed Cuyler made eight hits in 17 times at bat. Three of the blows were out of the park and two were doubles. As an assistant coach to Cub rookies, Manager Joe McCarthy considers him invaluable.

McCarthy has been spending most of his time drilling Cub pitchers in control since returning from the exhibition tour.

PARTRIDGE REPLACED

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 20.—(AP.)—Manager Robinson is playing no favorites in lining up his array for the pennant chase. Jay Partridge was replaced by Jake Flowers at second base in the exhibition yesterday. Flowers drew a free pass and started the scoring against the Phils in the fifth.

ROUSH ENJOYS CAMP WORK

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 20.—(AP.)—Eddie Roush, Giants' outfielder, is now wondering why he had been so keen on dodging training camp festivities in the past. For the first time in years he appeared on time at the spring exercises of the club this season and he declares he's enjoying it. He cracked out a single with the bases full in the fray with the Athletics yesterday.

CARRIGAN LIKES BRAVES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20.—(AP.)—The Braves look good to their fellow townsman, Manager Bill Carrigan of the Red Sox. After his team lost to them Carrigan declared the Braves had plenty of punch and, what was equally important, seemed to have some formidable pitching talent. He foresaw one of the best seasons in a long while for the Warriors.

HAUSER SEES BIG YEAR

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 20.—(AP.)—Joe Hauser, Athletics' first baseman, who is staging a comeback this year, believes he will have a successful season. "I'm feeling mighty fit," he said today, "and I'm ready to start the season."

"For two weeks I felt like a ton of lead. I had pains and aches all over and wondered whether I could get into condition. Now I feel like my old self for the first time in years and I think I'm up to stay."

MANUSH REMOVES SPLINT

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 20.—(AP.)—The splint on the arm of Outfielder Heine Manush has been removed and the St. Louis Browns were glad to have him on the field. He is a new addition and an injury to his arm kept him in Detroit for some time after the training season started.

FRANKHOUSE IN FORM

AVON PARK, Fla., March 20.—(AP.)—Fred Frankhouse, a youngster from Houston, took most of yesterday's laurels in the St. Louis Cardinal victory over Indianapolis. After Flint Rhem's wild debut in which Indianapolis got three runs, Frankhouse stepped in for three innings and allowed only two hits.

Chick Hafey and Ray Blades, who stepped out of the casualty list to appear for the first time yesterday, looked good.

PHIL YOUNGSTERS SHINE

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 20.—(AP.)—Two infielders whom Manager Burt Shotton brought from the minors to bolster up the Phillies are proving their mettle at the spring testing grounds. They are Billy Kelley, first baseman, and Pinkie Whitney, guardian at third.

RICE MUST CHANGE NAME

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 20.—(AP.)—There are too many "Harrys" in the Detroit outfield, as a result Harry Rice must adopt a stage name.

The given name of Heilman, who plays alongside Rice, is also Harry. When an emergency developed making it necessary to guide the outfielders in pursuit of the ball by a shout from the sidelines the old call, "Take it Harry" was doubly interpreted and resulted in a collision.

Moriarty and the outfielders went into a huddle and it was decided that in the future Heilman would respond to the call of Harry and a new name would be coined for Rice.

SISLER SETS TORRID PACE

TAMPA, Fla., March 20.—(AP.)—George Sisler, who many thought was through a year ago and who is contesting with Joe Judge for the first base job this season with the Washington Senators, continues to outshine his team mates in the exhibition games.

He hit three doubles the other day in one game and yesterday against the Buffalo Internationals, he cracked out three more hits, one a double, in five times up, to help the Senators win 10 to 6.

INDIANS SUFFER INJURIES

CLEVELAND, March 20.—(AP.)—The luck that has followed the Cleveland Indians in their training season at New Orleans had deserted them today and three regulars were on the injured list. Shortstop Joe Sewell was hit on the face with a batted ball and suffered a split lip. Pitchers Joe Shaute and Garland Buckeye limped about as a result of having stopped liners with their feet. In addition, Coach Howard Shanks is confined to his bed with an injured leg.

SARAZEN SETS GOLF PACE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 20.—(AP.)—Gene Sarazen, of New York, continued a jump ahead of the field at the end of the third round in the $15,000 La Gore open golf tournament here today. The former national open and P. G. A. champion shot 24-36—70 for a 54-hole total of 209, one stroke better than his nearest competitor, Bobby Cruickshank, Purchase, N. Y., who finished the round with 35-35—70. Both were one under par for the round. Joe Bellfore, Daytona, scored 223.

SPORTSMEN RECUPERATE

John P. Egan, well-known local football official, and Bert Wilson, former manager of the Aluminum Company team of New Kensington, both confined in the Mercy Hospital, are reported recovering. Egan has improved to the extent where he can undergo a serious operation soon.

Chased Pilots Must Leave Bench

Universal Service.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20.—American League managers who are put out of the game by umpires for any period of time by the league president will no longer be able to sit near the dugout and direct the playing.

In the future it will be possible for them to see their men perform, but they must do their observing from a remote part of the stand where it will be impossible to communicate with the men taking part in the game.

This rule is among the special instructions which E. S. Barnhard, president of the league, has given to his umpires.

PETERSON GETS BOUT

CHICAGO, March 20.—(AP.)—Big Boy Peterson, New Orleans heavyweight, has been substituted for Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, to box Roberto Roberti, Italian champion, in a 10-round bout Friday night.

was at the bell. It was announced that Mike Dundee of Rock Island, a tough puncher, and U. S. Carpentier of New Kensington will meet in the main bout of a card of four eight-rounders next Monday night. Jack Kathish and Joe Latrey may box the semi-final. La Grey meets Willie Herman in New York tonight.

Stanley Simmons and Jack O'Connell box a third time tonight at Warren, O. They are listed for 10 rounds. Bobby Fleming of the Pittsburgh Lyceum meets Jimmy Manos in a return bout at Youngstown. Walcott Langford battles Bert Collins and Phil Krug meets Joe Anderson in 10-round bouts in Los Angeles.

Eddie Barr dropped a six-round decision to Tony Saunders in one of the preliminaries to the Dave Shade-Del Fontaine bout at Chicago last night.

New York clubs are bidding for a third meeting between Pete Zivic and Lou Moscowitz. Pete stopped Lou, a new card in the big town, in one round two weeks ago and won the decision in a return bout of 10 rounds last Saturday. He was back home in time to second Jack Ungle at Motor Square Garden last night.

Frankie Gordini, of Haselwood, and Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, will meet in the six-round semi-final to the Teddy Welch-Phil Secllo bout at McKeesport Thursday night.

Teddy Welch has two more battles listed after his scrap with Secllo Thursday night. He meets Steve O'Malley in an eight-rounder at East Liverpool, O., next Monday and Johnny Hayes, of Philadelphia, in the 10-round windup at Harrisburg the following night. Frankie Pott, McKeesport featherweight, who is making a return to the ring following a long layoff, will clash with Young Sweeney, of Mingo Junction, in the semi-final at East Liverpool.

Billy Carter, of Connellsville, and Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, were matched today for the second bout at McKeesport Thursday night.

SHOTS and PASSES

by Julius Levin

THE first-half championship of the Commercial-Industrial League hinges on the outcome of the game at the South Side Market House tonight between Duquesne Light and Reliance Life.

The two quintets finished their first-half schedules in a deadlock for first place and tonight's play-off will determine which of the two teams will meet Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, second-half winner, for the championship of the league.

Both teams have been pointing for this contest for the last two weeks and will take the floor with every regular in shape to start.

Besides the main attraction, there will be an attractive preliminary, bringing together the Osceola Club, winner of the first-half of the City League, and Dairy Cottage, second-half winner. This game is the first of a series of three to determine the league championship.

THE Goldensons, not disheartened by their defeat at the hands of the J. J. Mieles, will attempt to make amends next Friday night when they entertain the crack Holy Cross A. C. of the Center Avenue Y. M. C. A.

The colored passers have been making an excellent showing in local basketball circles this winter, boasting among their victims some of the strongest independent clubs operating hereabouts.

The Holy Cross A. C. will invade the Market House next Friday bent on equaling the feat of the Ritz Club, which defeated the Goldensons with points to spare.

Manager Bill Magidson of the Goldensons has arranged two attractive preliminary games to precede the main attraction.

ONE of the largest crowds of the season is expected at Duquesne University next Saturday night when the New York Celtics, champions of the American Professional League, make their annual appearance against the original members of the Pittsburgh Morrys, who have been representing McKeesport on the floor this winter.

The Celtics are one of the most popular teams ever to appear in this vicinity and they seldom fail to give the fans a real treat insofar as basketball ability is concerned.

Mike Gallagher, local representative of the Celtics, who was successful in arranging the contest, announces that the New Yorkers will bring their regular lineup to Pittsburgh for the contest with the ex-Morrys.

Interest in the game has been high ever since it was arranged, and judging by the advance sale the Duke gym will be packed to capacity next Saturday night.

The preliminary game for Saturday night brings together two of the outstanding junior quintets in this section in the Red McMahans of the South Side and the Lou Gordon Juniors. The two teams split even in the first two games of their series and Saturday's battle will settle their dispute for the championship.

Local Aces Big Winners

VICTORY margins in the Original Southern Duckpin Association tournament, rolled last week on the Forward alleys, were exceptionally decisive, the official prize list, announced today, reveals. In the five-men team event Weurthele's quintet of pin topplers set what is believed to be a record when they headed all rivals by a margin of 95 pins to win the richest prize, $150. The Grand five of Youngstown was the only out-of-town team to share in the money.

Magnes and Renquist, of Homestead, were rewarded with $100 for setting the doubles pace, and F. Obley, of McKeesport, collected $75 as a result of his singles triumph.

The girls' races, too, were not at all close. The Climax Girls distanced all rivals by 135 pins in the five-women team event; A. Garbett and R. Zebra were 105 pins better than any other doubles combination, and the former was awarded an extra $10 for also setting the singles pace. The official list of prize winners follows:

Cup Stars Begin Drill

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 20.—(AP.)—Led by "Big Bill" Tilden, No. 1 racquet-wielder, America's candidates for the Davis Cup team have begun training that is expected to produce a powerful thrust this summer in attempting to bring back to this country tennis' premier international prize.

Ten players, the full squad, were on hand for first practice some arriving in time only for afternoon workouts while others managed to slip in an hour or two during the morning.

Those here are: George Lott, Chicago; John Doeg, California collegian; John Hennessey of Indianapolis; Wray Brown, St. Louis; Bud Chandler, Harvard champion; Frank X. Shields, New York; W. F. Coen, Jr., of Kansas City, and Tilden. Francis Hunter, ranking No. 2 player, was unable to come to the training grounds, Tilden announced, because of business interests.

Although a cold wind swept the court of the Augusta Country Club, the players had intensive workouts.

Tilden played a full set during the morning against Jones and appeared to be in fair condition.

Asked when he would name the four to represent the United States at Mexico City in the first round of American zone play Tilden, the squad captain, said it probably would be Sunday night before he was ready to decide.

Tigers, Penn Set

PHILADELPHIA, March 20.—Every one of the 10,000 seats has been sold for the Princeton-Pennsylvania Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League championship playoff here tonight at the Palestra.

Were it possible to accommodate a larger crowd at least 20,000 tickets could have been disposed of, according to Graduate Manager Ernest B. Cozens of Pennsylvania. Thousands of requests have been turned back.

Princeton has taken 3,000 tickets and will have three times as many rooters here as when the Tigers upset Joey Schaaf and the rest of the Penn outfit, March 10 by the overwhelming score of 29 to 12, causing the league deadlock.

The Penn varsity squad returned from the Manufacturers Country Club, at Oreland, after resting over the week-end.

Both teams will start the same lineup as in the recent games. Although Ed Wittmer, is listed as a guard on the Tigers, he will be sent against Joe Schaaf again. Wittmer shut out the Red and Blue ace from the field in the last gamee. The probable lineups:

Penn.		Princeton.
Lobley	F	Dikovics
Matthews	F	E. Wittmer
Connelly (C.)	C	Foot
Schaaf	G	Miles (C.)
Lazar	G	Bowen

Duquesne to Face Sharon Tonight

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

A TRAINLOAD of rooters, 500 at least, will accompany the W. P. I. A. L. champions, Duquesne High, to Grove City today, where the Dukes will battle Sharon High's quintet, winners of the Grove City tournament tonight. The victor will represent Western Pennsylvania in the annual tournament at State College, where the state champion will be selected.

It was reported that a dispute between Sharon and Duquesne coaches arose last night regarding officials for the contest. The names submitted by each coach was, in turn, turned down by the other.

The local champs, in fine physical condition and buoyed up with the hope of smashing through the barrier to be presented by the Sharonites this evening, are in fine fettle. Duquesne fans believe that Dockie Kowallis and Kocheran, the Duke star forwards, are as good, if not better, than Flaherty and Seifert, Sharon's aces. Long, Duquesne center, is figured to be able to hold his own with most any scholastic pivot man, and the local guards, Ciesynski and Rice, are thought to be capable of stopping the offensive of the Sharon team when it gets under the hoop.

The game may develop into a duel between the clever Kowallis and Flaherty. Flaherty led Sharon to its Northwestern Pennsylvania title and is rated as being a star floorman.

Coach Henry's team has come through a strenuous season and a hard-fought elimination and championship series. The team's record speaks for itself, and the fans and well wishers who accompany the squad to Grove City today will have a team worthy of cheering over.

The probable lineup:

Duquesne.		Sharon.
Kowallis	F	Seifert
Kocheran	F	Flaherty
Long	C	Murphy
Rice	G	Conlon
Ciesynski	G	Laycock

KANSAS CITY, March 20.—(AP.)—With 13 days of the American Bowling Congress tournament remaining, scores established by leaders in the first two weeks of competition here are proving an effective barrier to most entries.

Only a few changes resulted in yesterday's 15-hour session. The first 10 men in the singles retained their positions, as did the leaders in the five-men event.

S. Green, Columbus, O., and C. Rathsack, Manitowoc, Wis., shot 1,243 to place seventh in the two-men event, while the Weffenstedt-Langenbahn team from Bellevue, Ky., rolled 1,237 to rank tenth.

Three Chicagoans moved into the select first 10 in the all-events. They were N. Doll, 1,881, third; A. Anderson, 1,874, fifth, and A. Trapp, 1871 seventh.

The Sanitary Milks of Canton, O., had 2,848 to lead in the five-men program last night. The Van Dam five, of Michigan City, Ind., was next with 2,835. These scores were more than 50 pins below the mark of the Pioneer Cord team, of Omaha, which ranks tenth with 2,890.

Singles and doubles entries from Nashville, Tenn.; Canton, O., Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Huntington, W. Va.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Evansville, Ind.; Green Bay, Wis., and St. Joseph, Mo., are included on the program today. Local booster teams start the five-men slate tonight. The leaders in the four events:

A. D. C. ENTRIES CLOSE SATURDAY

Under the inspiration of the new classification plan which gives the average bowler just as much of a chance to roll into the prize money as the expert, entries for the American Duckpin Congress tourney are rolling in at a rapid rate and when the bowlers perform on the Haus Alleys, North Side, during the two weeks of April 9 to 21 the greatest field of bowlers ever assembled hereabouts will compete.

Yesterday's mails brought to Tourney Manager Hilary E. Wertz entries from both Cleveland and Cincinnati, as well as from several Western Pennsylvania points with assurances that others would follow, and it is almost certain that by the time the entries close Saturday midnight the 500-team mark will have been reached or passed.

The flood is expected to increase as the week draws to a close and the news of the new plan permeates the ranks of the bowlers. Entries will be accepted by the American Duckpin Congress, 523 Fulton Building, up to midnight Saturday.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Willie Hoppe led Allen Hall by 160 points to 84 as the pair started play in the third block of their special three-cushion billiard match here this afternoon.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Johnny Layton assured himself of second place in the American Three-Cushion Billiard League when he won his last match against Harry Wakefield, 50-37.

Knoxville Post No. 423 won the Allegheny County American Legion duckpin championship by defeating Tarentum Post No. 85 on the Forward alleys last night, 2,489 to 2,046.

Local Bowlers Roll 2,686 at Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 20.—Pounding out totals of 872, 904 and 910, the Saunier-Wilhelm team of Pittsburgh pulled up with a total of 2,686 in the American Bowling Congress tourney late last night. The visitors, after a mediocre start, could not get going. Eddie Votel, former A. B. C. champion, led the Pittsburgh lineup with a 575 count. He opened with 179, but followed with games of 194 and 202. Sol Kuchler checked in with 548 and Lou Carroll, rolling in anchor position, followed with 547. Joe Lehner could not get going at any stage of the series, hanging up counts of 167, 147 and 173.

Inability to bunch strikes hurt the Pittsburgh team's chances. Only seven errors were chalked up against them, but they, likewise, ran into 19 splits.

The Saunier-Wilhelm No. 2 team counted 2,427, Fred Barth counting 114 in the opening session.

The Pittsburgh pinmen will roll their doubles and singles events today. The five-men scores:

Ohio Balks At Demands

By TOM BIRKS.

THE Glasgow Rangers, world's most famous soccer football team, will not appear in Cleveland in its American tour, beginning May 30 in New York. This information was given out by Committeeman William Angus of the Ohio State Football Association in the Hotel Winton Sunday night following the playing of the Union Switch-Magyar game in Cleveland.

The prohibitive sum of $5,000 asked by the backers of the trip has caused the Ohio state body to call off all negotiations between Angus and J. C. Adamson of Toronto, who is building up the schedule for the famous Scottish soccer club.

The decision was reached only after long hours of debate for sentiment in Ohio and Western Pennsylvania was in favor of the appearance of the greatest soccer team since the tour of the Corinthians. Ohio was willing to gamble with the sponsors of the tour, but the Canadians were not.

OFFERED $2,000

"We offered to go as high as $2,000," the Ohio secretary said, "but this was not even considered." Angus feels that the offer made Ohio was anything but fair when the proposed date was set for Saturday, June 9. Ohio can play Sunday ball, and Cleveland, where the game was going to be played, is a Sunday town. Clevelanders resented Detroit being given the Sunday date, June 10, also at the same figure, $5,000. Then another matter that helped the calling off of the program was the fact that the sponsors of the trip demanded the money be placed in a bank five weeks before the game was played.

Ohio felt that a $2,000 guarantee would be raised when all soccerdom within a 200-mile radius would want to see the game. It was unofficially reported that 3,000 fans would make the trip from Pittsburgh in special trains to the game, the bulk of the fans being members of the Scottish Clans' organization.

Last night a movement was started to try and bring the famous club to Pittsburgh on the date originally allotted to Cleveland if something reasonable can be arranged.

NOT HARD TO PROMOTE

There is no question that with a great organization like the Scottish clans in this district with thousands of members, the game would not be hard to promote. Only once in a decade does a club like the famous Rangers make an American trip, and thousands of soccer lovers in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio would like to see this outfit in action. At the present time the Rangers will open in New York and play in Philadelphia and Detroit, these are the nearest points local fans can see the team, and the trip is too great for the average.

It is a sad blow to soccer officials in Cleveland. Elaborate arrangements were being made to have a public banquet with the biggest men in Ohio, politically and otherwise, at the affair. Then on Friday evening a large soccer program with the Rangers' reserves as the stars was to be staged in the Public Auditorium. But, as Angus stated late Sunday, Clevelanders will now have to make the trip to Detroit to see Scotia's great soccer club. The Rangers play to a crowd of 100,000 weekly in Glasgow, so the American crowds will appear puny to them.

MAY BRING TEAM HERE

But now that the Rangers cannot be seen at Luna Park there is a possibility that enough interest will be found in Pittsburgh to bring the famous club to the Pitt Stadium. If 3,000 Pittsburghers were going to make the trip to Cleveland, why wouldn't it be possible to get their support and put the game on here? This might be a good way to raise that $1,000 quota that Western Pennsylvania has been assessed for the Olympic soccer fund. Pitt Stadium would be the only logical place to play the game, with the Pirates occupying Forbes Field.

possibility of the Bucs finishing in second position. Should the Pirates down the Montreal Maroons in their game at Montreal Thursday and win again on Saturday, the Rangers would have to annex another victory or surrender second place to the locals by a one-point margin.

The situation is unique in that second place is no more desirable than is the third position, and in that the Bucs need the same number of victories to clamber into either berth. Regardless of whether the local skaters finish second or third, they will meet the Rangers in the first games of the play-off series, and they can not be sure of getting into the series at all unless they win two games. Today the Bucs are tied with Detroit, but the Cleghorn icemen have a distinct edge in that they have two more games to play, whereas only one contest remains on Detroit's card. Possibilities are:

If the Pirates win both games they will be in the play-offs regardless of what Detroit does.

If the Pirates break even and Detroit wins its remaining game the two teams will finish in a tie for third place.

If the Pirates break even and Detroit loses the Bucs will clinch third place.

If the Pirates win one and tie one they will finish one point ahead of Detroit regardless of what the Cougars do.

If the Pirates play to two ties they will be assured of no worse than a third place tie, and should Detroit lose, one tie will give the Bucs a play-off berth.

There are a few others, but why bring them up?

CANADIENS ALMOST "IN"

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—Victory for the Canadiens in their game with the New York Americans at the Montreal forum tonight will clinch first place and the bye position in the International Group of the National Hockey League.

The Flying Frenchmen are three points—one game and a half—ahead of the Montreal Maroons, who play Pittsburgh Thursday and Toronto on Saturday to close their schedule. The Canadiens have one more game after tonight, winding up the league season against Ottawa on Saturday.

If the Canadiens drop their two games and the Maroons win two the latter would finish on top. In the last two games with the Americans, the Canadiens were blanked, 1-0.

The game between the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Boston Bruins at the Hub city tonight has no significance. The Bruins are assured of the bye position in the American group and Toronto has been out of the Stanley Cup hunt for some time.

LOCAL CHESS TOURNEY TO BEGIN MARCH 31

The annual tournament for the 1928 chess championship of Western Pennsylvania will begin at the rooms of the Pittsburgh Chess Club, 201 Apollo Building, 238 Fourth avenue, on Saturday, March 31, at 2 o'clock, p. m. Games will be played on Tuesday nights and Saturday afternoons of each week until the tournament is completed.

Players residing in the western end of the state, whether connected with any chess organization or not, are eligible to compete, with those from the Pittsburgh Chess Club, Westinghouse Club, Engineers' Club, University of Pittsburgh, and the surrounding towns.

The list already entered from the Pittsburgh Chess Club includes among others the present champion, Paul L. Bowers, and former champions, Howard L. Dolde and Kalman Erdeky, and the list from the Westinghouse includes William Schettler who hopes to win this honor this year for his club.

ACE HUDKINS ASKS, TITLE BATTLE DELAY

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(AP.)—A request for postponement of the proposed fight between Ace Hudkins and Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, in New York, May 17, has been made by Art Hudkins, brother and manager of the Nebraska Wildcat.

Art Hudkins announced after a telephone conversation with Jess McMahon, matchmaker, in New York, that the Ace was not in good fighting trim and a later date would be acceptable.

"Ace's hands are in bad shape," said the brother manager, "and we want him to be in top form for the title bout. That is why we would rather have a later date, if it is possible."

AL IRWIN HELPS PUT CLAN PARTY ACROSS

The popular Al Irwin, of Carnegie Tech, treasurer of the Varsity Clan, varsity letter-man organization of the Skibo Institution, is elated over the progress being made for the annual theater party of the Clan to be held in the Pitt on Monday evening, April 16.

He believes that "Love 'Em and Leave 'Em," as presented by the George Sharp Stock Company on that night, will appeal to the collegiate taste.

All undergraduate varsity athletes at Carnegie have been invited to attend the party as guests of the Varsity Clan. The entire second balcony has been reserved for the student body.

SEALS SINK BUCCOS

of the Ozarks, who accepted the compliment in true Chesterfieldian manner. Earl, however, was darn glad that the rocket did not land atop of his Arkansas brow.

Lefty Bartholomew and Roy Mahaffey did the slab work for Bush in the first defeat sustained in San Francisco. The two youngsters were unfortunate enough to find the Seals in a distinctive batting form. This mood is apt to be upon the classy club at any time and yesterday the hitting fervor was on show to a strained degree. When Bartholomew left the game in the sixth he was in front. Mahaffey ran into trouble in the seventh and eighth frames, a couple of handle hits adding to his perplexity. The home pitchers, on the other hand, were quite effective.

Manager Nick sent Hollis Thurston, erstwhile White Sox pitcher, to the mound at the outset. The Buccos were able to reach him for four runs in five rounds. Lefty Mitchell then landed on the scene, and here is a southpaw who can pitch circles around some of the boys in the big show. Mitch held the boys to one hit in four innings. Joe Cronin smacked the pill into the center field seats in the ninth in a fruitless effort to get the Pirates back in the game.

The Seals scored twice in the first inning after an exhibition of loose play on the infield. In the second chapter, Grantham walloped the ball into the left field seats to force a deadlock.

Homers by Smith and Comorosky in the fifth added two more and Averill brought the Seals up close in the same inning with a four-baser. There was no more scoring until the last half of the seventh, when the home boys took the play away from the Pittsburghers.

His withdrawal nabled Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., to move up to first place in the competition. Nestor Erickson, Port Chester, N. Y., won yesterday's heat from Two Gun Camp to Winslow in three hours flat. He averaged a shade better than eight miles an hour. Erickson's elapsed time is 107:19:37, placing him in fourth.

Arne Souminen of Detroit, finished second in 3:06 to make an elapsed time of 123:55. Giacomo Clarizio of Chicago, placed third in 3:11, making an elapsed time of 112:57:20. Other runners finished in order as follows: William Busch, Boston; John Cronick, Saskatoon, Canada; John Salo, Passaic, N. J.; Earl Dilks, New Castle, Pa.; William Kerr, Minneapolis and Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont.

LOCAL GOLFERS SCORE IN TIN WHISTLE PLAY

PINEHURST, N. C., March 20.—A large number of Pittsburgh men figured in the annual team match of the tin whistles on the links here. The Reds defeated the Blues, 41 to 19. Eighty members took part, Edgar A. Guest, poet, was one of the competitors. The Pittsburgh men who played their teams and points scored:

H. C. Fownes, Red, 1*; Tom Morrison, Blue, 1*; J. B. Blackburn and C. B. Shea, Red, 3; Lawrence Barr, Blue, 0; F. E. Now, Red, 1; Norwood Johnston and H. C. Anderson, Blue, 2; T. A. Cheatham, Blue, 0.

LOCAL GOLFER LOSES IN ST. AUGUSTINE PLAY

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 20.—A. E. Compton, of Pittsburgh, and his partner, C. S. Way, of Cleveland, were defeated in the finals of the beaten eight division in the Florida amateur team championship golf tournament over the St. Augustine links yesterday. They succumbed to Charles E. Young, of Indianapolis, Ind., and A. L. Joynes, of St. Augustine, by 2 up and 1 to play.

In the title flight, Harold Weber, of Toledo, O., and Joe Capo, of St. Augustine, defeated Arthur D. Rusby, of Upper Montclair, N. J., and Mallie Reynolds, of Jacksonville, by 3 and 2.

HILL WINS TITLE

LONDON, March 20.—(AP.)—Johnny Hill, British flyweight, won the European championship last night. He took a decision on points from Emile Pladner, European and French titleholder.

PEERY has been doing so well of late that he had added himself to Fussell and Brame as pitching timber that will be kept.

With those three thrown in with Kremer, Miljus, Hill, Meadows and Dawson, the staff would be unquestionably stronger than in 1927, and besides, there still is Grimes to be reckoned. Manager Bush sure is sitting pretty there.

DEPENDABLE camp reports also make it seem probable that the doubt about Adam Comorosky's hitting ability is rapidly being dispelled.

Adam Comorosky

It was evident from the start that the vacant outfield post would go to Comorosky if he succeeded in hitting up to requirements, for in other departments he had Barnhart and Harris clearly beaten.

Well, the bow-legged recruit from Witchita must be delivering now with the stick, for the latest dope from the front is that it is hard to see how Comorosky can be kept off the team. The verdict of one man who knows ball players is that Comorosky is better than 90 per cent of the outfielders in the big leagues right now.

ANOTHER Pirate recruit who has picked up in his batting enough to warrant the guess that he is going to be retained, is Ralston Hemsley. The boy clearly has the makings of a great catcher and all that he has to do to land a job with the Bucs is to keep up his present clip.

BRINGING up the subject of secondary strength, Pittsburgh has an entire reserve infield that is not to be sneezed at, with Joe Harris at first base, Dick Bartell at second, Joe Cronin at short and Eddie Mulligan at third.

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER, aiming to win 41 games for the Cards this year, at the age of 41, cautions young pitchers not to try to strike out batters.

Grover Alexander.

"Let them hit, but keep it away from their favorite grooves," he said. "Never give them a good ball to hit.

"Trying for strikeouts is a strain on the arm that will eventually wear it out. Just study batting averages and what does the pitcher find? His batter will not average a safe hit one out of three. That is the gross. Of course, there are a dozen or more who will go better than .333 but taking the entire team and the average is not one out of three.

"There are eight fellows on the field besides the pitchers. They are going to get many of the drives that are cleanly hit.

"I'll never forget a game against the Pirates while I was with the Cubs several years ago. 'Pie' Traynor crashed four mighty wallops and each became a double play. Two sizzling grounders went straight to the shortstop, one shot out to the center fielder who doubled a fellow off second, and another was a liner to Charley Grimm who caught a runner off third.

"The pitcher will get such breaks in his favor occasionally."

JIMMY McLARNIN was asked by Ed Hughes how he developed his knockout wallop.

"Well, I've got pretty big hands from working as a freight elevator boy (they're as big and as hard as a middleweight's), and Pop Foster taught me how to use them. You get the snap in the punch by twisting the wrist a bit just the moment the blow lands. I was a long while practicing that method before I could get it working right. But I guess the speed I use in delivery is about as important as the twist. Speed is about everything in fighting. The brain, legs and all have to work fast if you're going to get anywhere."

Jimmy M'Larnin

McLarnin wishes the statement corrected that he was born in Belfast. "I was born in Dublin, not Belfast," explained Jimmy. "My father was a butcher over in Ireland, and he brought the family over here when I was a year and a half old. There are 11 of us, six sisters, three brothers and my parents."

ROY WORTERS, goalie of the Pittsburgh hockey team, is again being picked on nearly all of the all-star ice sextets. In fact, Worters is being praised so highly everywhere that many good judges believe he has a good chance to win the most valuable player prize.

Roy Worters.

Wesley White of 200 Forest avenue, Ben Avon, is among those who name Worters. Mr. White selects two teams as follows:

First team—G, Roy Worters, Pirates; rd, Eddie Shore, Bruins; ld, Frank Clancy, Senators; c, Horace Morenz, Canadiens; rw, Hooley Smith, Maroons; lw, Ariel Joliet, Canadiens.

Second team—G, Alex Connell, Senators; rd, Herb Gardiner, Canadiens; ld, Ching Johnson, Rangers; c, Frank Nighbor, Senators; rw, Harold Darragh, Pirates; lw, Hec Kilrea, Senators.

POLO SERIES OPENS

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—The National Indoor Polo championships get under way tonight with the intercollegiate semi-finals in which Yale faces Princeton and Harvard opposes Pennsylvania Military College at Squadron Armory. Princeton and Harvard are favored to advance into the finals to be held on Saturday.

How This Tax-Eater Acted; We Are All Piece-Workers.

By B. C. FORBES

AN ILLUMINATING INCIDENT: A business man wanted a little assistance in compiling his income tax return. He entered a nearby bank, where the government had installed a tax expert to give just such service. It was near 3 o'clock.

The young man glanced at the statement, but rejected the idea of his going over the figuring to see if it had been done along the right lines. When asked if he had any suggestions as to how the total could be legitimately reduced through deductions, he airily replied, "If I had that much income, I wouldn't bother about the amount of the tax."

Saying which, he indicated that the interview was over.

AN OLD LADY was next in line. When handed a blank, she asked him to help her to fill it in. Looking up at the clock, he replied, "It's 3 minutes to 3. I quit at 3."

She next asked if the tax department of a certain department store would be open. He didn't know, but he advised her to go to the postoffice for whatever assistance she wanted. When she inquired if he would be on hand at 9 o'clock next morning, his answer was, "No. I won't be here until about a quarter-to-10."

THE BUSINESS MAN, having thus failed to get the desired service from the government employe—who was so opposed to work one minute after 3 o'clock—telephoned the Guaranty Trust Company to find out how late its tax department would be open. The immediate and cheerful reply was: "Come along any time you want to, up to midnight—at least."

The visit actually was made at 9:30 the following morning, by which time the whole force was on the job—and doing it with such courtesy and cordiality that everyone was made to feel at home.

WHY ARE so many persons as shortsighted as this young government employe? Why do so many government employes feel that they are entirely beyond obligation to extend to their customers and employers—the public—even the most ordinary courtesy and consideration?

Has not this chronically high-handed attitude of government servants probably had something to do with widespread opposition to the whole government ownership idea and to any further multiplication of government employes?

THERE WAS a perfect example of the difference in attitude between the government employe and the employe of a private institute. The one's man concern palpably was to quit work on the stroke of 3. The other gladly volunteered to be on hand at any time desired up to midnight or even later. The tax-eater, too, couldn't dream of being on the job as early at 9 o'clock in the morning; "about a quarter-to-10," was his speed. Doubtless the bank men were ready to be of service promptly at 9 o'clock.

IT IS NOTORIOUS that the government is the worst employer in the United States. The government employs far more underpaid workers than does any business enterprise. Our more enlightened corporations now have all sorts of plans for improving the well being and happiness of their workers. The government's methods still savor of the nineteenth century not the twentieth.

Now, may it not be that government employes have themselves at least partly to blame for the low salaries and the scant consideration they receive? It is proverbial that we get back about what we give out in this world. Has the unsympathetic attitude of many government servants toward the public earned in return an unsympathetic attitude toward them on the part of the public? Are they getting in accordance with what they give?

AFTER ALL, each and everyone of us is our own employer, no matter what our station. We are working for ourselves when we work for a boss. We all are, too, piece-workers, in the long run. That applies to bosses, to employes, even to government servants.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The raw sugar market was quiet early today with prices unchanged at 4.58c for spot cash Cuban duty paid. The only sale reported was 13,000 bags of Cuban for second half of April shipment to an operator at 4.65c.

The raw sugar futures market opened unchanged to 3 points lower and soon showed net declines of 1 to 4 points under realizing or liquidation and some hedge selling prompted by the disappointing showing of the London market and the circulation of 100 March notices.

The activity in the spot market may also have had some influence on the early decline, but a steadier tone developed later on covering and trade buying. Rallies of 1 to 2 points followed, with the market at midday 1 to 2 points net lower.

The refined market was unchanged at 5.80 to 5.85c for fine granulated with trading fair, but again mostly in the way of withdrawals on old contracts.

GEN. MOTORS SCALES NEW PEAK

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—Speculation for the advance broke out anew in today's stock market when the general list swung upward under the leadership of Radio and General Motors. Radio soared 16½ points to 153½, against a low of 135 yesterday, and General Motors moved up 5 points to a new peak at 173. Scores of others advanced 3 to 15 points, with the short interest again in urgent retreat. Total sales crossed the 2,000,000-mark before the end of the third hour.

There was nothing in the day's news to explain the fresh outburst of speculative enthusiasm. There has been no marked change for the better in the course of spring trade, but apparently there is a huge March reinvestment demand which is making itself felt in some of the seasoned dividend paying stocks. A new crop of rumors sprang up to account for the sensational advances in a few issues, but most of them lacked official confirmation.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, which is expected to announce a recapitalization plan which may involve a 10 for 1 stock split-up next month, added 15 points to its 28½-point gain of yesterday. Collins & Aikman climbed 7 points, Houston Oil and Rossia Insurance 6 each, and Victor Talking Machine, American Linseed, Kelsey Wheel, Wright Aeronautical, American Locomotive, Greene Cananea Copper, Midland Steel Products preferred and Case Threshing were among the many issues to sell 3 or more points above yesterday's final quotations.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 20.—Unlooked for strength shown by wheat quotations at Liverpool led to an early advance today in wheat values here but reactions followed. Liverpool upturns were accompanied by reports that urgent demand from continental Europe was expected for nearby wheat. Starting at a shade to 1 cent gain, Chicago wheat afterward underwent a sag. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer at times, corn opening ⅛@⅝c higher but later reacting to a low yesterday's finish.

At noon wheat was a shade to ⅝c net higher and corn varying from ⅛c decline to ⅛c advance.

Simultaneous with bulges in the wheat market today, rye advanced to a new high price record for the season. Advices which were current telling of more pressing need of breadstuffs for continental European countries, however, were largely counterbalanced by word that liberal purchases of Argentine wheat for Europe had been effected. Profit taking sales on advances here were also much in evidence.

Persistent selling of corn on the part of various speculators developed today when the corn market scored advances because of talk of prospective further export business, combined with a decrease in corn arrivals throughout the west. On the ensuing declines, though, another speculative group became conspicuous on the buying side of the market and did a good deal to keep values in poise.

COTTON SHOWS LOSS FOR '27

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP.)—The 1927 cotton crop was placed today by the Census Bureau at 12,950,473 equivalent 500-pound bales, compared with 17,977,374 bales in 1926 and 16,103,679 in 1925.

The size of the crop was determined by the final ginning canvass of the year. The Department of Agriculture estimated the crop at 12,789,000 bales in its final estimate last December.

The total crop comprised 12,777,505 running bales, including 350,178 round bales counted as half bales, compared with 17,755,070 bales, including 663,786 round bales, for 1926, and 16,122,516 bales, including 351,121 round bales, for 1925.

American-Egyptian cotton included totaled 24,223 bales, compared with 16,232 for 1926 and 20,063 for 1925.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Steel Steady ex-Du Pont.

Announcement that the Du Pont interests had disposed of their 114,000 shares of Steel common, acquired early last year, had only a minor effect on the "premier industrial" in today's market. The stock was lower on the opening as some frightened longs let go their holdings, but subsequent price movement was in the upward direction. Those in control of the bull movement in Radio applied the screws to the shorts again and ran the stock up more than 15 points, while the movement in Cast Iron Pipe carried through for a further 10-point advance by mid-day, as the short interest, caught napping yesterday, made further efforts to wriggle out of the stock. Actual price at which the Du Ponts sold their Steel common was not announced, but it was stated that a profit of about $2,500,000 was realized. This would indicate an average sale price of about 145, as the stock was purchased around 123.

ITX-Mackay Rumor Out.

The Street heard today that International Telephone and Telegraph had concluded arrangements for consolidation with the Mackay communication properties (Postal Telegraph-Commercial Cable) in a deal which will involve about $275,000,000. Title of the new company is expected to be "International Communications Company." The Behn brothers, leading interests in International Telephone, will continue to direct the affairs of the expanded properties. Clarence Mackay, head of the Mackay companies, will not be actively engaged in the management, the report says.

Rubbers Hold Gains.

Rubber stocks held the sharp gains made yesterday in response to the announcement that an additional $50,000,000 credit had been arranged in behalf of the "American Rubber Pool," official title of which is the "National Reserve for Crude Rubber." The credit provides for $20,000,000 immediately and $30,000,000 if and when required. The pool began functioning early in 1927 with a reported credit of $40,000,000. It was scheduled to expire April 1 this year, but the extension of the additional credit indicates that it will be continued. The pool was mainly responsible for the stability of rubber prices during 1927, but this year the crude rubber market has encountered difficulties and recently the price of the raw product has reached new low levels. The additional funds will be used to purchase raw rubber, so that even if a further decline in that commodity was experienced, it would not be bearish on the rubber stocks. Officials of several rubber companies believe there will be no further price reductions in tires or other rubber goods. If their opinion proves correct it will mean that raw rubber purchased by the pool not alone would tend to stabilize the market, but eventually would realize a profit.

Oil Output Gains.

Daily average crude oil output in the United States for the week ended March 17 was 2,403,741 barrels, up 1,095 barrels over the preceding week, according to the Oil and Gas Journal. Light oil production increased only 264 barrels daily.

Skelly Makes Poor Showing.

Skelly Oil Company reports for the year 1927 consolidated net income of $1,438,227 after taxes, interest, depletion, depreciation and other capital extinguishments, equal to $1.31 a share on 1,093,043 shares, against $5,591,245 or $5.56 a share on 1,022,433 average shares issued in 1926. Deficit after dividends was $749,102, against surplus of $1,669,921 in 1926.

Seminole at 295,000.

The Seminole area for 24 hours ended at 7 a. m. Monday produced 295,397 barrels of crude oil, the lowest level since February 14, 1927. This compares with 290,342 barrels on Sunday.

Seats at $325,000.

The sale of two memberships on the New York Stock Exchange has been arranged for $325,000 each, up $5,000 over the last previous sale, and a new high record.

National Sugar Earnings Shrink.

The National Sugar Refining Company of New Jersey reports for the year 1927 consolidated net income of $292,485 after depreciation, interest and taxes, equal to $1.95 a share on 150,000 capital shares, against $3,567,289 or $23.78 a share in 1926.

Soft Coal Output Gains.

Soft coal production during the week ended March 10 was 10,427,000 tons, the highest level since the second week in January, according to the Department of Commerce. This compared with 10,026,000 tons the preceding week and 13,179,000 tons the same week in 1927.

World production of coal in 1927, according to the Bureau of Mines was 1,475,000,000 tons, of which 1,278,000,000 tons was bituminous and anthracite and 197,000,000 tons lignite. This is a new high record for world production.

Bruggeman on Zoller Board.

A. G. Bruggeman, secretary and treasurer of the Dollar Savings and Trust Company, has been elected a director of William Zoller Company, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late John H. Fuhs.

Wright Aeronautical Corporation.

Wright Aeronautical Corporation consolidated net income was $933,939 for the year ended December 31, 1927, after depreciation and federal tax, equal to $3.74 a share on 247,665 shares, compared with $700,444 or $2.40 a share in 1926. Surplus after dividends totaled $694,234, as against $452,842. Net sales were $3,990,546, against $1,173,419. Unfilled orders on January 1, 1928, amounted to $4,466,000, against $1,925,000 at the end of 1926. Since January 1 additional orders of $3,127,000 have been received, the report states.

Phoenix Board Re-elected.

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Phoenix Oil Company, formerly the Omar Oil and Gas Company, the following directors were re-elected: John S. Craig, J. DeS. Freund, William C. Edwards, E. S. Fownes, R. E. Henry, Charles M. Johnston and John W. Leonard. Robbin B. Wolf was added to the board. Among other things it was announced that the Blackwell Oil and Gas Company would drill a well on its 40-acre tract in the Seminole district. This acreage is controlled by the Phoenix Oil Company, which will receive a cash consideration and a half profit in the well. In the Spring Creek district of Wyoming, the company's well, which was started last year will be rushed to completion. This well had been drilled to a depth of 750 feet when extreme cold and heavy snows forbade further operations. It is expected that within the next two weeks a further announcement of drilling plans will be made.

International Business Machines.

International Business Machines Corporation and subsidiaries report for year ended December 31, 1927, net profit of $4,475,318 after interest, depreciation, and federal taxes, but before amortization of patents, etc., equivalent to $7.84 a share earned on 578,842 shares of no par capital stock. This compares with $3,766,249 or $6.51 a share in 1926.

Ford Production.

Ford Motor Company production is averaging 1,300 cars daily. By the first week of April schedule will be stepped up to 2,000 cars daily. Initial production difficulties at River Rouge plant have been ironed out and officials anticipate no trouble in advancing output steadily through Spring months. A goal of 5,000 cars daily is set for mid-summer. Four-door sedan will be put into production in May. Despite slow momentum of production in early winter unfilled orders today total approximately 750,000 cars.

Glass Demand Holding Up.

Demand for flat glass is holding up well, according to National Glass Budget. It is estimated production of window glass is running not far from a monthly rate of 750,000 boxes. Orders placed in March will, it is believed, exceed this figure by possibly 150,000 boxes. Some of the manufacturing plants are shipping the glass as made. All plate glass manufacturers again are quoting October, 1927, prices. In February some companies placed a slight advance in effect, but inasmuch as this policy was not unanimously adopted, withdrawal of the higher prices has resulted. Manufacturers say that orders are plentiful with bright prospects for increasing business as the spring advances.

Public Service, New Jersey.

Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and subsidiary utility companies report for 1927 operating revenues aggregating $115,905,904, compared with $108,303,249 for 1926. Operating income amounted to $32,070,717, against $29,452,223. After allowing for all interest and other deductions, balance was $14,314,315 available for dividends, compared with a balance of $12,784,904 in 1926.

Employment on Increase.

Employment and activity in the manufacturing industry of the United States have been on the increase since November, 1927, as indicated by returns made in January from about 2,000 manufacturing plants, says the National Industrial Conference Board. These plants are located throughout the country, are of large and small size, and represent 25 different divisions of manufacturing. As mid-winter is a quiet period in many industries, the board says, seasonal influences should show further improvement in February and March employment when the data for these months become available.

General Tank Car Earned $7.03.

The General American Tank Car Corporation reports for the year 1927 net income of $2,221,946, equal to $7.03 a share on average common shares outstanding, compared with $2,266,914 in 1926.

Consolidated Gas.

Expanded operations and earning power of Consolidated Gas System of New York and ability to finance at good rates the major part of needed plant extension, appear to warrant something better than a $3 dividend rate on the common. That rate has been in effect for five years, during which period, 1923 to 1927, inclusive, the system increased gross of 20 per cent without adding to territory served. In the same period net for common increased 21 per cent, about paralleling the gain in gross business. This rather commendable saving of increased gross for net is even better than percentages indicate, for there was a material gain in interest and preferred dividends.

Gas Raised at Philadelphia.

Atlantic Refining Company has advanced gasoline 1 cent a gallon in Philadelphia.

Cotton Ginning Report.

The Census Bureau reports there were ginned from the crop of 1927, exclusive of linters and counting round as half bales, 12,777,505 running bales, against 17,755,070 bales in 1926 and 16,122,516 bales in 1925. This is equal to 12,950,473 bales of 500 pounds and compares with 17,977,374 in 1926 and 16,103,679 in 1925.

Bullish interpretation of the ginning report caused active general buying in the cotton market and sent prices up about $1.50 per bale. Trade interests, spot houses and shorts were conspicuous buyers and while there was a good deal of profit taking at the advance offers were limited and early in the day the undertone was firm.

Food Prices Lower.

Retail food prices were 1 per cent lower on February 15 than on January 15, and 2½ per cent lower than on February 15, 1927, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

February Auto Production.

The Department of Commerce reports February automobile production in the United States totaled 323,364 passenger cars and trucks, against 221,747 in January and 304,763 in February, 1927.

Building Shows Increase.

Building and engineering contracts aggregating $134,246,300 were awarded in the 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains the past week, an increase of nearly $22,000,000 over the record for the previous week, F. W. Dodge Corporation reports. The daily average of contracts from January 1 to March 16, amounting to $18,523,200 shows an increase over the daily average through the first three months last year. The largest contract for the week was $6,000,000 for an electric power plant in Massachusetts.

Cutten Sees Grain Pit's Doom.

Arthur Cutten, in an interview with a representative of the Wall Street News today, indicated his belief that the day of the grain market as a major market was done. Regulation and interference from Washington were two major factors in bringing about the decline in importance, in Mr. Cutten's view. Credited with a corner in the grain market in 1924 which was reputed to have made him a multi-millionaire, Mr. Cutten has recently been known as an associate of the Fisher brothers in stock market coups, which have added millions to his wealth. He declared that he would rather buy Radio on setbacks than buy the grains even should the latter suffer a severe break. He declared he knew nothing about the present grain market, as it did not interest him. "There isn't any profit in grain trading any more," he said. "I haven't made a dollar in it in the past three years."

Fairbanks-Morse.

Fairbanks-Morse & Co. reports for 1927 net income of $1,641,636, equal after preferred dividends to $3.08 a share on common stock, against net of $2,740,557 or $6.05 a common share in 1926.

Erie Revenue for February.

The Erie Railroad system reports February gross of $9,295,104, as compared with $9,296,111 for February, 1927. Net income totaled $341,423, against a deficit of $273,104 for February of 1927. For two months net loss of $390,475 is reported, against net loss of $1,174,155 for the same period of 1927.

Bankers Get Union Oil Option.

A Los Angeles dispatch today said: "Information in important banking circles here is to the effect that a group of bankers has obtained an option on the Union Oil Associates, which holds a minority of the stock of the Union Oil Company of California, and that representatives of these bankers are now in the East endeavoring to sell the company to Eastern oil interests." The opinion in stock market circles is that the Atlantic Refining Company will turn up with control of Union Oil. Consolidation of California Petroleum with Texas Corporation was the last big East-West oil merger announced.

Kansas City Public Service.

Improvements to the properties of the Kansas City Public Service Company will be partially financed with a portion of the proceeds of an issue of $4,400,000 first mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the company offered today by Halsey, Stuart & Co. A syndicate headed by Halsey Stuart of New York was today awarded $17,272,000 Detroit city bonds on a bid to yield 4.044 per cent.

Manhattan Electrical Supply.

The Manhattan Electrical Supply Company reports for the year ended December 31 consolidated net income of $442,116 after all charges and taxes, equal to $1.94 a share on 139,969 shares, against $295,416 or $2.27 a share in 1926. The net for 1926 excludes nonrecurring profit of $[illegible] made on the sales of battery business.

Hopeful of Rail Merger Bill.

President Coolidge is more than hopeful of passage of legislation permitting of the consolidation of railroads during this session of Congress, it was said at the White House today. He has been informed by members of Congress the railroad consolidation bill will be taken up at this session and probably passed.

INITIAL SALES ARE AT 67

The newly listed Armstrong Cork Company shares appeared on the board at the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange for the first time today. Initial sales were at 67, unchanged from the last price reported in the curb market yesterday.

The present common represents a four-for-one split-up of the old shares. Stockholders yesterday approved a proposal to retire the $4,000,000 of preferred stock outstanding. The company recently authorized sale of additional common at $40 a share to present holders on the basis of one new share for each six held. These "rights" were also quoted on the board today, the first sale being at $4 for a block of 300.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—The cotton market opened firm today at an advance of 15 to 31 points, active positions quickly selling 28 to 36 points net higher on covering or rebuying by recent sellers, evidently influenced by the ginning figures.

All months made new high ground for the movement, May selling up to 19.58c and October to 19.56c. These prices attracted realizing and the market eased off several points from the best by the end of the first hour.

The census report showed ginnings of 12,777,505 running bales, counting round as half, from the growth of 1927, making 12,950,473 equivalent 500 lb. bales, compared with the government's December estimate of 12,789,000 bales. These figures were considered very close to the forecast and demand was attributed partly to a renewal of last week's buying movement which had been checked by uncertainty as to the showing of this morning's report.

The realizing attracted by the opening advance caused reaction of 15 or 17 points from the best, but the volume of business tapered off on the decline. At midday the market was quiet, with May selling around 19.24c and October 18.70c, or about 14 to 21 points net higher.

FIRST TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK, CHICAGO, Trustee.

For further information regarding the company and this issue of bonds, reference is made to a letter dated March 17, 1928, received from the company, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned and from which the following is quoted:

BUSINESS AND PROPERTY

The business of the Inland Steel Company was organized in 1893, and is the result of a continuous development over a period of thirty-four years. The management is in the hands of the executives and directors who have been associated with the business for many years and who have a large financial interest in the company.

The company is the second largest producer of steel in the Chicago district, having an annual ingot capacity of 1,800,000 tons.

The company owns over six hundred acres of land at Indiana Harbor, Indiana, with frontages on the Southern shore of Lake Michigan and the government ship canal, where its main plant is located. The principal units include four blast furnaces, two hundred and four Koppers by-product ovens with complete benzol refinery, twenty-six open hearth furnaces, blooming mills, sheet bar mills, rail mills, bar mills, sheet mills, plate and structural mills. With the harbor and docks alongside the property and connection with the main lines of the New York Central, Pennsylvania, and Baltimore & Ohio systems, the company's transportation facilities are unusually favorable for both water and rail shipments. At Chicago Heights, Illinois, the company owns a finishing mill which produces about 60,000 tons per annum. Inland Steel Company of Wisconsin, a wholly owned subsidiary, owns and operates ten sheet mills and a galvanizing department in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE.

The purpose of the issue of these bonds is to provide for the redemption on May 1, 1928, of the entire outstanding issue of $12,000,000 twenty-year 5½% debenture gold bonds of the company and for the redemption on April 1, 1928, of the outstanding $10,000,000 par value of preferred stock of the company, and for other corporate purposes. The annual interest charges on these bonds will be less than interest and dividend requirements on the debenture gold bonds and the preferred stock.

SECURITY.

The first mortgage sinking fund gold bonds will be the direct obligation of Inland Steel Company and will be secured by its first mortgage to First Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, trustee. The bonds will be secured by a direct first mortgage on all of the fixed assets of the company owned on April 1, 1928, as well as upon all additions, improvements and betterments thereto and by the pledge of stocks and obligations of certain subsidiary companies then owned by the company, as will be provided in the mortgage. The combined book value of the assets to be mortgaged and pledged, as of March 1, 1928, was over $51,500,000, of which over $47,500,000 represented fixed assets. The first mortgage will cover all the company's directly owned real estate, plants and mineral properties, except certain mineral leases which, by their terms, cannot be assigned or pledged. The book value of the properties of the company represents expenditures less depreciation charged out of earnings, and is much below actual value. Any properties that may be acquired by the company hereafter with the proceeds of the bonds reserved for capital expenditures as hereinafter specified are also to become subject to the first mortgage.

The net tangible assets of the company as shown by its books, as of March 1, 1928, after giving effect to the payment of the special dividend paid on that date and adjusted to show the sale of the present issue of bonds and the application of the proceeds thereof, will be over $80,000,000, of which over $25,000,000 will be net current assets.

The company has no notes payable, and has had no banking indebtedness for the past twenty years. Upon the completion of this financing, the company will have no funded debt outstanding, other than these bonds.

EARNINGS.

The net earnings applicable to interest for the year ended December 31, 1927, after charges for depreciation and depletion, amounted to $8,833,802, being 6.54 times the interest charges on the present issue. Such earnings of the company applicable to the payment of interest, for the five years ended December 31, 1927, have averaged $7,352,329, or more than 5.44 times the interest charges on the $30,000,000 first mortgage bonds now being issued. The company's earnings, depreciation charges, and profits applicable to interest, for each of said years, were as follows:

Year ended Dec. 31.	Net Earnings before Depreciation, interest and Federal taxes.	Depreciation and depletion	Available for interest before Federal taxes.
1923....	$ 7,708,241	$1,356,103	$6,352,138
1924....	8,044,562	1,507,295	6,537,267
1925....	7,998,458	2,059,890	5,938,568
1926....	11,180,781	2,080,911	9,099,870
1927....	11,342,053	2,508,251	8,833,802

The outstanding common stock of the company, consisting of 1,200,000 shares without par value, has a present market value of about $60,000,000.

PROVISIONS OF THE FIRST MORTGAGE

The first mortgage will provide for the issuance of bonds in series to a total authorized amount not exceeding $100,000,000. Of this total authorized amount, $30,000,000 principal amount of bonds, series "A," constitute the bonds presently sold to you; $10,000,000 additional bonds may be issued for any corporate purpose, and the remaining $60,000,000 of bonds are reserved to be issued to reimburse the company for 75% of the amount of capital expenditures made after April 1, 1928.

The first mortgage will provide that the company will not after April 1, 1928, pay dividends on its common stock (other than in stock) in excess of $3,000,000 in the aggregate, except out of earnings of the company after January 1, 1928.

Application will be made in due course to list the $30,000,000 series "A" bonds on the New York stock exchange.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE ABOVE BONDS, SUBJECT TO ALLOTMENT, AT 95% AND ACCRUED INTEREST TO DATE OF DELIVERY, TO YIELD 4.76% TO MATURITY

Inland Steel Company twenty-year 5½% debenture gold bonds due November 1, 1945, which have been called for redemption on May 1, 1928 at 103½% and accrued interest, will be accepted in payment for the new bonds on a 4% interest basis computed on the redemption price to the redemption date, provided notice of the amount of such bonds to be tendered in payment is given not less than five days prior to the date fixed for delivery of and payment for the new bonds.

The undersigned reserve the right to close the subscription at any time without notice, to reject any application, to allot a smaller amount than applied for and to make allotments in their uncontrolled discretion.

The above bonds are offered if, when and as issued and received by the undersigned and subject to the approval of their counsel. Temporary bonds will be delivered against payment in New York funds for bonds allotted, which temporary bonds will be exchangeable for definitive bonds when prepared.

BUGS BAER Says

ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER.

ONE of the nightmares of bashful people is the rarebit scenario in which you imagine that you are on a crowded street car minus your trousers.

This dream is now a reality thanks to the latest racket of our progressive New York burgaleers.

One exclusive society organization known as the pants-gang not only skins its victim of his money, but also skins his legs of their draperies.

They run off with your cash and your pantaloons while you shiver in the morning air like a potato bug on a snowball.

The pants-gang has acquired 50 members in the last week. The initiation fee is one pair of trousers.

And you can't fool them by buying a two-pants suit.

They have adopted the honi soit qui mal y pense of the order of the garter.

They pronounce it honey's suit is minus pants.

And you've joined the order of the two garters, embellished by a pair of fawn-colored spats, a set of all-weather sox and a shirttail that flutters indignantly in an antagonistic breeze, you stand on the street corner like a venus de bozo looking for a sheltering waxworks.

If you stand still you freeze. If you run you get arrested.

The only chance you have got is to tell the copper that you are one of C. C. Pyle's cross-country runners.

A pantless shirt is not the ideal toga for inter-urban rambling. It riffles in the breeze like a banner on high, and it is one time that you wish that the laundry had put less starch in the neckband and more in the tail.

The hobby of the pants-gang will probably result in the compilation of a valuable collection of pants of famous men. But we want to go on record as stating that it is the dirtiest outrage ever established by the mobsters on a man with bamboo legs and grapefruit knees.

Governor Acts at Last; Should Go to Washington

Governor Fisher's belated proposal that there be a conference of all interests involved in the soft coal situation with a view to settling the strike, though tardy beyond belief, considering the position he holds, nevertheless is a welcome revelation that the state executive is not entirely unaware of his duties and responsibilities.

It was just a general statement the governor made—it should be followed speedily by a specific one, setting a place and date for the meeting, naming the interests that should be represented and some basic grounds for procedure.

Although Governor Fisher's hand has been practically forced, inasmuch as he previously had made no publicly known effort to do anything at all toward bringing a state of industrial peace into the commonwealth of which he is the head, it is not too late for him to make amends for his previous negligence. A vigorous and constructive policy on the part of the executive office in Harrisburg at this time might be the turning point in the greatest struggle between capital and labor the state ever has known. Too, it might serve to rehabilitate Governor Fisher in the eyes of the public after he had estranged it by his inactivity.

The Governor's position before the public, however, does not depend entirely upon his future actions in the matter of a conference. He has been summoned to appear before the Senate probers and explain the charges of political bias he made against them in his Easton speech. It was indicated yesterday that he will take refuge on Capitol Hill, protecting himself in the sovereign privilege of being exempt from the summons of [illegible] government.

Such a course, if adopted, would but add to the Governor's now unenviable situation. He laid himself open to criticism by idly standing by while his state burned in an industrial conflagration. He then sneered at those attempting to put out the fire and if he refuses to face the Senators he accused at Easton, he will, indeed, cut a sorry figure as a governor of a great state.

Dispatches from Harrisburg today indicate the governor may decide to go to Washington after all. He should go, promptly and willingly.

It is up to Governor Fisher to make good as best he may. A wise and courageous course might save his face even now—while an unwise one would immerse him further in the flood of the hopeless. He will be supported by the public in any sincere move he makes and his actions in the present crisis will be watched with eager and anxious interest throughout Pennsylvania.

Get Behind Porter Bill To Kill Narcotic Serpent

People in Pittsburgh—Western Pennsylvania—everywhere—should get behind the fight against the terrible narcotic evil, the most baneful of all habitual practices. Individuals, civic organizations, commercial and professional societies, the Bar Association, the Allegheny County Medical Society—everybody—should fight this destructive drug monster, the power of which grows daily.

Get behind and help to push into our national laws the Porter bill, now before Congress, sponsored by a Pittsburgh representative, Stephen G. Porter, who represented our government at the international drug conference in Europe, a man who really is a world figure in the fight on dope. Give the man who has incorporated in his bill conclusions based on an exhaustive survey of the narcotic evil the added strength of your moral and active support.

The drug habit is the most terrifying danger that confronts the world—its victims seldom "come back." Winifred Black, in her articles, says there is no known permanent cure for the dope fiend.

Among well-intentioned persons there is no division of opinion regardng narcotics. All of us except their pitiable slaves regard them with horror, except as to their employment for medical uses, to which they MUST be restricted if we are going to continue to be a sane people.

A dope addict is doomed to a life of the most terrible bondage, and new addicts are being made every day. Prevention of that is the most urgent need. Your boy or your girl may be in danger.

Get behind the Porter narcotic bill!

Boulder Dam Is Power Trust Test

The Boulder Dam bill has been reported by both House and Senate irrigation committees, recommended for passage.

Boulder Dam is at the top of the power lobby's list "they shall not pass."

The power trust throughout the country represents Boulder Dam as a willful government adventure in the electric light and power business, a wicked blow to private initiative.

Members of Congress know how false is the charge.

The Boulder Dam bill proposes to create a reservoir to hold the flood waters of the Colorado River which annually threaten to inundate the Imperial Valley in California. It is a flood control measure originated by the imperilled farmers.

Incidentally, some of the impounded waters can be sold and used to double the irrigated acreage of fertile Imperial Valley.

Incidentally, some of the impounded water can be sold for the domestic use by the cities of Southern California.

Incidentally, some of the impounded water can be run over turbines and turned into a million horsepower of electric energy, for which there is an immediate and guaranteed market in the adjacent states of the Southwest.

The power clause of the bill prevents the project from being a burden upon the taxpayers of the country. Indeed, not a shovelful of earth can be turned until the Secretary of the Interior has in his hand contracts for the sale of water and power, sufficient to make the development self-supporting.

Now the power trust says that Boulder Dam cannot be built by the government in the only way financially practicable, the way proposed by President Coolidge's administration.

The President in his speech before the National Press Club warned against the insidious lobbies at work in Washington.

Here is a direct issue between the bill of his own Secretary of the Interior and the most insidious lobby of them all.

New Ideas

They Do Harm Rarely

The head of the Radio Corporation says that expensive trans-Atlantic cables are doomed, because radio makes them unnecessary. Time will tell. The tonnage of sailing vessels is greater now than before the steamship was invented. The number of horses used is much greater than it was before the locomotive came. Providence is kind, and new ideas rarely crowd others out with disastrous speed.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Time and Place

THE true measure of time is given to us by the stars, and this is the way they do it: As the earth turns on its axis from west to east, the stars seem to move round the heavens in the opposite direction. You see a certain star exactly on the meridian—i. e., the north-and-south line. As the earth turns, carrying you round eastward, the star seems to move round westward; and when the earth has brought you once around, like a merry-go-round, you see the same star come back to the meridian from the east—just as if it were a pretty girl standing in the crowd and still there when the merry-go-round brought you again opposite to her.

Now, that apparent coming back of the pretty girl—or, rather, the star—to the meridian measures the time the earth takes for one turn on its axis, which we name a day. For convenience, we divide it into 24 hours, and then divide the hours into minutes and the minutes into seconds. This particular measure of time is a "stellar day" (because we have used a star, stella). The day measured by the sun is slightly longer, but the stellar day is the true standard.

Now, let us see how to use the time given to us by the heavenly bodies to find where we are on the earth.

Suppose a squad of Boy Scouts in an unknown region wish to locate their camp on a map. The first thing is to find their meridian, or noon line. The magnetic compass is not accurate enough for that. The pole star would help them at night, if they knew just when it was on the meridian. But they can find out what they want with the aid of the sun in the daytime, thus:

Take a large, smooth board, like a drawing-board, and insert in it a thin straight peg, standing exactly perpendicular. Around the peg, at various distances, draw a series of circles. Then set the board, carefully leveled, out in the sunshine, and say, an hour or so before noon, begin to watch the shadow of the peg. It slowly shifts around from west to east as the sun moves from east to west. When the end of the shadow touches one of the circles, mark the spot.

The shadow will also get shorter, and when it is shortest it will lie on the meridian, and the time will be local noon. But it is difficult to tell exactly when it is shortest, and the best way is to keep on watching the shadow after noon. When its point again touches the circle it touched before noon, mark that spot, too, and from it draw a straight line to the spot marked before noon. Then, from the center of this line, draw one to the center of the peg, and that will be the meridian.

Having found their meridian, the boys may get their longitude by first setting their watches carefully to some standard meridian, say the 75th meridian, which is the basis of eastern standard time and runs a little east of Philadelphia. Having set their watches by the signals from Washington, the boys watch to see when, by the watch time, the sun is exactly on their meridian line which they have marked as before described. Suppose their watches mark at that instant 12 o'clock and 20 minutes. That tells them that the sun crossed the 75th meridian 20 minutes before it reached their meridian. Therefore, they must be situated, in time, 20 minutes west of the 75th meridian.

Now, the sun takes 24 hours to go once around the earth, an angular distance of 360 degrees, wherefore it must go 15 degrees in one hour, so that in 20 minutes, which is the third part of an hour, it must have gone 5 degrees. The boys' camp is thus found to be situated five degrees west of the 75th meridian. But in the northern part of the United States one degree of longitude equals 52 or 53 miles, so that 5 degrees correspond to some 260 or 265 miles.

Before the boys could put their camp on a map, however, they would have to know their latitude also. This could be found, perhaps, most easily by observing the elevation of the pole star. The elevation of the true pole is always equal to the latitude of the place of observation, but the star is a little more than a degree from the pole, so that observations for latitude must be corrected by means of the Nautical Almanac, which tells when the star is above and when under the true pole.

"God Given"

THERE is picturesqueness in the first name of the French aviator, Dieudonne Costes.

Dieudonne means "God-given." In other words it is the exact French equivalent of our "Theodore," which means "Gift of God," derived from the Greek words "theou" (of God) and "doron" (gift).

Once Overs

What If You Lose?

WHY allow yourself to become angry over losing a card game or a series of games?

The game isn't worth it and you are defeating a pastime.

If you are a well-balanced individual you won't go home in a bad humor because you lost in a contest.

It should not bring annoying thoughts the next day, if you lost.

There are too many situations of importance in a person's life to spoil succeeding days over recollections of failure at card sessions.

A card game for pleasure is one thing.

A card game that has a serious bearing on your spirits is another.

Perhaps you are not willing to give enough serious attention to your playing to be a successful player.

Use your intelligence if you decide to play.

It is unfair to a partner to be careless and too lazy to think.

Exercise the necessary thought and make your game the best possible.

Games are recreational but not entirely for your individual amusement.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Stars

HOWEVER hard the blows of life may fall,
Or its decrees may seem,
The hand of Justice shows behind it all
Beneath the starlight's gleam.

For stars, so old and yet so ageless, still
Can soothe man's restless heart;
Its questioning and tumult they can still,
Can ease its ache and smart.

He can forget the force of circumstance,
Its prison walls and bars;
He can ignore the strange mishaps of chance,
Beneath the tender stars.

Words of the Wise

Sweets grown common lose their dear delight.—Shakespeare.

If a man could half his wishes he would double his troubles.
—Franklin.

No sensible man (among the many things that have been written on this kind) ever imputed inconsistency to another for changing his mind.—Cicero.

And oftentimes, excusing of a fault
Doth make the fault the worse by the excuse,
As patches set upon a little breach,
Discredit more in hiding of the fault,
Than did the fault before it was so patched. —Shakespeare.

Tales that are Told

Too Hot

THE young man was singing at the village concert.

The audience sat hushed while his tenor voice boomed out beneath the rafters.

"Ah!" he thought. "I have captured their emotions with my song!"

He turned his head proudly, then his expression changed. There was a pained look on the face of his accompanist.

What was the matter? Was he singing the wrong words? Or—surely he was not out of tune?

Anxiously he sidled up to the other.

"Am I going wrong?" he whispered between the verses.

The pianist looked up from his score. There were tears in his eyes.

"No," was the agonized reply; "but I'm sittin' on my pipe, and it's still lit!"

Neglected

SHE flung herself into the arms of her mother-in-law.

"What in the world's the matter, Arabella?" asked the elderly woman, anxiously. "Has anything happened to Edwin?"

"Oh, it's dreadful!" sobbed the bride of a few months. "He's staying out late at night. I wait for him to come home hour after hour. Every footstep I hear on the pavement I think must be his. I rush to the door—but no Edwin!"

"Dear me! Dear me! This is dreadful, Arabella. I must talk to Edwin. How late does he stay out?"

"Well," sobbed Arabella, "he leaves the office at five every evening. A few nights ago he didn't get home till 6 o'clock, and yesterday he wasn't home till—till (another burst of sobs) half-past six!"

The Tyrant

"THE Sheikh Ali Ben Har tossed aside the rawhide whip with which he had been beating the spoilt darling of Society, the Lady Imogen. With an angry snarl, he caught her in his arms, crushed her to him, and in the excess of his passion bit a large piece out of her shell-like ear. Then, flinging her from him, he watched her fall, a limp, nervous heap on the warm sand.

"'Oh, oh,' groaned the fainting Imogen ecstatically, 'he must surely love me!'"

At this point the famous novelist stopped.

"That's all for today, Miss Speeder," he said to his typist. "But you might post this letter for my wife as you go out. And for heaven's sake don't let her see it. I've had it in my pocket for a week!"—Exchange.

Poetic Justice

"SPECULATION," observed the village doctor, "is a terrible thing—in fact, it is demoralizing."

His audience, consisting of the squire and his lawyer, nodded a silent agreement.

"Oh, by the way," said the squire suddenly, "what happened to those oil shares you bought, doctor?"

"I was cheated out of them!" replied the doctor bitterly.

"How!" asked the squire's lawyer.

"Well," the medical man smiled wanly, "I heard the stuff was worthless, so I unloaded it on a friend of mine for a song. But it turned out to be worth thousands, and that swindler who bought it from me knew all the time!"—London Answers.

With or Without?

ENTERING the restaurant, the stranger flipped a chair with a silk handkerchief and carefully sat down.

"Yes, sir?" asked the waiter, proffering the menu.

"I'll begin with a dozen oysters," said the precise one, "and mind they are natives. I want them on the deep shell, not too large and not too small."

The waiter bowed.

"Choose them very carefully," went on the customer, "and be quite sure you do not bring me any that are not plump and fresh."

"Yes, sir," replied the waiter, "certainly. And—er—will you have 'em with pearls in 'em or without, sir?"

Seeing Paris

PARIS, March 20.—The "first showing" at dressmaking salons takes on the pomp of an exclusive ball. It is a new stunt this season to hold them at night with especially invited guests arriving at 9 o'clock, arrayed as though attending the opera.

Cocktails, champagne and cordials are served with a buffet lunch. Music floats from orchestras hidden behind palms. The finest establishments are in rambling old mansions with spacious inside courts which once housed notables such as Talleyrand.

Dressmaking is one of the most profitable trades in Paris. One proprietor paid taxes on a profit of $1,800,000 last year. She is reputed to be the "girl friend" of an English duke and he helps her dissipate the profits over the gambling tables at Monte Carlo. Callot sisters own the Galleries Lafayette. Jeanne Lanvin, Patou, Lucien Lelong and a dozen others are millionaires.

Mannikins imported from America have given local mannikins a better standing. Save for one tragic example, the Americans have behaved. The Parisian mannikin has always been underpaid and being naturally beautiful she followed the easiest way and made the calling disreputable.

It is interesting to watch them in gorgeous frocks parade in their slinking way and then pirouette—miracles of buoyancy and grace. But in all the grandeur one thinks of those spindly-legged, pinch faced and stooped needle girls behind the scenes—children toiling for a few francs daily.

To the French saleswomen in the dressmaking parlors every feeling gives way when it becomes a question of profit. They appear enraptured and coo foolishly in a sort of hysterical babble. All work on a percentage basis and a big sale is a small fortune.

It is the poor American husband sitting in a corner fiddling with his cane or hat, while his wife falls prey to the blandishments, who pays for grand stairways, carpeted salons and other magnificent trappings. Yet he seems to enjoy it just the same. Good humored saps—these American husbands.

This morning in the woods at Ville D'Avray, near Sevre and twenty minutes from Paris, I visited the little chateau of Corot, the painter. It has been kept intact and it was easy to see in the beauty of the surroundings how he got much of his inspiration. Corot was once critically hooted by the French.

There is one phase of French life slightly disconcerting to the Yank. When he asks for a manicure in some of the barber shops he cannot get used to ministrations of a male attendant with a long flowing beard.

I wish I had the hunting rights for many of the beards in France. I imagine you could always flush out a bevy of something or other.

The chasseur is an example of the occasional lapse in French morals. He is a young messenger attached to hotels, cafes and bars and knows more of Parisian depravity than the most satiated boulevardier. He is in league with bagnios and peep shows, from which he gets his percentage. He has the brightness of the alert American newsboys—which reminds me all newspaper vendors here are old men and women—and speaks English.

And speaking of depravity, this afternoon I walked through rue de Lappe near the Bastille. It is reputed to be the most depraved street in Paris, a short, narrow strip filled with dance halls, in which are circular bars. Pernod, a nauseous absinthe-like drink, is the favorite beverage.

There is a type of Frenchman wearing dark clothes and black gloves who will be seen walking in the woods off beaten paths of the Bois every day. His hands are folded behind and he moves slowly, as though lost in reverie. After a long stroll he usually repairs to some sidewalk table and will sit silently for an hour sipping a mild drink. He is the sentimental sort who likes to wrap himself in solitude. There are others in flowing ties and velvet coats who stroll around the Bois reading books of poetry, bumping now and then into a tree in a comic opera manner.

* * *

Last night at a dinner I sat opposite the Baroness de Meyer, formerly of New York, whose hair was tinted a delicate shade of lavender. Kathleen Norris and I were unable to eat for looking.

Pin Pricks

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

The gentleman who gives you a sock in the jaw does not arouse so much resentment as the lady who continually nags at you. We can stand the roar of a cannon once better than we can stand the continual dripping that wears away the stone.

It is not the big things in life that we have to fear so much as it is the little things.

We ought so to order our lives that our daily intercourse with people shall be pleasant and not irritating.

I knew an old woman who had two daughters.

One stayed at home and gave up a career to take care of her mother in her old age; the other moved to a far city, rarely wrote and never came to see her.

The old woman complained continually of the little irritations her stay-at-home daughter caused her and enlarged upon the virtues of the daughter she never saw.

When she died and her will was read it was found she had left every cent to the daughter who had moved away and nothing to the one who had given up everything to care for her.

A father and four sons went into debt to buy a farm. Three of the boys went off, leaving the one son with his father to pay off the debt.

The father took sick and for the best years of his life the son slaved until the debt was cleared away. While the other three boys were well along in their careers he had missed an education, had put off his marriage, had given up the career he had planned.

At his father's death it was found that he had left the farm to be divided up equally among the four boys.

Whether we can make head or tail out of the justice of the story of the Prodigal Son, there is nothing truer to human nature.

As the screech of a locomotive is velveted into a woodwind sound by distance, the irritating little rough places in personality seem to fade in those afar off.

The small imperfections in the one who stays at home are evident and continuously seen.

Rich gifts are counted poor not only when givers prove unkind but when they prove irritating.

As time goes on too often the small irritations loom larger than the essential immolation.

The pin-pricks outweigh the sacrifice.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

A NEW YORK girl with a rare collection of jewels, says Peggy Joyce's new $300,000 necklace was made for her. She took it back and wanted to exchange it for two rings. The jewelers agreed if they could sell the necklace.

"The reason I didn't want it," said the lady, "is that because of its size no one believed it was real. Peggy probably will take it back for the same reason."

Oh, but that's different! The gem has now been thoroughly front-paged.

Letitia Brown, colored, wants common law alimony from Carlton Curtis, millionaire and white. Max Steuer, Mr. Curtis' attorney, read a love letter and then asked Letitia if she was the sweet, loving mamma mentioned.

With infinite caution, Letitia leaned forward and asked Mr. Steuer earnestly: "Who wants to know?"

It stopped the great lawyer and even Mr. Curtis retrieved his sense of humor temporarily.

Don't fool yourself that angels are all alike. Mrs. Rosina Taylor, of Rome, N. Y., ordered a brunette Italian angel tombstone. The stone merchant preferred a blonde and carved a good old Irish face on her. The dealer said that the statue would get darker when she got older. Mrs. Taylor wasn't so sure that if she got darker she wouldn't get fatter, too, and anything but a fat angel! The jury said: "That's right," and Mrs. Taylor doesn't have to pay.

Women always know what kind of angels they want.

Two girls waiting to cross the street.

"I told her she should marry the other one. This man will simply bore her to death, my dear. She'll never be able to stand him. He never says a word."

"Is the other man more interesting?"

"Is he? I should say so. My dear, he pays $500 a month for his apartment."

Ah! That's what talks.

Lillian Colesby, another dusky witness in the famous black and white trial, was asked a very intimate question about the black Letitia and the white millionaire, Mr. Curtis. The colored woman laughed, apparently to cover her embarrassment.

"Well, what's so funny?" shouted Attorney Max Steuer.

"What's so funny," said Lillian, smiling, "is you."

And nothing answered anything.

A young woman traveling in Europe got word last week that a physician whom she hoped to marry had eloped with another girl. She has started home. The lady is making a bee-line for a trunk full of love letters in New York. Wouldn't it save a lot of trouble if the doctor just went over and saw the janitor and got the letters first?
